Wage-Price Controls, Once Memories, Could Return To Scene

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — "The administration of price control is an extraordinarily difficult and complex business, and it can work only if the people generally give it their support."

So said President Harry S. Truman as he regretfully canceled price controls Nov. 9, 1946. World War II was over, and the initials OPA—for Office of Price Administration—were dirty words to businessmen.

Ceilings Sabotaged

Congress, under pressure from farm and industry groups, had weakened the law seriously. Many sellers sabotaged ceilings by withholding goods—partly to get better prices, partly to force decontrol.

"This withholding is becoming so serious as to threaten key segments of the economy with paralysis," said Truman's message.

"The plain fact is that, under this inadequate law, price control has lost the popular support needed to make it work."

So the nation's first great plunge into direct interference with the free market ended in confusion, controversy—and more inflation. President Nixon is said to have decided while a young lawyer in OPA that direct controls were unworkable and harmful. He rejects them today.

Wholesale Prices Down

For a while, during the war years, the ceilings had worked well. Wholesale prices rose less than 1 per cent a year, consumer prices by about 2 per cent. But by the time victory was at hand, both prices and wages were puncturing their ceilings.

There were many reasons why all administrations since Truman, along with most congressional leaders, have recoiled at the idea of wage-price ceilings, and which make the odds against ceilings exceedingly high at this moment.

1. If you cannot clamp ceilings on fast, if you have to wait while Congress debates the question instead of imposing an emergency freeze, the gain may be lost before it starts.

Early Price Damage

Much of the price damage during the Korean War came about before the control agency could get organized. Companies that smelled a price freeze coming began marking up prices.

Unions are just as alert to try to nail hourly wage increases at levels high enough to ride out an inflationary storm.

2. Voluntary ceilings, or hold-the-line orders lacking enforcement powers, don't work. The Korean War price controller, Michael V. Di Salle, later reported that just 6 per cent of businesses had complied with a voluntary freeze that preceded the actual operation of his Office of Price Stabilization.

"Policeman" Needed

You cannot set a speed limit without posting a policeman to enforce it, to use the phrase of Chairman Paul W. McCracken of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

3. There is no general agreement whether direct wage and price controls really work in the long run.

It was argued in World War II and the Korean War they actually suppressed and distorted market forces, so that inflation broke out with extra fury when the controls were lifted or broke down.

McCracken contends it is possible controls can leave a country worse off and tend to result in fiscal laziness about finding a basic cure for the real problems behind the imbalances of supply and demand.

Public Support Vital

4. Most of those who dealt with the wartime controls agreed with Truman that public support is vital to effective controls, even temporarily. There is doubt such support now exists, among the public or in Congress, for freezing wages and prices during a limited and unpopular war.

That problem did not exist after Pearl Harbor. The OPA was already in being, although mostly on paper.

And people remembered World War I had brought a rise of something over 100 per cent in U.S. wholesale prices when there had been no formal wage-price controls.

Prices Increase

World War II brought an increase of nearly 40 per cent in U.S. wholesale prices from the fall of Poland in 1939 to the surrender of Japan, with price and wage controls from 1942 on. The galloping price inflation was slowed to a crawl in the years 1943-5. But when the ceilings began to crumble after V-E Day and then V-J Day, prices shot up again. The ceilings were badly tattered by November 1946, when OPA finally died.

There was no expectation they would be needed again. But the Korean War came only five years later along with new price-wage ceilings.

The government was unprepared for action. Wholesale prices rose about 12 per cent in 1951, after Red China's entry into the Korean fighting, and consumer prices went up about 8 per cent.

Unprepared For Action

Still, the Office of Price Stabilization did a reasonably good job of holding prices down with the help of military successes, an outpouring of civilian production, and an impressive display of persuasiveness and jawboning. A recession also helped in 1953.

When President Dwight D. Eisenhower took office in 1953, he left no doubt price ceilings were on the way out. The OPS went out of business officially in April 1953.

The country's first price control agency, the OPA, was created April 11, 1941, by President Franklin D. Roosevelt to prevent "price spiralling, rising cost of living, profiteering and inflation."

Soon after Pearl Harbor, Roosevelt named Chester Bowles, a highly successful advertising executive, to head the OPA. The Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 gave OPA clear statutory powers to issue a sweeping decree setting prices on most goods at the highest level charged in the previous month.

There still were many gaps in the ceilings, including 40 per cent of the food in the average consumer's budget. It was April 1943 before Roosevelt issued a hold-the-line order on meat, butter, fish and fresh fruits and vegetables.

But Congress already was weakening controls.

Fearful of grade labeling, it rejected OPA's efforts to enforce ceilings by quality standards. An effort to roll back some prices stalled because of congressional reluctance to hurt farmers or squeeze producers' profits.

Wide-range rationing by then was an overwhelming fact of life. And black markets flourished in many commodities.

On June 29, 1946, Truman vetoed a bill which would have weakened and extended the law.

He asked for a strong new bill but got a weak one, the statute under which the wage and price controls were killed.

Congress passed a bill in 1946 extending the wage-price control law, but riddled it with weakening amendments. On June 29, 1946, Truman vetoed the extension bill saying it would have added $3 billion a year to consumer prices and destroyed wage stabilization.

So, for a time, federal control of prices and wages was dead, and as far as the World War II price chief is concerned, they should remain buried.

"I shudder to think of putting them into effect again, in anything short of a catastrophe," Bowles said in an interview. They would be a "dreadful mistake."

Relief Supply Cargo Plane Pilot Calls Quake Site Unbelievable

ABOARD A USAF C130 OVER PERU (AP) — A grandstand view of death and destruction swept beneath a big U.S. C130 cargo plane as it dropped supplies to survivors of earthquake-torn North Central Peru Sunday.

"Unbelievable," said the pilot, Capt. Bill Hudspeth, a Vietnam veteran, as he guided the big Hercules up the 80-mile Huaylas Canyon. "Worse than anything I have seen in my life."

No Roofs Intact

Hudspeth shook his head in disbelief as the transport passed over what was left of Huraz, once a city of 50,000 at the southern entrance to the canyon, 180 miles north of Lima. Half the buildings had crumbled. Not a single roof remained intact.

The government says the earthquake a week ago may have killed 30,000 or more people; a United Nations observer says the count more likely will exceed 50,000. An estimated 100,000 more are homeless, injured or both.

Target Of Airdrop

Hudspeth reached for the throttle and headed his giant craft 21 miles up the gorge to Anta, the target of the airdrop. Anta, a village of about 2,000 was devastated, but by some freak of terrain enough of the town's tiny airstrip was spared from avalanches that hurtled down the 18,000-foot Andes to leave it still useable by small aircraft.

A quarter ton of sleeping bags, blankets and food rations was packed in plastic-wrapped survival kits and stapled into 12 large crates. The back bay of the plane lifted open as Anta came into view and the crates were shoved out, two at a time, as the Hercules made six passes over the runway.

A few miles further up the canyon was Yungay, which used to be home for some 33,000 people. All that could be seen of it were the tops of four palm trees where the town square had been and a statue of Christ, with arms outstretched, which marked the hilltop cemetery.

Only Palm Trees Left

A slide of rocks and mud two to three miles wide had hurtled clear across both banks of the Santa River at the bottom of the canyon, buried Yungay and smashed against a mountain ledge on the other side. Only about 2,500 residents of Yungay are believed to have survived.

The C130s fly twice a day, dropping supplies over the canyon then picking up survivors at the evacuation center in Chimbote. They are brought there by helicopters and vintage C47s that can just manage to land and take off at Anta.

Bride For Day Dies In Mishap At Marquette

By The Associated Press

Six persons were killed in a two-car Tuscola County crash, including five related women from the Flint area, as Michigan's weekend traffic death count reached 24.

The six died Saturday in a two - car crash on M15, three miles north of Millington.

Victims were Kenneth Clarence Long, 22, of Millington, alone and the driver of one of the cars; and Geraldine Pauline Crall, 43, the other driver; her mother, Elizabeth Crall, 69, and her sisters, Freda Mae Dimond, 46, and Sharon Ruth Greenfield, 26, all of Millington, and Phyllis Ann King, 30, of Flint.

Sheriff's deputies said there were no surviving witnesses and they were unable to determine immediately the cause of the collision.

The Associated Press' weekend traffic fatality count began at 6 p. m., Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

Among the victims were Karen Moore, 20, of Munising, and Florence Methot, 60, of Wetmore, who were in two cars that collided on County Road 553 in Marquette County's Sands Township Sunday.

Mrs. Moore, a bride only since Saturday, was riding with her husband, Gary Moore, 20. He is listed in serious condition in a Marquette hospital.

150,000 Marchers Back President

ST. LOUIS (AP) — About 20,000 persons, the bulk of them construction workers, marched 3½ miles Sunday in a demonstration of support for the Nixon administration's policy in Southeast Asia.

The marchers, who walked 12 to 15 abreast, carried signs with such mottoes as "Help Keep Communists Out of College," "We the Silent Majority Are Not Dead" and "Back Your Country."

Joseph "Bud Rohan, a glass company salesman who organized the parade, said marchers included clergymen, state legislators, veterans groups and firemen. He had predicted a turnout of 150,000.

Secret Thailand Troop Fund Payments Noted

Agreement Included 10,000 For Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee has released testimony disclosing a secret money-for-troops agreement between the United States and Thailand under which Bangkok sent 10,000 men to Vietnam in exchange for $200 million.

The pact, according to an extensively censored summary of hearings seven months ago, was signed on the ambassadorial level Nov. 9, 1967.

Existence Denied

Although existence of the accord was denied at the time, Thailand announced Nov. 14, 1967, it was meeting a Saigon request and sending a division of volunteers to fight in South Vietnam.

Missouri Democrat Stuart Symington, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee that held the hearings, coupled disclosure of the agreement Sunday with a letter to Secretary of State William P. Rogers asking for details of American aid to Thailand in exchange for sending troops to Cambodia as well as to South Vietnam.

Covers Training Costs

The testimony during a week of closed hearings last November indicated the United States would cover the cost of training, equipping and overseas allowances for a Thai division in South Vietnam. This included providing logistic support and mustering-out bonus for the soldiers.

Besides such aid, the United States also agreed to send Bangkok a battery of Hawk antiaircraft missiles and to increase the military assistance program by about $20 million during fiscal 1968 and 1969 to speed the modernization of Thailand armed forces at home.

Volunteers Ready

Bangkok announced last week it was sending volunteers to Cambodia, along with other assistance, to be paid for, at least in part, by a U.S. military aid program.

Symington, contending the public has a right to know more about U.S.-Thai agreements called on Rogers for fuller disclosures—how much will it cost and which government can initiate the withdrawal of Thai forces from Cambodia.

Soviet Nuclear Might Topic At NATO Confab

VENICE (AP) — U.S. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird met today with the other six members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's nuclear planning group to discuss the Soviet Union's nuclear might and how to counter it in an European war.

Authoritative sources said Laird would give the defense ministers from Britain, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Denmark and Turkey a detailed and up-to-date account of the Soviet land, air and sea nuclear armory, based on U.S. intelligence reports.

The sources said that during the two-day, semiannual meeting Laird would also describe the progress of his government's controversial Safeguard antiballistic missile system.

The nuclear planning group was set up to give the non-nuclear members of NATO a voice in the plans for the wartime use of the American and British nuclear weapons which constitute the alliance's protection against nuclear war.

Heretofore, the group has dealt largely with tactical nuclear weapons, smaller than the intercontinental giants. At the end of 1969 it drew up guidelines for their use in case of a massive Soviet attack on Western Europe.

Western military leaders say that such a Soviet onslaught, though unlikely, has to be planned for. They think they could only hold it back for a few weeks or even days before they had to use tactical nuclear weapons, hoping the Soviets would halt for fear that the bigger weapons would be used next.

Mansfield Gives Richardson Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says Elliot Richardson will have no trouble being confirmed as President Nixon's secretary of Health, Education and Welfare—and he has praised the switch that is sending Robert H. Finch to the White House high command.

"I'm very happy that a real pro is going to be in the White House very close to the President," Mansfield said after Nixon announced Finch is leaving HEW to become a counsellor to the President.

To head that vast and troubled agency, save for the pentagon the biggest in government, Nixon chose Richardson, undersecretary of State and a man with a reputation as a top administrator.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said Finch would tremendously strengthen the White House staff "and open new channels of communication and cooperation between the President, the Congress and the country."

Javits said Richardson "is a splendid public servant and should be able to head this vital, complex department admirably well."

Richardson, 49, is a former lieutenant governor and attorney general of Massachusetts. He served as an assistant HEW secretary during the Eisenhower administration and was named the top State Department official under Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

"Richardson is an excellent choice for HEW, but a loss to the State Department," Mansfield said.

He said he foresaw no controversy over confirmation. "I can't see them raising any objection to a man who had done a good job at State and has been a good right hand for Rogers there," Mansfield said.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said Richardson's appointment "assures a continuation of dynamic leadership of the highest competence. I believe in Elliot Richardson. He will do a fine job."

New Bill Of Rights, Asian War Among Graduation Day Topics

By The Associated Press

Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey outlined a "new bill of rights and Responsibilities" and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie spoke of student dissent in a busy day of commencement ceremonies at colleges around the nation.

Author John Holt, a critic of the existing educational system, refused an honorary degree at Wesleyan University, declaring that schools are among "the chief enslaving institutions" in American society.

Proxmire Raps War

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., told Milton College graduates that President Nixon "made a tragic mistake in Cambodia. He was wrong." Former astronaut Michael Collins said at Stonehill College that he backed the President's Cambodia decision "100 per cent."

After the recent weeks of dissent and disruption on the nation's campuses, the Indochina war and its domestic repercussions were very much on the minds of both students and speakers at many of the ceremonies Sunday.

Humphrey, in an address to 260 Hamline University graduates in St. Paul, Minn., put the right to peace at the top of his new bill of rights for the 21st century: "In our day this means southeast Asia. It means an end to a costly and tragic war."

Equal Treatment

He also listed the right to justice with "equal treatment under the law and equal opportunity within the social structure" and the right of "access to the political process."

On the other side, he said modern man had the responsibility to participate and speak out, to protect ideals in the face of force, to respect and defend the rights of others and to give time in public service.

Elliot L. Richardson, the President's nominee for secretary of health, education and welfare, told graduates at Lowell Technological Institute there had been a "generational difference" in the nation over foreign policy.

"I firmly believe, nonetheless, that these disagreements can be resolved," he said at the school in Lowell, Mass.

Richardson's Door Open

Richardson added that the administration has been listening to youth and said; "I assure you that my own door will still be open when I move to my new assignment." He is now undersecretary of state.

Muskie told more than 1,200 graduating students at the University of New Hampshire in Durham that "student dissent has not been a disease of the body politic. It has instead been a welcome sign of health."

The Maine Democrat said the unrest was "a sign that millions of young people would rather improve America than escape or reject her ... that they would rather have America united than fearful and insecure."

Raps Education System

Education critic Holt told the 280 undergraduate and 195 graduate students receiving degrees that the present universal compulsory education system was harmful.

"The one thing it teaches is the superiority of the schooled over the unschooled," he said. "In schools people learn that the world is frightening and mysterious and that they are stupid."

Soviet Nuclear Might Topic At NATO Confab

VENICE (AP) — U.S. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird met today with the other six members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's nuclear planning group to discuss the Soviet Union's nuclear might and how to counter it in an European war.

Authoritative sources said Laird would give the defense ministers from Britain, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Denmark and Turkey a detailed and up-to-date account of the Soviet land, air and sea nuclear armory, based on U.S. intelligence reports.

The sources said that during the two-day, semiannual meeting Laird would also describe the progress of his government's controversial Safeguard antiballistic missile system.

The nuclear planning group was set up to give the non-nuclear members of NATO a voice in the plans for the wartime use of the American and British nuclear weapons which constitute the alliance's protection against nuclear war.

Heretofore, the group has dealt largely with tactical nuclear weapons, smaller than the intercontinental giants. At the end of 1969 it drew up guidelines for their use in case of a massive Soviet attack on Western Europe.

Western military leaders say that such a Soviet onslaught, though unlikely, has to be planned for. They think they could only hold it back for a few weeks or even days before they had to use tactical nuclear weapons, hoping the Soviets would halt for fear that the bigger weapons would be used next.

Mansfield Gives Richardson Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says Elliot Richardson will have no trouble being confirmed as President Nixon's secretary of Health, Education and Welfare—and he has praised the switch that is sending Robert H. Finch to the White House high command.

"I'm very happy that a real pro is going to be in the White House very close to the President," Mansfield said after Nixon announced Finch is leaving HEW to become a counsellor to the President.

To head that vast and troubled agency, save for the pentagon the biggest in government, Nixon chose Richardson, undersecretary of State and a man with a reputation as a top administrator.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said Finch would tremendously strengthen the White House staff "and open new channels of communication and cooperation between the President, the Congress and the country."

Javits said Richardson "is a splendid public servant and should be able to head this vital, complex department admirably well."

Richardson, 49, is a former lieutenant governor and attorney general of Massachusetts. He served as an assistant HEW secretary during the Eisenhower administration and was named the top State Department official under Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

"Richardson is an excellent choice for HEW, but a loss to the State Department," Mansfield said.

He said he foresaw no controversy over confirmation. "I can't see them raising any objection to a man who had done a good job at State and has been a good right hand for Rogers there," Mansfield said.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said Richardson's appointment "assures a continuation of dynamic leadership of the highest competence. I believe in Elliot Richardson. He will do a fine job."

New Bill Of Rights, Asian War Among Graduation Day Topics

By The Associated Press

Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey outlined a "new bill of rights and Responsibilities" and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie spoke of student dissent in a busy day of commencement ceremonies at colleges around the nation.

Author John Holt, a critic of the existing educational system, refused an honorary degree at Wesleyan University, declaring that schools are among "the chief enslaving institutions" in American society.

Proxmire Raps War

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., told Milton College graduates that President Nixon "made a tragic mistake in Cambodia. He was wrong." Former astronaut Michael Collins said at Stonehill College that he backed the President's Cambodia decision "100 per cent."

After the recent weeks of dissent and disruption on the nation's campuses, the Indochina war and its domestic repercussions were very much on the minds of both students and speakers at many of the ceremonies Sunday.

Humphrey, in an address to 260 Hamline University graduates in St. Paul, Minn., put the right to peace at the top of his new bill of rights for the 21st century: "In our day this means southeast Asia. It means an end to a costly and tragic war."

Equal Treatment

He also listed the right to justice with "equal treatment under the law and equal opportunity within the social structure" and the right of "access to the political process."

On the other side, he said modern man had the responsibility to participate and speak out, to protect ideals in the face of force, to respect and defend the rights of others and to give time in public service.

Elliot L. Richardson, the President's nominee for secretary of health, education and welfare, told graduates at Lowell Technological Institute there had been a "generational difference" in the nation over foreign policy.

"I firmly believe, nonetheless, that these disagreements can be resolved," he said at the school in Lowell, Mass.

Richardson's Door Open

Richardson added that the administration has been listening to youth and said; "I assure you that my own door will still be open when I move to my new assignment." He is now undersecretary of state.

Muskie told more than 1,200 graduating students at the University of New Hampshire in Durham that "student dissent has not been a disease of the body politic. It has instead been a welcome sign of health."

The Maine Democrat said the unrest was "a sign that millions of young people would rather improve America than escape or reject her . . . that they would rather have America united than fearful and insecure."

Raps Education System

Education critic Holt told the 280 undergraduate and 195 graduate students receiving degrees that the present universal compulsory education system was harmful.

"The one thing it teaches is the superiority of the schooled over the unschooled," he said. "In schools people learn that the world is frightening and mysterious and that they are stupid."

Storey Submits Resignation As School Director

W. Steve Storey

W. Steve Storey, community school director in Escanaba for the past year, will submit his resignation to the Escanaba Area Board of Education at its meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Administration Building.

Storey has accepted a position with the community schools in Lake Odessa. He will also be an assistant to the superintendent of schools there.

Storey came to Escanaba after serving as the community school director in Flint for two years. Prior to that, he taught in La-Crosse, Wis.

He received his bachelor's degree from Wisconsin State University and his master's degree from Northern Michigan University. He is a member of the National Education Association and the National Community School Education Association.

No successor for Storey has been found yet, but expressions of interest have been received from three candidates and they will be interviewed on Tuesday in the superintendent's office.

Also listed on the agenda for the school board meeting Tuesday is a discussion on giving Eldred Sattem, maintenance supervisor of the Escanaba Area Public Schools, the added responsibilities of transportation supervisor and the appointment of a new athletic director at Escanaba Area High School.

Other items of business include teacher contracts; Workmen's Compensation Insurance; multi-peril insurance; rental policy, textbook adoptions; discussion on a request of Ronald Fulcher, high school business education teacher, for a one year leave of absence; salaries for driver education teachers and letters of thanks and appreciation for endorsements of the millage issue.

Discussion items from the superintendent include a report of the Citizens' Advisory Council, a report on the Act 220 survey, the nurse's annual report, election results, the public relations program and an organizational meeting of the board.

League Invites Gifts Of Books

Donations of books to the League of Women Voters book sale may be brought to the I.O.O.F. Building, 112 N. 10th St. in the former Moersch & Degnan location on Friday, June 12, Monday, June 15, and Tuesday, June 16 during the day.

The Escanaba League of Women Voters will hold its annual used book sale June 17-20. This year it will coincide with the Flea Market on Wednesday, June 17. In past years the League book sale has been held in conjunction with sidewalk day.

There is a demand for all types of books, and a special interest in recent textbooks, new fiction, cookbooks, and children's books. Musical records and paperbacks are also wanted and sell quickly.

Books may also be picked up by calling Mrs. Harold Simonon, 786-6360 or Mrs. Wesley Lehmann, 786-0032 in the Escanaba area, Mrs. Irving Olsen, 786-4451 in the Ford River area, and Mrs. Howard Keeton, 428-2129 in the Gladstone area.

The book sale is a finance project of the League. Proceeds from it are used to carry on the work of the League. Members of the book sale committee include Mrs. Irving Olsen, Mrs. Wesley Lehmann, Mrs. Harold Simoson, Mrs. William Taylor, Mrs. Vernon Wicklander and Mrs. Howard Keeton.

Body Of Young Woman Found Near Dearborn

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — The body of a partially clad young woman, who had been stabbed and bludgeoned was found Sunday at a park in the Detroit suburb of Dearborn. Police said she had been dead for about a week.

The body was found by two youths in a wooded area off a dirt road about 150 yards from a residential section. Police said the boys were snake hunting in Crowley Park in southwest Dearborn when they found the body.

Residents in the area said wooded sections of the park were used by some teen - agers as a lovers lane.

Authorities are seeking to identify the woman, who was white and estimated to be between the ages of 18 and 22.

The woman was clothed only in boots and nylons, police said. They said a three-gallon can of gasoline and a pair of gray slacks were found nearby.

Police said the back of her head and her hair were singed, possibly in an attempt to burn the body. They said her skull was crushed.

Ann Arbor is about 50 miles west of Dearborn.

John Norman Collins, an Eastern Michigan University senior, is at present on trial in the murder of Karen Sue Beineman, an Eastern Michigan freshman, last July. She was the last of seven young women slain in the area. No one has been charged in the other six murders.

Collins has been held without bond in Washtenaw County jail for the last ten months. His trial began last Monday.

Authorities said that the body found Sunday contained several stab wounds in the neck and back. An autopsy was scheduled at the Wayne County morgue today.

Police said the top portion of the body was badly mutilated. They said there was no immediate indication on whether she was sexually molested. The woman was between 5-foot-2 and 5-foot-5.

A youth who found the body walked to a nearby baseball field and told the first person he met, Hazen St. Charles, 28, of Dearborn, that "I found a body in the woods. Come with me."

St. Charles said he and a few men went with the youth and after sighting the body called authorities.

Six EMU Grants

YPSILANTI (AP) — The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has awarded Eastern Michigan University six grants totaling $1,941,625. The money will go toward funding a number of different university projects including a college library resources program.

Rotary Day Camp To Open June 22

Staff openings at Camp Harstad have been filled with experienced capable people and preparations are under way for the opening of Rotary Camp Harstad on Monday, June 22, it is reported by Henry Wylie, camp director.

Mrs. Oliver Brazeau, 1101 3rd Ave. S., will be in charge of noon lunches at camp again this summer. Besides having prepared noon lunches at Harstad for 10 summers, Mrs. Brazeau has worked on many school lunch programs in this community.

Mike Olson, 1407 S. 14th St., senior counelor, will be a senior at Escanaba Area High School next year. It will be his second year at Camp Harstad. He passed Red Cross requirements for a Senior Life Saving certificate at the Escanaba Municipal Beach last summer and will be in charge of all swimming activities for the campers this summer.

Janice Ferguson, Rte. 2, Ford River Road, Escanaba, senior counselor, will be a sophomore at Bay de Noc Community College next year. It will be Janice's second year at Camp Harstad.

Christine Gauthier, 1308 5th Ave. S., senior counselor, will be a junior at Michigan State University next year. She worked at a church camp in sotuhern Michigan last summer and will bring that experience to the summer program at Harstad.

Susan Nicholson, 1408 S. 15th St., junior counselor, graduated from Escanaba Area High School last week and will attend Bay de Noc Community College as a freshman this fall. Her high school experiences include three years of dramatic experience on the stage crew and three years of art at E.A. H.S., which will bring a variety of valuable new experience to the Harstad campers this summer, said Wylie.

In addition to cooperating with work-study funds for the counsellors, Bay de Noc Community College is also assigning a student nurse in the Practical Nursing Program at the College to Rotary Camp Harstad each week at no cost to the Harstad program.

Wylie, 620 S. 9th St., in his second year as camp director, has nine years of camping experience.

Letters of invitation to Camp Harstad will be mailed to the parents of 38 children this week inviting the children to attend camp this summer. All cards, either accepting the invitation or not, should be returned promptly, said Wylie.

The Department of Social Services for the State of Michigan requires that every child be checked for communicable diseases by a physician and have a TB skin test before attending camp. All camp employees must also show evidence of a negative TB skin test.

Rotary Camp Harstad has been granted a regular license by the Department of Social Services for the State of Michigan to oeprate as a day camp.

Charles W. Stoll, 77, Banker And Yachtsman, Dies

Charles W. Stoll

Charles W. Stoll of Escanaba, banker, businessman, and yachtsman, died at 5 a.m. Sunday in Green Bay. He was 77 years old.

He was president of the State Bank of Escanaba, and was associated with several business enterprises, notably the Sawyer-Stoll Timber Co. of Escanaba.

With partners, the late Carl J. Sawyer and E. Parke Sawyer, the Sawyer-Stoll Timber Co. was started in 1922. Mr. Stoll was also vice president of the Hicks Lumber & Supply Co., Ltd.; president of the Sawyer-Stoll Lumber Co. Ltd.; and a partner in the Shepeck Dimension & Lumber Co.

He was a former director of the Charmin Paper Mills, Green Bay.

Active In Masonry

In community affairs he had served as a member of the Delta County Board of Supervisors, and was chairman of its finance committee.

He was president of the Lakeview Cemetery Association, and with C. J. and E. P. Sawyer gave to Lakeview Cemetery the chapel erected there.

Charles William Stoll was born in Escanaba on Aug. 9, 1893, and was graduated from the Escanaba Public Schools and the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church; Delta Lodge No. 195 F&AM; Delta Chapter No. 118, Royal Aarch Masons; Escanaba Commandery No. 47, K. T.; Francis P. Moore Consistory, S. P. R. S. 32nd degree, Marquette; Delta Shrine Club, Escanaba; the Ahmed Temple, Marquette; and the University of Michigan Alumni Club.

One of his affiliations was with the Escanaba Yacht Club and the Lake Michigan Yachting Association.

Funeral Tuesday

As owner and skipper of the "Rose of Sharon", a 52-foot schooner, he was well known at ports around the north end of Lake Michigan, Green Bay and Big Bay de Noc. He had sailed the "Rose" for 30 years. Her home port was Escanaba and her mooring was at the yacht basin here.

His outdoor activities and hobbies besides sailing included fishing — lake fishing of all types and river fishing from a boat.

Mr. Stoll was a veteran of World War I and flew with the Army Air Corps.

Surviving are two sons, Dr. William Morgen Stoll of Green Bay and Charles Stewart Stoll of California; and five grandchildren.

Masonic memorial services will be held at 8 tonight at the Boyce Funeral Home. Friends may call to 9 p.m.

Funeral services are scheduled for 10 a.m. Tuesday at the Boyce Funeral Home, with the Rev. Philip Lyon, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiating, followed by commital services in Lakeview Cemetery Chapel.

Lower Level

By uanimous vote (30-0), the Michigan Senate approved and sent to the House "one of the strongest drunk driving bills in the nation."

Its key provision would drop the blood-alcohol concentration limit legally employed as a basis for presumption of intoxication. The present law specifies that .15 percent alcohol in the blood is sufficient to presume a driver is under the influence of alcohol. The Senate-passed bill would reduce this level by one-third, to .10 per cent.

Use of the blood-alcohol concentration limit is linked closely to the "implied consent" concept, which Michigan adopted several years ago. This statute provides that when a person operates a vehicle upon a public highway he is deemed to have given his consent in advance to a chemical test of his blood, breath or urine if he is arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Refusal to submit to such a chemical test is cause for suspension of a driver's license.

The action now to reduce the threshold of incrimination from .15 per cent to .10 per cent is a recognition of the findings of research into the physiological and psychological aspects of alcohol consumption. Numerous studies and experiments have demonstrated that no one is fit to drive a motor vehicle when the blood-alcohol concentration reaches the .10 per cent level. The same studies and experiments also indicate, in fact, that many are not fit to drive at levels lower than 0.10 per cent.

* * *

A measure of the magnitude of the problem was given by Lyle D. Filkins, research engineer in the Highway Safety Research Institute of the University of Michigan, at a presentation for news media representatives in Escanaba last month.

Reporting on the latest information on his continuing study of the problem of the drunken driver, Filkins said figures for 1968 reveal there were 7,135 automobile accidents in the Upper Peninsula involving property damage. Of these, 2,511 were personal injury crashes and 84 were fatal crashes. They left 4,058 persons injured and 100 killed. The total economic loss of the accidents was estimated at $14 million.

"I would guess that half of those accidents should be attributed to drinking drivers, and if you used that amount of money you could do a lot about controlling alcoholism," Filkins said.

House passage of the Senate bill reducing the blood-alcohol concentration limit to 0.10 per cent certainly won't solve the problem of the drinking driver in Michigan, but it does represent a more realistic approach to the problem and it should have some impact on reducing the number of drinking drivers in the state and keeping them off the highways.

The Family Lawyer

TAKING ALONG THE MRS.

Comedians have spun endless tales about the traveling businessman who takes along his secretary, claiming she is his wife. But for tax purposes, the situation may be just the opposite. The businessman may take along his wife and claim she is his secretary. His object, of course, would be to deduct her traveling expenses on his next income tax return.

Is this permissible? Are her expenses properly deductible? Consider this case:

A sales executive took his wife along to a series of conventions, where she kept him company and attended to the usual social amenities. However, she took no part in any business or convention activities.

Her husband tried afterward to deduct her expenses, but a court ruled that he could not. The court felt that, as far as business was concerned, he might just as well have left her home.

Even if a wife provides something more than mere companionship, there still may be insufficient grounds for her husband to take a tax deduction. Suppose she types up occasional notes for him. Or goes along to convention luncheons and dinners. Neither of these services would justify a deduction, according to a ruling of the Internal Revenue Service. As one court put it:

"Being 'helpful' is not enough: a wife's functions while traveling with her husband must be 'necessary' to the conduct of his business before a deduction will be allowed for her expenses."

By contrast, another wife did play a key role in her husband's work while they traveled in Europe, putting in as much time on the job as he did. Furthermore, their itinery was chosen solely for business reasons, with no detours for "places of interest." In fact, she did no sightseeing at all.

Weighing these circumstances, a court concluded that her trip really was a business necessity and her expenses deductible. The court treated these expenses just like telephone bills or postage or any other of the costs of making a living.

The Young Misread President's Intentions

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Dr. Martin Anderson, Columbia University economist who proved by statistical analysis that the Federal bulldozer had destroyed more homes than "urban renewal" had managed to build, has had the job of justifying to President Nixon the case for a voluntary army.

He has been at it ever since the 1968 campaign. And making due allowance for the difficulty of changing over from the draft to volunteer recruitment in the middle of a war, his logic has convinced the President.

The strange thing is that the young of America, who claim they have a special right to pronounce on politics, hardly know of Martin Anderson's existence. If they had followed Dr. Anderson's fight as a White House adviser to set the stage for the Presidential Commission on an All-Volunteer Armed Force, which has concluded unanimously that the draft should go, they would have to admit that Richard Nixon is the only President within living memory who has actively repudiated the basic idea of conscription.

Nixon, in short, is "their man," as he proved when he said on April 23 that "with an end to the draft, we will demonstrate to the world the responsiveness of republican government — and our continuing commitment to the maximum freedom for the individual, enshrined in our earliest traditions and founding documents."

* * *

How is it that the young on the campuses of America fail to read Richard Nixon correctly?

Partly it derives from a sense of guilt: the undergraduates have been beating the draft through the system of college deferments where their less favored brothers have been conscripted after high school, and they have sought refuge from self-loathing in an unrealistic concept of "instant politics," thinking that immediate abolition of the war in Southeast Asia would absolve them of their shame in taking favors in a life-and-death matter from the government.

The trouble with "instant politics" is that it makes no allowance for what Richard Nixon was handed by his predecessors: a war at an 8,000-mile distance involving 500,000 U.S. soldiers whom it would require many months to extricate without selling out our friends and, indeed, risking a debacle at the last beachhead.

Nixon has sought to combine honor (under the name of "Vietnamization") with the fulfillment of his mandate to get American soldiers off the Asian mainland. A prudent concept of evacuation logistics is part of his thinking: if it took the Japanese eight months to get their troops out of China in 1945-46, it will take us even longer to wind up our ground-troop participation in the Indo-China War.

* * *

The students, preoccupied with "instant politics," have been blind to our defensive aspect of liquidating the Viet-Cong-North Vietnamese hold on the Cambodian flank while we build up the South Vietnamese in preparation for our departure. The students have been even more blind to Nixon's timetable in going over to a voluntary army. As Nixon has said, the draft "cannot be ended all at once; it must be phased out, so that we can be certain of maintaining our defense strength at every step."

The idea is to reduce draft calls to zero over a period of time. The desire for a voluntary armed force is intertwined with budgetary realities; pay increases to entice young men into the army of their own free will must not force an inflation that would make it impossible to offer real continuing financial inducements to volunteers.

The Nixon proposition is to give a retroactive pay increase for members of the armed forces right away, and to follow it up with additional increases in 1971 and 1972. The sum marked for 1972 is an extra two billion dollars for added pay and other benefits. Thus the stage will be set for the formal ending of conscription without in the meantime depriving ourselves of an army.

* * *

There are those who say that money will never attract enough soldiers to defend the Republic, even after U.S. ground troops have been withdrawn from the Asian mainland. And there are those who say that every young man should acknowledge his responsibility to defend the nation.

But Martin Anderson notes that we don't draft our policemen and our firemen, even though our cities have a responsibility to maintain law and order. Certainly the army, as an honorable institution, deserves fair wages.

The point to be made here is that Nixon, whether his decision to go for a voluntary army is wise or not, is on the side of the young who hate the draft. Yet the young cannot see the President as their friend.

Whose is the failure to listen? It is the young who are being arbitrary, blind and totally unfair to a President who is trying to help them get what they want as quickly as it is realistically possible to do so.

Are Nation's Economists Doing Their Job Well?

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Is Paul McCracken a good oikonomikos?

That's the word the ancient Greeks used to describe a steward or a person skilled in household management. Today, of course, an economist is one who is supposed to know how to keep industrial and government houses in order.

Dr. McCracken, the President's chief economic adviser, has demonstrated his credentials over the years, but with so much disorder existing in the economy, critics feel some government economists aren't worth their salt.

The search for an explanation of economists was undertaken by a puzzled observer of the market place who concluded that financial terms didn't seem to make complete sense any more and that perhaps we should begin all over again.

It was an education if not an explanation.

The word "tax," it was learned, means just what you think it does, a levy, a sort of touch, being derived from the Latin "taxare," which means "to touch sharply." Few taxpayers will dispute the definition. It is still accurate.

Most other terms, however, seem to have foresaken their origins as thoroughly as a broker forgets that his title once referred to a person who broached or tapped a cask to draw off the liquor.

Because of this, the term was applied to retail vendors of wine, and later to any small retailer, peddler or agent. Disgruntled stock market investors might wish to remind their brokers of these humble origins.

More disconcerting is the realization that many financial terms were derived through theft and corruption. Dr. H. Bosley Woolf, managing editor of Merriam-Webster dictionaries, is authority for the statement.

The words dime and quarter, Woolf relates, were stolen from the Latin, dollar and nickel from the German, penny from Old English, check from the Arabic via the French, and century and grand, in references to money, from the underworld.

In knowing the origins of such terms, perhaps some of the mysterious rumbles of the financial world may be more understandable. Some more:

—Money, you may not be surprised to learn, can be traced to a woman, the Roman goddess Juno, whose divine responsibilities included that of warning the populace. She acquired the surname Moneta, from the Latin "moneo" or "warn."

So grateful were the Romans that they erected a temple in her honor and installed a mint there, and as Juno Moneta, the goddess also became the guardian of finances.

—Dollar originally meant valley or dale, a perfectly understanable definition to those who have watched the value of the dollar sink year after year. But the value decline really has little to do with the origin.

In the early 16th century, the silver mined in northwestern Boehmia, now Czechoslovakia, was converted into coins at a mint in Joachimstal, which in German meant "Joachim's dale."

The coins made there were called Joachimthaler, which was shortened to taler, and then, in English, changed to dollar—the basic American currency now printed in such dales at Denver and San Francisco.

—Salary originally meant salt money. Roman soldiers drew a special allowance as part of their pay in order to buy salt, in ancient times a commodity not always so easily obtained as now.

This allowance was called a "salarium," based on the Latin word "sal," or "salt." Salarium was borrowed in English as salary, and used to denote fixed regular wages. Some workers still call it salt.

—Bank originally meant the table of a money changer. It was borrowed from the French "banque" and the Italian "banca," which meant "bench," "table" or "counter."

—Bankrupt meant to break the bench, quite literally. When a money changer in old Florence became insolvent, the authorities wrecked his bench to show he was out of business. It was, in a word or two, the finance. Finance? Well, perhaps not quite accurately, but it does suggest the money changer's plight.

The word "finance" means "the end." It is related to the word "fine," which comes from the Latin "finis," which means "final payment," "settlement," "end."

If you aren't convinced that it refers to a terminal status, then ask any corporate treasurer who has had to pay 15 per cent for borrowed money or any stock broker who lost his suspenders in the recent crash. They'll tell you.

Finis.

Opening lead — king of diamonds.

Robert Gray of Scotland is well known for his skill in constructing double-dummy problems. Here is a striking example of his handicraft which demonstrates how far one can go to accomplish a trump coup.

For a trump coup to work, declarer must reduce his trumps to the same length as one of his adversaries. If you take a look at the spade combination in this deal, you may well think that this is impracticable. Nevertheless, it can be done.

Assume South is in six spades and West leads a diamond. It would seem that West must win two trump tricks and that declarer must go down one.

But if South proceeds carefully, he can bring home the slam. The key play comes at trick one when he ruffs in dummy with the three and at the same time underruffs with the two!

From then on, it is simple a question of South's ruffing a club at every opportunity and in that way reducing his trump length.

Declarer trumps the ace of clubs at trick two, plays a heart to the queen, ruffs a club, and plays a heart to the king, East showing out.

The process continues with a club ruff, a heart finesse, another club ruff, a heart to the ace, and, finally, a fifth club ruff.

By this time South's last three cards are the A-J-10 of spades and West has the K-Q-9. The play of the jack puts West out of commission.

Certainly this is an extreme example of a successful trump coup. Declarer starts with nine spades to West's three, and, despite this, creates the winning position at the end.

He cannot afford a slip at any point—particularly on the opening lead, when he must be sure to underruff dummy's three. The hand is certainly a curiosity, but it does have points of interest.

Five Million Potheads Would Be Too Much!

Dear Ann Landers: I have a solution to the pot and drug problem—also heroin or whatever else the screwballs want to inject into their veins. Let them do it. Give them as much dope as they want. Eventually they will kill themselves and the world will be better off without them.

I am sick and tired of looking at dirty, long-haired slobs who would rather fight the establishment than wash and go to work like self respecting people. They are lousing up our world and contributing nothing but trouble, which we have enough of already.

Dear Lou: I've heard some classic "solutions" but yours is in a class by itself. If addicts were given free and easy access to drugs, they would surely create an enormous health and welfare problem before they got around to killing themselves. The loss, in terms of human resources, would be staggering. No country can allow its youth to burn its brains out. We now have approximately eight million alcoholics in our country and we don't need five million potheads.

Dear Ann Landers: I was disappointed in your advice to the wife who was mad at her husband because he abandoned her at parties and went off and had a great time. You told her, "Stop following him around. Quit making a pest of yourself." Instead of telling her what NOT to do, why didn't you give her some positive advice, such as, "Force yourself to talk to people, even if your stomach is in knots and your legs feel like they are going to collapse."

My husband used to leave me stranded, too, but I was determined not to be that "pest" you spoke of. Instead of hiding in the powder room I decided to make it on my own. To my surprise I discovered I could have a good time if I made the effort.

Most exciting of all was my husband's reaction. When he saw me standing in a group, the center of attention, laughing and talking, he came over to get in on the interesting conversation. What fun it is now to show off for him! And if a former shrinking violet like yours truly can do it, anyone can! Spread the word. — M.D. of D.C.

By uanimous vote (30-0), the Michigan Senate approved and sent to the House "one of the strongest drunk driving bills in the nation."

Its key provision would drop the blood-alcohol concentration limit legally employed as a basis for presumption of intoxication. The present law specifies that .15 percent alcohol in the blood is sufficient to presume a driver is under the influence of alcohol. The Senate-passed bill would reduce this level by one-third, to .10 per cent.

Use of the blood-alcohol concentration limit is linked closely to the "implied consent" concept, which Michigan adopted several years ago. This statute provides that when a person operates a vehicle upon a public highway he is deemed to have given his consent in advance to a chemical test of his blood, breath or urine if he is arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Refusal to submit to such a chemical test is cause for suspension of a driver's license.

The action now to reduce the threshold of incrimination from .15 per cent to .10 per cent is a recognition of the findings of research into the physiological and psychological aspects of alcohol consumption. Numerous studies and experiments have demonstrated that no one is fit to drive a motor vehicle when the blood-alcohol concentration reaches the .10 per cent level. The same studies and experiments also indicate, in fact, that many are not fit to drive at levels lower than 0.10 per cent.

A measure of the magnitude of the problem was given by Lyle D. Filkins, research engineer in the Highway Safety Research Institute of the University of Michigan, at a presentation for news media representatives in Escanaba last month.

Reporting on the latest information on his continuing study of the problem of the drunken driver, Filkins said figures for 1968 reveal there were 7,135 automobile accidents in the Upper Peninsula involving property damage. Of these, 2,511 were personal injury crashes and 84 were fatal crashes. They left 4,058 persons injured and 100 killed. The total economic loss of the accidents was estimated at $14 million.

"I would guess that half of those accidents should be attributed to drinking drivers, and if you used that amount of money you could do a lot about controlling alcoholism," Filkins said.

House passage of the Senate bill reducing the blood-alcohol concentration limit to 0.10 per cent certainly won't solve the problem of the drinking driver in Michigan, but it does represent a more realistic approach to the problem and it should have some impact on reducing the number of drinking drivers in the state and keeping them off the highways.

The Family Lawyer

TAKING ALONG THE MRS.

Comedians have spun endless tales about the traveling businessman who takes along his secretary, claiming she is his wife. But for tax purposes, the situation may be just the opposite. The businessman may take along his wife and claim she is his secretary. His object, of course, would be to deduct her traveling expenses on his next income tax return.

Is this permissible? Are her expenses properly deductible? Consider this case:

A sales executive took his wife along to a series of conventions, where she kept him company and attended to the usual social amenities. However, she took no part in any business or convention activities.

Her husband tried afterward to deduct her expenses, but a court ruled that he could not. The court felt that, as far as business was concerned, he might just as well have left her home.

Even if a wife provides something more than mere companionship, there still may be insufficient grounds for her husband to take a tax deduction. Suppose she types up occasional notes for him. Or goes along to convention luncheons and dinners. Neither of these services would justify a deduction, according to a ruling of the Internal Revenue Service. As one court put it:

"Being 'helpful' is not enough; a wife's functions while traveling with her husband must be 'necessary' to the conduct of his business before a deduction will be allowed for her expenses."

By contrast, another wife did play a key role in her husband's work while they traveled in Europe, putting in as much time on the job as he did. Furthermore, their itinery was chosen solely for business reasons, with no detours for "places of interest." In fact, she did no sightseeing at all.

Weighing these circumstances, a court concluded that her trip really was a business necessity and her expenses deductible. The court treated these expenses just like telephone bills or postage or any other of the costs of making a living.

The Young Misread President's Intentions

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Dr. Martin Anderson, Columbia University economist who proved by statistical analysis that the Federal bulldozer had destroyed more homes than "urban renewal" had managed to build, has had the job of justifying to President Nixon the case for a voluntary army.

He has been at it ever since the 1968 campaign. And making due allowance for the difficulty of changing over from the draft to volunteer recruitment in the middle of a war, his logic has convinced the President.

The strange thing is that the young of America, who claim they have a special right to pronounce on politics, hardly know of Martin Anderson's existence. If they had followed Dr. Anderson's fight as a White House adviser to set the stage for the Presidential Commission on an All-Volunteer Armed Force, which has concluded unanimously that the draft should go, they would have to admit that Richard Nixon is the only President within living memory who has actively repudiated the basic idea of conscription.

Nixon, in short, is "their man," as he proved when he said on April 23 that "with an end to the draft, we will demonstrate to the world the responsiveness of republican government — and our continuing commitment to the maximum freedom for the individual, enshrined in our earliest traditions and founding documents."

How is it that the young on the campuses of America fail to read Richard Nixon correctly?

Partly it derives from a sense of guilt: the undergraduates have been beating the draft through the system of college deferments where their less favored brothers have been conscripted after high school, and they have sought refuge from self-loathing in an unrealistic concept of "instant politics," thinking that immediate abolition of the war in Southeast Asia would absolve them of their shame in taking favors in a life-and-death matter from the government.

The trouble with "instant politics" is that it makes no allowance for what Richard Nixon was handed by his predecessors: a war at an 8,000-mile distance involving 500,000 U.S. soldiers whom it would require many months to extricate without selling out our friends and, indeed, risking a debacle at the last beachhead.

Nixon has sought to combine honor (under the name of "Vietnamization") with the fulfillment of his mandate to get American soldiers off the Asian mainland. A prudent concept of evacuation logistics is part of his thinking: if it took the Japanese eight months to get their troops out of China in 1945-46, it will take us even longer to wind up our ground-troop participation in the Indo-China War.

★ ★ ★

The students, preoccupied with "instant politics," have been blind to our defensive aspect of liquidating the Viet-Cong-North Vietnamese hold on the Cambodian flank while we build up the South Vietnamese in preparation for our departure. The students have been even more blind to Nixon's timetable in going over to a voluntary army. As Nixon has said, the draft "cannot be ended all at once; it must be phased out, so that we can be certain of maintaining our defense strength at every step."

The idea is to reduce draft calls to zero over a period of time. The desire for a voluntary armed force is intertwined with budgetary realities; pay increases to entice young men into the army of their own free will must not force an inflation that would make it impossible to offer real continuing financial inducements to volunteers.

The Nixon proposition is to give a retroactive pay increase for members of the armed forces right away, and to follow it up with additional increases in 1971 and 1972. The sum marked for 1972 is an extra two billion dollars for added pay and other benefits. Thus the stage will be set for the formal ending of conscription without in the meantime depriving ourselves of an army.

★ ★ ★

There are those who say that money will never attract enough soldiers to defend the Republic, even after U.S. ground troops have been withdrawn from the Asian mainland. And there are those who say that every young man should acknowledge his responsibility to defend the nation.

But Martin Anderson notes that we don't draft our policemen and our firemen, even though our cities have a responsibility to maintain law and order. Certainly the army, as an honorable institution, deserves fair wages.

The point to be made here is that Nixon, whether his decision to go for a voluntary army is wise or not, is on the side of the young who hate the draft. Yet the young cannot see the President as their friend.

Whose is the failure to listen? It is the young who are being arbitrary, blind and totally unfair to a President who is trying to help them get what they want as quickly as it is realistically possible to do so.

Are Nation's Economists Doing Their Job Well?

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Is Paul McCracken a good oikonomikos?

That's the word the ancient Greeks used to describe a steward or a person skilled in household management. Today, of course, an economist is one who is supposed to know how to keep industrial and government houses in order.

Dr. McCracken, the President's chief economic adviser, has demonstrated his credentials over the years, but with so much disorder existing in the economy, critics feel some government economists aren't worth their salt.

The search for an explanation of economists was undertaken by a puzzled observer of the market place who concluded that financial terms didn't seem to make complete sense any more and that perhaps we should begin all over again.

It was an education if not an explanation.

The word "tax," it was learned, means just what you think it does, a levy, a sort of touch, being derived from the Latin "taxare," which means "to touch sharply." Few taxpayers will dispute the definition. It is still accurate.

Most other terms, however, seem to have foresaken their origins as thoroughly as a broker forgets that his title once referred to a person who broached or tapped a cask to draw off the liquor.

Because of this, the term was applied to retail vendors of wine, and later to any small retailer, peddler or agent. Disgruntled stock market investors might wish to remind their brokers of these humble origins.

More disconcerting is the realization that many financial terms were derived through theft and corruption. Dr. H. Bosley Woolf, managing editor of Merriam-Webster dictionaries, is authority for the statement.

The words dime and quarter, Woolf relates, were stolen from the Latin, dollar and nickel from the German, penny from Old English, check from the Arabic via the French, and century and grand, in references to money, from the underworld.

In knowing the origins of such terms, perhaps some of the mysterious rumbles of the financial world may be more understandable. Some more:

—Money, you may not be surprised to learn, can be traced to a woman, the Roman goddess Juno, whose divine responsibilities included that of warning the populace. She acquired the surname Moneta, from the Latin "moneo" or "warn."

So grateful were the Romans that they erected a temple in her honor and installed a mint there, and as Juno Moneta, the goddess also became the guardian of finances.

—Dollar originally meant valley or dale, a perfectly understanable definition to those who have watched the value of the dollar sink year after year. But the value decline really has little to do with the origin.

In the early 16th century, the silver mined in northwestern Boehmia, now Czechoslovakia, was converted into coins at a mint in Joachimstal, which in German meant "Joachim's dale."

The coins made there were called Joachimthaler, which was shortened to taler, and then, in English, changed to dollar—the basic American currency now printed in such dales at Denver and San Francisco.

—Salary originally meant salt money. Roman soldiers drew a special allowance as part of their pay in order to buy salt, in ancient times a commodity not always so easily obtained as now.

This allowance was called a "salarium," based on the Latin word "sal," or "salt." Salarium was borrowed in English as salary, and used to denote fixed regular wages. Some workers still call it salt.

—Bank originally meant the table of a money changer. It was borrowed from the French "banque" and the Italian "banca," which meant "bench," "table" or "counter."

—Bankrupt meant to break the bench, quite literally. When a money changer in old Florence became insolvent, the authorities wrecked his bench to show he was out of business. It was, in a word or two, the finance. Finance? Well, perhaps not quite accurately, but it does suggest the money changer's plight.

The word "finance" means "the end." It is related to the word "fine," which comes from the Latin "finis," which means "final payment," "settlement," "end."

If you aren't convinced that it refers to a terminal status, then ask any corporate treasurer who has had to pay 15 per cent for borrowed money or any stock broker who lost his suspenders in the recent crash. They'll tell you.
Finis.

Opening lead — king of diamonds.

Robert Gray of Scotland is well known for his skill in constructing double-dummy problems. Here is a striking example of his handicraft which demonstrates how far one can go to accomplish a trump coup.

For a trump coup to work, declarer must reduce his trumps to the same length as one of his adversaries. If you take a look at the spade combination in this deal, you may well think that this is impracticable. Nevertheless, it can be done.

Assume South is in six spades and West leads a diamond. It would seem that West must win two trump tricks and that declarer must go down one.

But if South proceeds carefully, he can bring home the slam. The key play comes at trick one when he ruffs in dummy with the three and at the same time underruffs with the two!

From then on, it is simple a question of South's ruffing a club at every opportunity and in that way reducing his trump length.

Declarer trumps the ace of clubs at trick two, plays a heart to the queen, ruffs a club, and plays a heart to the king, East showing out.

The process continues with a club ruff, a heart finesse, another club ruff, a heart to the ace, and, finaliy, a fifth club ruff.

By this time South's last three cards are the A-J-10 of spades and West has the K-Q-9. The play of the jack puts West out of commission.

Certainly this is an extreme example of a successful trump coup. Declarer starts with nine spades to West's three, and, despite this, creates the winning position at the end.

He cannot afford a slip at any point—particularly on the opening lead, when he must be sure to underruff dummy's three. The hand is certainly a curiosity, but it does have points of interest.

Not Dirt Cheap

A dirty air cleaner on your car's engine can cost you up to thirty-two dollars a year in wasted gasoline — to say nothing of extra engine wear from added grime. Let your engine breathe easy — check the carbureator air cleaner often and replace when recommended.

Railroads running through South West Africa's vast semi-desert face special problems. Recently, 250 laborers turned out to clear sand dunes from the track between remote Aus and coastal Luderitz where a passenger train was partially derailed by the drifting sand.

Traffic Light Is Not Needed

Paul Michelin, Michigan State Highway representative, believes there is no need to install a traffic control light at Lincoln Rd. and 5th Ave. S., he advised the Escanaba Citizens Safety Advisory Committee.

The Committee discused the situation at the intersection following a second traffic fatality there so far this year.

Rene Labre, chairman of the Traffic Safety Committee, reported that Michelin checked reports of both of the fatal accidents and inspected the intersection.

As far as he was concerned, he felt that a speed study had been made before the area was posted and that the proper speed for the area had been posted, it was reported.

There are no obstructions to vision at the intersection and Michelin said he had no further suggestion for changes.

The Safety Committee suggested the possibility that a road be constructed from Eighth Ave. S. to Ludington St. on the west side of the High School in an effort to funnel some of the traffic in the area away from Lincoln Road.

School Election Polls Open To 8 P.M. Today

The polls will be open to 8 tonight in school elections including the Escanaba Area School District in which two trustees will be chosen and the question of school millage will be resolved by the voters.

Alfred Troutt of Ford River is a candidate unopposed for the four-year term; David J. Rivard of Soo Hill, John Pearson, 515 S. 5th St., and Leo Alperovitz of 208 S. 22nd St. are seeking the one-year term as write-in candidates.

Alperovitz is business manager of Bay de Noc Community College. He announced his candidacy today.

Ferency Vows Changes, If Elected As Governor

By DAVE ANDREWS

Zolton Ferency may not get to be governor of Michigan.

He may not even earn the Democratic nomination for governor.

But before the Aug. 4 primary, Ferency is going to have a whale of a time running for the office.

The 48-year-old East Lansing lawyer who ran for governor and lost to George Romney in 1966, told a group of Delta County Democrats Sunday at the Bowl-A-Rama that if they "want to do business at the same old stand" then don't vote for Zolton Ferency.

But if they feel some changes are needed, then they've come to the right man.

Ferency, who said his 1966 campaign started with people asking "What is a Zolton Ferency and ended with people asking who is Zolton Ferency", said the nation is divided as it never have been before and that there are four causes for the division — the war in Indo-China; racism in society; poverty in the midst of plenty and the feeling of powerlessness in people to guide their own destinies.

Zolton Ferency

Will Use Office

He said that if he is elected governor he will use the power of the office to work for the correction of those problems.

Ferency, who visited in about a dozen Upper Peninsula communities before stopping in Escanaba for the coffee hour program arranged by the Delta County Democratic Women's Club, stopped at Manistique after leaving Escanaba en route to St. Ignace, where he spent the night, before driving back to East Lansing today.

He said in his tour of the Upper Peninsula that the economy is a very important problem, particularly in the Sault Ste. Marie and Gogebic-Iron county areas.

Ferency was the fourth Democratic candidate for governor to visit in Delta County. Sen. Sander Levin of Berkley, Rep. George F. Montgomery of Detroit and George N. Parris, prosecuting attorney from Macomb County all have appeared in the county this spring.

Levin "Strongest"

Ferency said he regards Levin as his strongest opponent for the nomination and in an interview attacked what he termed Levin's "Madison Avenue" tactics. He said Levin changed advertising agencies running his campaign and that he (Ferency) opposes the use of "modern merchandising techniques" used by Levin in an effort to attract attention.

"I intend to make an issue of it in the campaign," he said.

Ferency, who was an opponent of the war in Vietnam before the nation got excited about it and urged the Democrats to dump Lyndon Johnson from the 1968 ticket, said he plans to make the Indo-China war and tax reform issues in the campaign. He also said he is strongly in favor of speration of church and state.

"It's foolish to get involved to support private schools when we can't support public schools," he said. A Roman Catholic, Ferency said that private schools will end up as public schools and "the whole purpose of private schools will be lost."

Not Getting Share

Ferency also said that Michigan isn't getting its fair share of federal tax dollars (Michigan is the 11th largest contributor, he said, and 50th in per capita return) and he said he will propose that local tax credits by applied to federal income tax returns to allow local people to make their own decisions on tax matters.

He said he would urge that instead of allowing deductions for state and local taxes, that the federal government allow local taxes be subtracted (as a credit) from the total tax due to the federal government. With less federal tax to pay—money, he said, which is being used for 'foolish programs" like the space race, Anti-ballistic missiles (ABM), development of the SST, the war in Indo-China — people would be more willing to pay for local problems.

Graduated Tax

Ferency said he's also in favor of a graduated income tax for Michigan to provide the "flexibility and equitability" to the problems of financing state government and taking the burden off the property tax.

Ferency said that if he wins the Democratic nomination for governor that he won't have to devote the campaign energy to gaining recognition in the state. He said he has greater recognition now and that he plans to show people by his arguments what he believes is important, matching his views against those of Gov. Milliken.

"If the voter makes that kind of comparison, I think I'll win," he said.

Briefly Told

The Ford River Library summer schedule is: Monday and Thursday afternoons 2:30 to 4 o'clock; Saturday afternoons 12:30 to 3:30.

Judy Wessel, Holy Name High School student, is listed on the "B" honor roll for the semester. Her name was spelled incorrectly in publication.

The management of Gardens of Rest Cemetery will present a slide program on the proposed chapel mausoleum Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church. The public is invited.

Accident Case Opens In Court

A jury trial began in Circuit Court this morning before Judge Bernard H. Davidson of a case where Daniel McMillie of the Chemical Plant Location is charging Herman R. Erickson of 324 N. 12th St. with auto negligence.

The trial stems from an automobile accident on Feb. 24, 1967, when the McMillie car, which was driven by Mrs. McMillie, collided with a car driven by Erickson at the intersection of 10th St. N and 1st Ave. N.

The McMillies are seeking damages from injuries allegedly received by Mrs. McMillie in the accident.

A jury of four men and eight women was selected this morning. Named to the jury were Rose Ratkovich, Mary Lee Bowden, Wayne Madalinski, Flora Moore, Rudolph Peterson, Grace Gustafson, William Schmidt, Lois Brazeau, Dorothy Zenker, John Dlugas, Helen Thorin and Elizabeth Potvin.

Robert Hansley is the attorney for the plaintiff and Clair Hoehn is the defense attorney.

The race was the first of four for the Green Bay Press Gazette "Boat of the Year" trophy. Next race will be held in Escanaba June 20.

Dispute Halts College Building

Construction of a $660,000 class room and library building on Bay de Noc Community College's new campus at Danforth Rd. was halted temporarily today because of a labor dispute.

The dispute was reported between the iron workers and carpenters over who is to hang the metal framework for the doors and windows.

Howard Herrild of Menominee is general contractor. He is not involved in the dispute between the union members.

Nester Erickson Taken By Death

Nester W. Erickson of Rte. 2, Rapid River (Stonington) died early Sunday morning at St. Francis Hospital where he had been a patient for three weeks.

He was born Sept. 30, 1909 in Gladstone and was a retired employee of the Harnischfeger Corp.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Charles (Helen) Huehnerfuss of Green Bay; one son, Jerry of Gray, La., and five grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Ellen Armstrong of Stonington and four brothers, Paul and Ray of Stonington, Arvo of Gladstone Rte. 1 and one brother in Sweden.

Friends may call at the Skradski Funeral Home from 4 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday. The body will be removed at 1 p.m. Wednesday to the Trinity Lutheran Church, Stonington where funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. The Rev. George Olson will officiate and burial will be in Lakewood Cemetery, Stonington.

Fletcher Recital Is Well Received Here

It's quite an event when a home town girl returns to Escanaba and honors us with a graduate recital. Kristine Kletcher, violinist, did just that Saturday evening at the Escanaba Area High School, assisted by her sister, Susan, soprano.

Master's Degree

Kristine, who has studied at Northwestern University, and received her bachelors degree from Northern Michigan University, has just completed her degree work for a Masters degree at Ball State in Munice, Ind.

Graduate Recital

She elected to give her graduate recital in Escanaba, and brought with her her accompanist, Yolanda Paganelli, a native of Argentina, studying at Ball State on a scholarship. Miss Fletcher was also assisted by a fellow student, Ruth Leaf, violinist, a native of Kansas.

Opening Selections

Susan opened the program with two songs by Purcell and an aria by Puccini, accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Chown. Then followed a good exposition of the Beethoven A Major violin Sonata by Kristine with a real brilliant tempo in the Allegra vicace. Miss Paganelli treated the Sonata in good teutonic clarity, her scales speaking clearly and with the firmness that this sonata should have. The second movement, or Andante was played hauntingly by Miss Fletcher, and done beautifully in tune. The intonation in the whole program was outstandings.

Colorful

After the Sonata, Susan Fletcher presented three songs. The Villa-Lobos was the most interesting and colorful, and presented in an unusual style. Susan has just completed her first year at Kalamazoo college, and shows that she has spent her time well. Much praise for Ruth Chown, a fine accompanist and musician who did a competent job on this program.

Four Songs

Really interesting to me was a Sonatafor Two Viloins, by Zach, a Czechoslovakian composer of the Baroque period. Part Handel, part Mozart, yet not really either, Kristine Fletcher and Ruth Leaf gave it a most delightful reading. The final selection of the recital was four songs by Dvorak, from Zigenner Melodien, by Susan Fletcher. It included the famous "Songs my mother taught me," so beautifully sung.

It is nice to be able to say that Kristine Fletcher has agreed to teach strings at Escanaba Area High School next year, when she returns from a summer in Spain. We shall look forward to more recitals in the future.

The committees for the day includes Mrs. Frank Adams, chairman, assisted by the Mesdames, Lawrence Ambeau, Bernard Ammel, Arthur G. Anderson, Ralph Anderson, Burl Barnhart, Richard Barron and Herbert Barry.

People

Out of town relatives and friends who attended funeral services recently for Charles Perryman, Sr. included: Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Rogge of Iron Mountain, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Salmon and daughter of Watervilet, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Louma of Marquette, John McGinnis of Rockford, Ill., Mrs. Joseph LeBike and daughter of Chicago.

St. Anne's Social Club Meets Wednesday

St. Anne's Social Club will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the parish hall. Cards will be played and individual table prizes and guest awards will be presented. This is the last meeting of the club until fall.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Walter Johnson and Mrs. Roger Jenshak and they will be assisted by the Mesdames: George DeLoughary, William Berro, Emil Frappier, Ed Gadnais, Dorothy Cavill, George Belanger, Axel Olson, Walter Snyder, John Dubord and Alex St. Cyr.

Parishioners Mark Feast Of Corpus Christi

SPALDING — St. Francis Xavier Parish celebrated the Feast of Corpus Christi on Sunday, May 31, in a special way.

Forty-four children received the Eucharistic Lord for the first time.

The class included Todd Aerts, Cindy Benson, Cindy Bouty, Lawrence Charlier, Willard Charlier, Gregory DuBois, Charles Fazer, Tami Fazer, Linda Gardapee, Brenda Graham, Steven Hafeman, Randy Kleikamp, Roger Kleikamp, Leslie Kleiman.

William Kirschner, Gerald Kregelka, Allen LaBonte, Stephen LaBonte, Jeffrey LeBoeuf, Carold Lenca, Mary Little, Joan Luft, Bart Mathias, Lelia Mathias, Faye Miller, Cindy Miron, Tammy Miron, Brian Murray, Doreen O'Neil, Peggy O'Neil, Jeffrey Otradovec, Edward Paquin, Alan Poupore, Marcelle Poupore, Tracy Reidy, Eileen Savoie, Joseph Sickman, Troy Strand, John Triest, Sandra Tyra, James Webber, Karen Wells, Kevin Wentland and Karla Willa.

The Rev. Lester Bourgeois was celebrant of the Mass. Offertory procession included the presentation of Mass booklets made by the First Communicants. Vigil lights were presented signifying the children's responsibility to spread the light of Christ. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Poupore and Mrs. and Mrs. Peter Graham presented the gifts.

Previous to May 31, three sessions of a First Communion workshop were sponsored for the parents of the First Communicants. The Rev. Lester Bourgeois and Sister Ann were the instructors. All sessions were well attended by parents.

Church Events

St. Stephen's Episcopal

Monday-Friday, 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. - Vacation Church School for children four years of age and over.

More people get more news from newspapers than all other sources combined.

MR. AND MRS. William Ehlert of Oak Creek, Wis., announce the engagement of their daughter, Rose Marie, to Spec. 4 David Weber, son of Mrs. Eleanor Weber, 521 S. 11th St. and William Weber of Escanaba. Spec. 4 Weber is presently stationed at Fort Sheridan, Ill. An Aug. 1 wedding is being planned.

Women Of St. Stephen's Elect Officers

The Evening Group of the Women of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church held their closing meeting recently at the Shirley Johnson cottage.

Hostesses for the picnic meeting were Mrs. Helen Hoyler and Mrs. Phyllis Poore, assisted by Eunice Pohl, Bridget VanBrussell, Ruth Henderson and Elsie Mills.

Officers elected were: Eunice Pohl, president; Marian Stegath, vice-president; Joan Arntzen, secretary; Bonnie Hyde, treasurer and Dorothy Baltic, UTO chairman.

It was announced that the Women of the Church will have a booth at the flea market to be held June 17 in Escanaba and will feature pasties, baked goods and handicraft items. The booth will be located in front of the Groos Drug Store. On July 8 the Episcopal Church Women will meet at Little Lake from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Mrs. LeCaptain To Present Dance Revue

This Thursday, Jeannette LeCaptain will present her annual dance revue beginning at 8 p.m. at the Area High School Auditorium.

A cast of over 100 local dancers will perform in, "The Legend of Tumbleweed," a musical story of song dances and pantomine.

This familiar story brings to life many of the characters of the Old West. Lazy horses meet with an angry hornet and rollicking show girls performs a fiery can-can at the local saloon. The "Corps de Ballet," is a fantasy dream of the hard working western womenfolk.

With a final show-down at the "Last Chance Saloon," the sheriff and his shadows over take the bad guys. This final victory causes a whooped-up hoe-down in true jamboree style.

The students are all members of the Civic Center dance classes instructed by Mrs. LeCaptain and assisting teachers Linda Moras and Connie LeCaptain. Classes will now close for the summer and resume again in the fall.

Staging and props are designed by Dan Weissert and costuming is by Pat Erickson.

Tickets are available from the dance students or may be purchased at the door.

Fletcher Recital Is Well Received Here

It's quite an event when a home town girl returns to Escanaba and honors us with a graduate recital. Kristine Kletcher, violinist, did just that Saturday evening at the Escanaba Area High School, assisted by her sister, Susan, soprano.

Master's Degree

Kristine, who has studied at Northwestern University, and received her bachelors degree from Northern Michigan University, has just completed her degree work for a Masters degree at Ball State in Munice, Ind.

Graduate Recital

She elected to give her graduate recital in Escanaba, and brought with her her accompanist, Yolanda Paganelli, a native of Argentina, studying at Ball State on a scholarship. Miss Fletcher was also assisted by a fellow student, Ruth Leaf, violinist, a native of Kansas.

Opening Selections

Susan opened the program with two songs by Purcell and an aria by Puccini, accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Chown. Then followed a good exposition of the Beethoven A Major violin Sonata by Kristine with a real brilliant tempo in the Allegra vicace. Miss Paganelli treated the Sonata in good teutonic clarity, her scales speaking clearly and with the firmness that this sonata should have. The second movement, or Andante was played hauntingly by Miss Fletcher, and done beautifully in tune. The intonation in the whole program was outstandings.

Colorful

After the Sonata, Susan Fletcher presented three songs. The Villa-Lobos was the most interesting and colorful, and presented in an unusual style. Susan has just completed her first year at Kalamazoo college, and shows that she has spent her time well. Much praise for Ruth Chown, a fine accompanist and musician who did a competent job on this program.

Four Songs

Really interesting to me was a Sonatafor Two Viloins, by Zach, a Czechoslovakian composer of the Baroque period. Part Handel, part Mozart, yet not really either, Kristine Fletcher and Ruth Leaf gave it a most delightful reading. The final selection of the recital was four songs by Dvorak, from Zigenner Melodien, by Susan Fletcher. It included the famous "Songs my mother taught me," so beautifully sung.

It is nice to be able to say that Kristine Fletcher has agreed to teach strings at Escanaba Area High School next year, when she returns from a summer in Spain. We shall look forward to more recitals in the future.

Swainson Will Enter Supreme Court Race

By DON HOENSHELL
Panax Staff Writer

LANSING — Former Gov. John B. Swainson will get into the crowded race for the Michigan Supreme Court with only protocol and a record to sustain him.

The headache it will give Democratic delegates is painful even in contemplation.

"It's hard for me to see how a convention can turn down two former governors," said Swainson.

Thus he stated half his case for one of two nominations, with the other going to former Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Early speculation has Williams pairing up with Detroit Recorder's Judge Robert Evans, former Inkster municipal judge and the only black in the running for a Supreme Court seat.

The others going for the Democratic nomination are Appeals Court Chief Judge T. John Lesinski and Circuit Judge John Beer, of Pontiac.

Governor 12 Years

Williams was governor for 12 years and Swainson moved up from the State Senate as his lieutenant governor in 1958, then succeeded him for one two-year term in 1960.

Lesinski, a former House member, was lieutenant governor under Swainson and still holds the record as having the fastest gavel east of the Rockies.

Beer got his first job as a judge by appointment from Williams. Evans is a puzzle, an appointee of Republican Gov. Romney now running for the Democratic nomination for the Supreme Court.

"I think we're going to see a lot happen before the convention," said Swainson, declining to elaborate.

Three of the candidates — Williams, Swainson and Lesinski — were the most vocal partisans the Democrats had during the 1950s and early 1960s. Now they're going for that have been nonpartisan since 1941.

Must Keep Silent

They'll all go before caucuses at the convention carrying their party records like banners, then upon nomination must never utter a partisan word during the campaign.

"I couldn't say, for example, that I'm in favor of or opposed to parochiaid," Swainson said. "It might be before the Supreme Court later."

Williams is a student of the law, a political scrapper and now in his mellowing years has developed a judicial mien. Nostalgia for the Williams Era among Democrats will play a part .

Swainson and Lesinski were both in the new breed of Democratic rockets in their time and their records in office both call up the same sentiments.

Two Of Five

Beer has a good record as a circuit judge and Evans is an unknown outside of his area.

Democrats will be choosing two from the field of five. Former Republican Gov. Harry F. Kelly is retiring from the bench and former Republican Atty. Gen. John R. Dethmers is trying for a second eight-year term.

Both Williams and Swainson imply they have labor support, a power bloc that has been losing some of its steam in recent years.

Lesinski as chief judge of the Court of Appeals since its organization has a brilliant record, first as a House member, as lieutenant governor and in his present position.

About the only status factor left is which of them will get the best suite at the Pantlind Hotel in Grand Rapids.

"I'm going to be there early," said Swainson.

Altar Society

St. Ann's Altar Society met Tuesday evening at the Civic Center. A buffet supper followed the business meeting after which cards were played. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Harry DeRosier and Mrs. Richard Segrestrom. The guest prize was awarded to Mrs. Lilliam Gagnon. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Rudolph Groleau and Mrs. Wade Groleau assisted by Mrs. William Franch and Mrs. Neil Sefcik.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bernitt and children Jimmy and Cynthia Farmington, were weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Juneau.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Beauchamp and children of Livonia were weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Beauchamp. They also visited with Mrs. Adeline Segerstrom at Isabella.

Paul Thibault of Selina, Mich., spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Thibault and accompanied them to Quinnesec where they visited with Mr. and Mrs. William Lawrence and family. They also visited with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thibault and family in Escanaba.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Schafer and son Peter of Livonia spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry DeRosier. They also visited with Mr. and Mrs. George Girard and family in Marquette.

Six Persons Drown In Michigan Lakes

State Police reported six persons drowned in Michigan waters this weekend.

The victims were:

Terry Coger, 33, of Grand Rapids, who drowned Sunday when his fishing boat capsized in 25 feet of water at Murray Lake in Kent County.

Darrell Smith, 12, of Alma, who died in a private pond at Woodland Waters Recreation Area in Bruce Township of Macomb County.

Frank Elisech, 30, of Saginaw, who died Sunday while swimming in the Cass River in Saginaw County.

Mary Ann Brazil, 23, of Chicago, who drowned Saturday in Lake Michigan at Union Pier, near the Indiana border.

Leonard Budnick, 19, of Wurtsmith Air Force Base near Oscoda, who drowned Saturday in East Twin Lake, south of Lewiston in Montmorency County.

Dennis Scott, 20, of Hamtramck, who drowned Saturday in a lake at Oakland County's Stoney Creek Park.

Three of the candidates — Williams, Swainson and Lesinski — were the most vocal partisans the Democrats had during the 1950s and early 1960s. Now they're going for that have been nonpartisan since 1941.

Must Keep Silent

They'll all go before caucuses at the convention carrying their party records like banners, then upon nomination must never utter a partisan word during the campaign.

"I couldn't say, for example, that I'm in favor of or opposed to parochiaid," Swainson said. "It might be before the Supreme Court later."

Williams is a student of the law, a political scrapper and now in his mellowing years has developed a judicial mien. Nostalgia for the Williams Era among Democrats will play a part .

Swainson and Lesinski were both in the new breed of Democratic rockets in their time and their records in office both call up the same sentiments.

Two Of Five

Beer has a good record as a circuit judge and Evans is an unknown outside of his area.

Democrats will be choosing two from the field of five. Former Republican Gov. Harry F. Kelly is retiring from the bench and former Republican Atty. Gen. John R. Dethmers is trying for a second eight-year term.

Both Williams and Swainson imply they have labor support, a power bloc that has been losing some of its steam in recent years.

Lesinski as chief judge of the Court of Appeals since its organization has a brilliant record, first as a House member, as lieutenant governor and in his present position.

About the only status factor left is which of them will get the best suite at the Pantlind Hotel in Grand Rapids.

"I'm going to be there early," said Swainson.

City Council meets in regular session tonight at 7:30 in council chambers of City Hall. The agenda lists a discussion with John Erickson and Cletus Courchaine on pumping station operations and possible action on a new SDM license for Harold C. Bullard, d/b/a Bullard's Bar, 319 Deer St.; consideration of a resolution for leasing property on N. Maple St. to Thor and Florence Reque and an exchange of property on Elm St. with Charles Frankovich for the low-rent housing project; approval of a city maintenance contract with the State Highway Department.

The MHS Class of 1940 meets Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at the Three Mile Supper Club.

The Community School Advisory Board luncheon meeting for June will be held Tuesday at 12 noon in Room 105 of the high school. All representatives are asked to attend.

Kentucky received $4.6 million in 1969 from the state parimutuel tax on thoroughbred racing.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank all my friends, relatives and neighbors for the many cards, gifts and flowers I received while a patient at St. Luke's Hospital in Marquette. Your thoughtfulness will always be remembered.

Youth Holds Hopes, Worth Tells Seniors

"Our youth: our heirs, our hopes, our posterity, our main chance of making what greatness and goodness we possess continue and prevail," was the tribute of Jean Worth to 138 graduating seniors of Manistique High School in a commencement address Thursday night.

Worth, of Bay de Noc College, was introduced by Supt. Edwin E. Wuehle.

The retired editor of the Escanaba Daily Press expressed concern for the "technological society and the emotionally troubled" world into which the graduates must adjust, work and live.

"The uncertainties about what may be ahead breed no arrogance of prophecy," he said in contrasting the world of 1922 (the year of his high school graduation) with the "unsettled state of human affairs" in 1970.

"I could not have believed, when I was a boy, that my beloved country could ever become so troubled; that we Americans could be so angry, frustrated and willing to hurt others and to imperil our national security and the future of our children.

"It may not occur to some of us that our young people at the universities have been taught threat by their adults, who have accepted a society where acts done in the name of unionism, or of government, race or some other strong force have special treatment under our laws," he said in reference to "the great causes" of idealism university students are supporting: the war in Vietnam, mistreatment of the Negro and, to a lesser extent, inflation, environmental control and corporate responsibility.

"It is intolerable for us to have our youth in revolt because they are our youth and because they do not like much of what we tolerate in the adult world.

"There is a serious confrontation here which is not well understood," he continued, "and we should fear — worst of all — the war between our youth groups (the university and non-university youths who are dismayed and angered at what they see on the campuses) and not that between youth and the older generation."

He predicted that "this will be our battleground — within the generation and not between the generations."

He challenged the graduates to consider the need for new citizen attitudes to unite society since "the proper fear is that we will solve our problems by force — as the campus radicals are trying to destroy the American Establishment — and that in getting rid of them (our problems) we will get rid of some of our freedoms.

" 'Youth's a stuff will not endure,' " he concluded, quoting Shakespeare, "but we must hope its idealism will endure."

Pair Joins Local Realty Company

Herbert Calhoun, 102 S. Third St., and James Hubble, Rte. 1, recently joined U.P. Realty Company as local real estate representatives. Both men have qualified for real estate salesmen licenses issued by the State of Michigan.

Hubble recently returned to Manistique from Lower Michigan where he was a real estate salesman. Calhoun is employed as an electrician at the Inland Lime & Stone Company.

In Service

Spec. 4 Darwood L. Fix, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Fix of 1534 S. 14th St., recently received the Army Commendation Medal at Camp Gorvad, Vietnam, for heroism in action while engaged in military operations against a hostile force in Vietnam. He is a medical aidman in Co. H, 75th Infantry of the 1st Calvary Div.

Set Dinner-Dance At Country Club

The Indian Lake Golf and Country Club will host a dinner-dance Saturday night. A social hour will precede the 7 o'clock dinner followed by dancing at 9:30 to the Gorsche Orchestra.

Tickets, priced at $6 per couple, are available until Friday night from the committee: Mr. and Mrs. William Hood, Mr. and Mrs. William Bellville, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Carlson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cayia, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Nelson and the club steward.

Kasun-Johnson Marriage Told

Colleen Kasun and Michael Johnson exchanged marriage vows in a four o'clock ceremony Saturday in the First United Methodist Church. Rev. Theodore Doane officiated at the rites which were attended by family and a few close friends.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shampine, 620 Park Ave., and her husband is the son of Mrs. Benjamin Johnson, Rte. 1. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will make their home in Manistique.

The oldest bridge in Paris is the Pont Neuf, built in 1577. It carries the city's first sidewalks and a horseback statue of its builder, King Henry IV.

Defense Budget Of $70 Billion Reportedly Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — A spokesman said today the Pentagon is currently planning a fiscal 1972 defense budget totaling somewhat over $70 billion, about $2 billion below the allotment for the year which starts next month.

To do this, the spokesman said, it may be necessary to cut proposed spending by about $6 billion to offset an impending military pay increase and upward thrusting inflationary pressures.

In other words, it appears that the Pentagon will have to cut severely into military manpower strength and the base structure in order to keep defense spending in fiscal 1972 close to the fiscal 1971 level.

The spokesman indicated that new guidance has been received from the White House, designed to assure that defense spending is kept to that approximate level.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird last week spelled out a goal of cutting U.S. uniformed strength by one million men from the Vietnam war peak of 3.5 million.

The administration already has trimmed the number of Americans in service by about 400,000 and the Pentagon spokesman said today it is hoped to reach the 2.5 million level by the end of fiscal 1972. This would mean a further reduction of 600,000 Americans from the armed services rolls over the next two years.

The spokesman said "we would hope that the continuing Vietnamization program will be of some help in reducing major costs."

Guerillas, Jordan Troops In Clash

By The Associated Press

Israeli warplanes pounded Egyptian positions along the Suez Canal for the eighth straight day Sunday and also hit suspected guerrilla bases in southern Lebanon. Meanwhile, fighting erupted between Palestinian guerrillas and Jordanian troops in Jordan.

All Israeli planes returned safely from the air raids, according to the Israelis, although a Cairo spokesman claimed Egyptian antiaircraft fire downed an Israeli Skyhawk.

It was the third straight day of almost incessant bombing along the canal in line with Israel's new policy of "continuous military activity" against Egypt.

The raids against suspected guerrilla hideouts along the slopes of Mt. Hermon in Lebanon were in retaliation for two days of commando attacks, on the border town of Kiryat Shmona, a Tel Aviv spokesman said.

Sault Mayor, Son, Another Man Lost On Fishing Trip

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (AP)—The mayor of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.; his son and another man are missing on a fishing trip in Ontario.

A search is under way for Mayor John Harrington; his son, John, and Vern Coutant Sr., who were last seen on Lake Nipigon, about 400 miles west of here.

Ontario Provincial Police said the three were in one of two boats which started out separately Saturday, carrying fishermen to an island about 30 miles out in the lake.

One boat reached the island but the boat carrying the Harrington party failed to rendezvous with the remainder of the party and was reported missing Sunday, police said.

Police said lake weather conditions were good Saturday and Sunday with no high waves or winds that might have swamped the boat.

Health Insurance Rate Increases Topic At Hearing

LANSING (AP)—Public hearings will be conducted in Detroit and Lansing late this month on rate increases proposed for Michigan Blue Cross and Blue Shield contracts expiring between Oct. 1 and Dec. 31.

If approved by the Michigan Insurance Bureau, the hike would be 53.3 per cent this year in Blue Shield rates for doctors' care. Blue Cross hospitalization rates would be boosted by an accumulated total of 10.3 per cent.

The last-quarter increase for Blue Shield would be 7.7 per cent. Blue Cross is asking a boost of 3.8 per cent.

The first public hearing is scheduled for June 29 at 10 a.m. in the WWJ-TV auditorium, Detroit. A second hearing will be held the following day at 10 a.m. in the state's Seven Story Office Building in Lansing.

School Group Is Organized

SPALDING About 60 citizens from Hermansville, Powers, Spalding, Wilson and the LaBranche area have formed a Committee to Save Our Consolidated School.

One aim of the committee is to take an active part in getting the new school district off to a harmonious start. At the organizational meeting, June 5, plans were discussed for publicity, evaluation of candidates for the forthcoming election, July 20. Facts about millage and milliage needs were also presented.

A discussion also was held concerning action taken by the Interim Board, June 4.

3 Persons Hurt In Cycle Accidents

Three persons were injured in two separate motorcycle accidents over the weekend, according to State Police.

Officers said Ronald Dubord, 25, 411 S. 9th St. Escanaba, was admitted to the St. Francis Hospital for treatment of injuries he received when he lost control of the motorcycle he was operating, and overturned on a curve just north of County Rd. 519 on County Rd. 523.

Dubord was listed in fair condition at the hospital today.

The accident occurred about 8:15 p.m. Saturday, police said.

A second motorcycle accident occurred about 4:40 p.m. Sunday in which Jimmy Myers, 19, and William Myers, 16, both of Rte. 1 Escanaba, received minor injuries and sought their own treatment.

Officers said a dog ran in front of the motorcycle the two youths were riding and Jimmy Myers, operating the motorcycle, was unable to avoid hitting the dog due to one-coming traffic.

Myers was southbound on County Rd. C-15, just south of County Rd. 414, at the time of the accident, police said.

Demonstrators Active In West

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Young demonstrators set small fires at an oft-besieged bank and larger trash fires in surrounding streets early today in the Isla Vista campus community of the University of California at Santa Barbara.

Officers riding in trucks and on foot swept back and forth through the square-mile community and threw scores of tear gas canisters to disperse small groups of youths. The protesters pelted the officers with rocks and other missiles, then fled and regrouped on other streets.

By 3 a.m. most of the demonstrators had dispersed on their own. A squad of about 100 officers holding hard plastic riot shields made a final sweep of the streets. Then most of the officers left.

Sheriff's Capt. Joel Honey said about 15 gasoline bombs were confiscated but he did not elaborate on the circumstances.

For the fourth straight night Sunday, a crowd of chanting youths surged to the Bank of America branch, target of repeated attacks since February by youths who said they were protesting the establishment." About 250 sheriffs deputies and state highway patrol officers dispersed the crowd of about 800 young people and quickly put out small fires on the roof and in the lobby of the one-story prefabricated bank. Damage was minimal.

The original branch building was burned down by protestors last winter.

Deputies reported 29 arrests Sunday night and early today. As with 32 arrests Saturday, most were for failure to disperse and violation of a dusk-to-dawn curfew in force since Saturday night.

Early Losses Cut In Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market climbed higher early this afternoon after erasing small morning losses. Trading remained slow.

At noon the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 7.87 to 702.90, a 1.13 per cent rise, after having been off more than 2 points earlier.

Declines still led advances on the Big Board, but by an increasingly narrow margin.

Brokers attributed the earlier decline to a continuation of the profit taking that led to Friday's sharp decline. Because the downswing came on extraordinarily slow trading, however, investors decided that profit taking was starting to dry up and began some cautious buying, analysts said.

Trading continued light, however, indicating that most traders were still standing on the sidelines, analysts added.

Airlines, oils, metals, motors, rubber issues, mail order-retail, aircraft and electronics were all generally higher. Steels were off, while chemicals and rails were mixed.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was up 0.1 to 241.5, with industrials up 1.2, rails off 0.5, and utilities off 0.2.

Kidney Transplant Patient 'Just Fair'

TORONTO (AP) — Sylvia Gerdink, the 9-year-old Detroit girl who underwent a kidney transplant Friday at the Hospital for Sick Children, was reported Sunday "only in fair condition."

Dr. Martin Barkin, one of two surgeons who performed the transplant, said the kidney "is not functioning." He would not give further details.

The kidney was donated by an unnamed 42-year-old Buffalo woman.

Marijuana Raid Nets 13 Persons

CARO (AP)—Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies arrested 12 men and three women at Murphy Lake in an apparent narcotics raid Sunday night.

Deputies said those arrested were from 18 to 20 years old.

A quantity of marijuana and other substances deputies believed to be narcotics were seized in the raid, officals said.

Yale President Kingman Brewster Jr. told his university's graduating students they had taught the nation a lesson this year in how to work for social change without disorder.

Referring to last month's May Day demonstrations in New Haven, which were generally peaceful despite fears of violence, he said: "While the greater part of the country merely speculates about and worries about the violence of the extremes, you have known their challenge quite intimately."

Proxmire said in Milton, Wis., that while he believed the President wrong in Cambodia, those who disagree with Nixon's policies must guard against protests which "mindlessly demean and personally attack the President."

Collins Backs President

In North Easton, Mass., former astronaut Collins said the President's decision would save American lives and he predicted that the situation "will be seen in much clearer perspective in three weeks."

Sen. Charles Goodell, R-N.Y., a war critic, told graduates at the State University of New York at Plattsburgh that "I consider myself a patriot, too, and I support the President whenever I can, but the war is not a partisan matter, it is not a political matter."

U.S. Commissioner of Education James E. Allen, speaking at the University of Notre Dame commencement in South Bend, Ind., said "youth has succeeded in getting the attention of a society that has been dangerously complacent and slow to move."

He said "the emerging willingness of youth to work within the political system is the real hope" for preserving and extending democracy."

See Communists Gain In Election

ROME (AP) — Italians today were winding up two days of voting for 15 regional legislatures, 115 provincial councils and 6,634 municipal councils. The regional legislatures were being elected for the first time, and the Commmunist party was expected to win control of two or more of them.

Three-fourth of the 36 million eligible voters cast their ballots Sunday and voting was generally calm.

Police found and disarmed a time bomb in Nuoro, Sardinia, before the polls opened Sunday. And an election official in Naples wound up in the hospital after he fought with several persons propagandizing near a polling place in violation of the election law.

Election officials expected to know before Tuesday morning which political parties will control the 15 regional parliaments being created this year.

Foreign Aid Used As CIA Coverup In Laos: Hannah

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Central Intelligence Agency uses the U.S. foreign aid program as a cover for its operations in Laos, admits U.S. foreign aid chief John A. Hannah.

"Certainly, our preference is to get rid of this kind of operation," Hannah said Sunday, adding that Laos is the only place where the program is used in such a way.

Hannah, administrator of the U.S. Agency for International Development, said he was sure President Nixon would recommend soon that Congress sever intelligence work from overseas economic assistance.

Hannah was questioned on the Metromedia radio program "Profile."

Lenore Romney Campaign Film Scheduled Here

Lenore Romney's campaign for the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate moves into high gear Wednesday, June 10, with a simultaneous preview showing in seven Michigan cities of a 30-minute film entitled "Lenore."

The preview will be at the Terrace Supper Club in Escanaba. A 7 p.m. reception will precede the 8 p.m. showing of the film.

The film will be shown in Washington, D.C. the following evening at a reception for newsmen, Cabinet officers, Republican members of Congress, GOP party officials, and Lenore supporters.

The documentary, which will be an integral part of Lenore's campaign, is a filmed portrait of the candidate and delves into her personal and politcal life.

Loren Blowers Given 30 Days

Loren H. Blowers, 24, of 1309 N. 22nd St., had a big day in District Court before Judge Dean Shipman recently.

Blowers pleaded guilty to driving without a license and was sentenced to 30 days in the Delta County Jail and paid costs of $28.

Later, he pladed guilty to careless driving and received a seven day sentence, pleaded guilty to driving with an expired operators license and received a three day sentence, pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of a property damage accident and received another three day sentence and pleaded guilty to competitive driving and sentenced to three more days.

All of the charges listed above were old charges against him that he had not appeared on and he was arraigned on these charges before Judge Shipman at the same time as he was arraigned on the charge of driving without a license.

All of the lesser sentences will be served concurrently with the 30-day sentence he received for driving without a license.

Collins' Trial Jurist Quizzed

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Attorneys today began the process of challenging jurors who have tentatively been selected to sit on the murder trial of John Norman Collins.

Collins is charged with killing Karen Sue Beineman, 18, of Grand Rapids, whose body was found in a wooded area near Ann Arbor about 10 miles west of Ypsilanti. Her body was battered and had been sexually molested.

Fourteen jurors have been tentatively seated on the jury since jury selection began last Tuesday.

Both defense and prosecuting attorneys are asking for dismissal of certain jury members either by giving a reason or by using a limited number of "preemptory challenges."

Envoking a "preemptory challenge" is a legal procedure by which a juror is dismissed with no stated reason but simply at the request of either side.

Law allows the defense 20 preemptory challenges and limits the prosecution to 15.

Collins' attorneys have asked several times that the trail location be moved out of Ann Arbor, arguing that it is impossible to empanel an impartial jury in this college town because of publicity following the arrest of Collins and events leading up to the trial.

2 Pennsylvania Firms Will Face Pollution Charges

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The State Health Department has brought criminal charges against two large firms which it claimed have polluted state waterways.

Philco-Ford Corp. of Lansdale was charged with discharging industrial wastes into the Towamencin Creek, and Purex Corp. Ltd. of Bristol was accused of discharging pollutants into the Delaware River.

Under the state's clean streams laws, officers of the cited firms, if convicted, could be fined $500 or jailed for 60 days.

Youth Charged With Break-In

Terry L. Dickerson, 18, Rte. 1, Cornell, was arrested and lodged in the Delta County jail on a warrant charging him with breaking and entering of the Flat Rock School, according to State Police.

Officers said Dickerson was arrested Saturday morning for the recent break-in and was scheduled for arraignment in District Court today.

Sen. Scott Quietly Seeking Support To Hold Top Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott is quietly obtaining pledges of support from his GOP colleagues in case of a bid to unseat him as Senate Republican leader next January.

Sources close to the Pennsylvania senator say that as of now he would win votes from 27 of the 43 GOP members, with one more said to be uncertain.

That would give Scott a tighter grip on the leader's spot than last September when he was elected 24 to 19 over Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., following the death of Everett McKinley Dirksen.

Rumbles have persisted that conservative Republican senators, who have always been opposed to Scott, plan to mount a challenge when the 92nd Congress opens in January.

GOP conservatives' ire increased late last year when Scott turned on the President and voted against his Supreme Court nomination of Clement F. Haynsworth.

Airfield Top Prize In Fight

PHNOM PENH (AP) — Cambodian government forces retook the Siem Reap airfield in northwest Cambodia and drove Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces from the center of Kompong Thom, in central Cambodia, a government spokesman said today.

The spokesman said sporadic and confused fighting continued near the famed temple ruins at Angkor, Cambodia's chief tourist attraction six miles north of Siem Reap. Communist forces took the airfirld Sunday morning, but government troops and Cambodian Air Force MIG jets drove them out in the afternoon, the spokesman said.

He reported that the airfield still was not sufficiently secure for planes to land there. Instead reinforcements were being flown to Battambang, 60 miles to the southwest, and then trucked to the battle in vehicles supplied by Communist China before the overthrow of Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

Although there was some fighting near the tourist hotel over the weekend, the center of the town and its main market were unscathed, he said. The last tourists were evacuated last week.

U.S. Diplomat Said Missing In Middle East

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — A spokesman for the left-wing Popular Democratic Front for the Liberation of Palestine said today his men had kidnapped the first secretary of the U.S. Embassy here.

The spokesman, code-named Abou el Fida, would not give the name of the kidnaped diplomat. The State Department in Washington identified him as the political officer of the embassy, Morris Draper.

Informants said Draper apparently will be detained until Jordanian authorities release a number of guerrillas arrested after violent clashes with Jordanian troops Sunday.

Draper, 42, is a native of California who joined the State Department in 1957 and has had a series of Middle Eastern assignments.

The acting head of the embassy and deputy chief of mission, Harry I. Odell, has reported to the State Department there is some indication from the Jordanian government that the apparently kidnapped diplomat may be released soon.

Authorities in Washington provided basic facts about the incident but the State Department declined any kind of official disclosure comment for the time being.

Draper was assigned to Amman in 1968 and is head of the political section of the embassy there. He speaks French and Arabic. He is a graduate of the University of Southern California.

Dubord was listed in fair condition at the hospital today.

The accident occurred about 8:15 p.m. Saturday, police said.

A second motorcycle accident occurred about 4:40 p.m. Sunday in which Jimmy Myers, 19, and William Myers, 16, both of Rte. 1 Escanaba, received minor injuries and sought their own treatment.

Officers said a dog ran in front of the motorcycle the two youths were riding and Jimmy Myers, operating the motorcycle, was unable to avoid hitting the dog due to one-coming traffic.

Myers was southbound on County Rd. C-15, just south of County Rd. 414, at the time of the accident, police said.

Demonstrators Active In West

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Young demonstrators set small fires at an oft-besieged bank and larger trash fires in surrounding streets early today in the Isla Vista campus community of the University of California at Santa Barbara.

Officers riding in trucks and on foot swept back and forth through the square-mile community and threw scores of tear gas canisters to disperse small groups of youths. The protesters pelted the officers with rocks and other missiles, then fled and regrouped on other streets.

By 3 a.m. most of the demonstrators had dispersed on their own. A squad of about 100 officers holding hard plastic riot shields made a final sweep of the streets. Then most of the officers left.

Sheriff's Capt. Joel Honey said about 15 gasoline bombs were confiscated but he did not elaborate on the circumstances.

For the fourth straight night Sunday, a crowd of chanting youths surged to the Bank of America branch, target of repeated attacks since February by youths who said they were protesting the establishment." About 250 sheriffs deputies and state highway patrol officers dispersed the crowd of about 800 young people and quickly put out small fires on the roof and in the lobby of the one-story prefabricated bank. Damage was minimal.

The original branch building was burned down by protestors last winter.

Deputies reported 29 arrests Sunday night and early today. As with 32 arrests Saturday, most were for failure to disperse and violation of a dusk-to-dawn curfew in force since Saturday night.

Early Losses Cut In Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market climbed higher early this afternoon after erasing small morning losses. Trading remained slow.

At noon the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 7.87 to 702.90, a 1.13 per cent rise, after having been off more than 2 points earlier.

Declines still led advances on the Big Board, but by an increasingly narrow margin.

Brokers attributed the earlier decline to a continuation of the profit taking that led to Friday's sharp decline. Because the downswing came on extraordinarily slow trading, however, investors decided that profit taking was starting to dry up and began some cautious buying, analysts said.

Trading continued light, however, indicating that most traders were still standing on the sidelines, analysts added.

Airlines, oils, metals, motors, rubber issues, mail order-retail, aircraft and electronics were all generally higher. Steels were off, while chemicals and rails were mixed.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was up 0.1 to 241.5, with industrials up 1.2, rails off 0.5, and utilities off 0.2.

Kidney Transplant Patient 'Just Fair'

TORONTO (AP) — Sylvia Gerdink, the 9-year-old Detroit girl who underwent a kidney transplant Friday at the Hospital for Sick Children, was reported Sunday "only in fair condition."

Dr. Martin Barkin, one of two surgeons who performed the transplant, said the kidney "is not functioning." He would not give further details.

The kidney was donated by an unnamed 42-year-old Buffalo woman.

Marijuana Raid Nets 13 Persons

CARO (AP)—Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies arrested 12 men and three women at Murphy Lake in an apparent narcotics raid Sunday night.

Deputies said those arrested were from 18 to 20 years old.

A quantity of marijuana and other substances deputies believed to be narcotics were seized in the raid, officals said.

Foreign Aid Used As CIA Coverup In Laos: Hannah

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S Central Intelligence Agency uses the U.S. foreign aid program as a cover for its operations in Laos, admits U.S. foreign aid chief John A. Hannah.

"Certainly, our preference is to get rid of this kind of operation," Hannah said Sunday, adding that Laos is the only place where the program is used in such a way.

Hannah, administrator of the U.S. Agency for International Development, said he was sure President Nixon would recommend soon that Congress sever intelligence work from overseas economic assistance.

Hannah was questioned on the Metromedia radio program "Profile."

Lenore Romney Campaign Film Scheduled Here

Lenore Romney's campaign for the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate moves into high gear Wednesday, June 10, with a simultaneous preview showing in seven Michigan cities of a 30-minute film entitled "Lenore."

The preview will be at the Terrace Supper Club in Escanaba. A 7 p.m. reception will precede the 8 p.m. showing of the film.

The film will be shown in Washington, D.C. the following evening at a reception for newsmen, Cabinet officers, Republican members of Congress, GOP party officials, and Lenore supporters.

The documentary, which will be an integral part of Lenore's campaign, is a filmed portrait of the candidate and delves into her personal and politcal life.

Loren Blowers Given 30 Days

Loren H. Blowers, 24, of 1309 N. 22nd St., had a big day in District Court before Judge Dean Shipman recently.

Blowers pleaded guilty to driving without a license and was sentenced to 30 days in the Delta County Jail and paid costs of $28.

Later, he pladed guilty to careless driving and received a seven day sentence, pleeaded guilty to driving with an expired operators license and received a three day sentence, pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of a property damage accident and received another three day sentence and pleaded guilty to competitive driving and sentenced to three more days.

All of the charges listed above were old charges against him that he had not appeared on and he was arraigned on these charges before Judge Shipman at the same time as he was arraigned on the charge of driving without a license.

All of the lesser sentences will be served concurrently with the 30-day sentence he received for driving without a license.

Collins' Trial Jurist Quizzed

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Attorneys today began the process of challenging jurors who have tentatively been selected to sit on the murder trial of John Norman Collins.

Collins is charged with killing Karen Sue Beineman, 18, of Grand Rapids, whose body was found in a wooded area near Ann Arbor about 10 miles west of Ypsilanti. Her body was battered and had been sexually molested.

Fourteen jurors have been tentatively seated on the jury since jury selection began last Tuesday.

Both defense and prosecuting attorneys are asking for dismissal of certain jury members either by giving a reason or by using a limited number of "preemptory challenges."

Envoking a "preemptory challenge" is a legal procedure by which a juror is dismissed with no stated reason but simply at the request of either side.

Law allows the defense 20 preemptory challenges and limits the prosecution to 15.

Collins' attorneys have asked several times that the trail location be moved out of Ann Arbor, arguing that it is impossible to empanel an impartial jury in this college town because of publicity following the arrest of Collins and events leading up to the trial.

2 Pennsylvania Firms Will Face Pollution Charges

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The State Health Department has brought criminal charges against two large firms which it claimed have polluted state waterways.

Philco-Ford Corp. of Lansdale was charged with discharging industrial wastes into the Towamencin Creek, and Purex Corp. Ltd. of Bristol was accused of discharging pollutants into the Delaware River.

Under the state's clean streams laws, officers of the cited firms, if convicted, could be fined $500 or jailed for 60 days.

Youth Charged With Break-In

Terry L. Dickerson, 18, Rte. 1, Cornell, was arrested and lodged in the Delta County jail on a warrant charging him with breaking and entering of the Flat Rock School, according to State Police.

Officers said Dickerson was arrested Saturday morning for the recent break-in and was scheduled for arraignment in District Court today.

Sen. Scott Quietly Seeking Support To Hold Top Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott is quietly obtaining pledges of support from his GOP colleagues in case of a bid to unseat him as Senate Republican leader next January.

Sources close to the Pennsylvania senator say that as of now he would win votes from 27 of the 43 GOP members, with one more said to be uncertain.

That would give Scott a tighter grip on the leader's spot than last September when he was elected 24 to 19 over Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., following the death of Everett McKinley Dirksen.

Rumbles have persisted that conservative Republican senators, who have always been opposed to Scott, plan to mount a challenge when the 92nd Congress opens in January.

GOP conservatives' ire increased late last year when Scott turned on the President and voted against his Supreme Court nomination of Clement F. Haynsworth.

Airfield Top Prize In Fight

PHNOM PENH (AP) — Cambodian government forces retook the Siem Reap airfield in northwest Cambodia and drove Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces from the center of Kompong Thom, in central Cambodia, a government spokesman said today.

The spokesman said sporadic and confused fighting continued near the famed temple ruins at Angkor, Cambodia's chief tourist attraction six miles north of Siem Reap. Communist forces took the airfirld Sunday morning, but government troops and Cambodian Air Force MIG jets drove them out in the afternoon, the spokesman said.

He reported that the airfield still was not sufficiently secure for planes to land there. Instead reinforcements were being flown to Battambang, 60 miles to the southwest, and then trucked to the battle in vehicles supplied by Communist China before the overthrow of Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

Although there was some fighting near the tourist hotel over the weekend, the center of the town and its main market were unscathed, he said. The last tourists were evacuated last week.

U.S. Diplomat Said Missing In Middle East

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — A spokesman for the left-wing Popular Democratic Front for the Liberation of Palestine said today his men had kidnapped the first secretary of the U.S. Embassy here.

The spokesman, code-named Abou el Fida, would not give the name of the kidnaped diplomat. The State Department in Washington identified him as the political officer of the embassy, Morris Draper.

Informants said Draper apparently will be detained until Jordanian authorities release a number of guerrillas arrested after violent clashes with Jordanian troops Sunday.

Draper, 42, is a native of California who joined the State Department in 1957 and has had a series of Middle Eastern assignments.

The acting head of the embassy and deputy chief of mission, Harry I. Odell, has reported to the State Department there is some indication from the Jordanian government that the apparently kidnapped diplomat may be released soon.

Authorities in Washington provided basic facts about the incident but the State Department declined any kind of official disclosure comment for the time being.

Draper was assigned to Amman in 1968 and is head of the political section of the embassy there. He speaks French and Arabic. He is a graduate of the University of Southern California.

Beach Closed, Parents Told

The city recreation department today warned parents that the Municipal Bathing Beach is officially closed and that anyone swimming at the beach is doing so at their own risk.

Parents were urged to instruct youngsters that there are no lifeguards on duty at the beach.

The beach, weather permitting, is expected to open about June 15.

Large Racing Crowd Enjoys Evening Of Thrills, Spills

By DON HOWES

The theme was Stock Car Racing and it's title, "an evening of thrills and spills," as the fourth week of racing got under way at the U.P. State Fair Grounds Saturday night.

The drivers put on a great show to give the largest crowd of the year a few anxious moments, by showing their driving skills, close finishes in the feature races and when Ed Provo went flying off the track and smashed through the fences with his throttle wide open.

Bob Iverson of Hyde captured the modified feature race while Joe Haferkorn of Norway, who has the most wins on the track this year, won the Sportsman feature.

Modified Feature

Iverson, the defending modified champion, won the exciting feature which was delayed by only four restarts. John O'Reily jumped into an early lead and held it for six laps before hooking onto Iverson's back bumper and forced him off the track. At that point the crackup caused a restart and with O'Reily being disqualified, Iverson shot into the lead. He manager to maintain his number one position even though two other restarts brought his brother, Ken, and Ed Prowley of Soo, Canada closer. At the finish the veteran driver was out in front by several car lengths over Prowley, who nipped Ken Iverson in a real close finish for second place. Iverson, driving the only Rambler modified on the track, finished in third.

Smaches Into Wall

At the end of the furious race, Provo brought the crowd to their feet when he went flying off the end of the race track. He tore through a wire safety fence and an aluminum fence surrounding the track. With the fence and wooden posts flying, Provo ended far outside the race track. The crowd of 2,590 breathed a sigh of relief when he walked away from the accident uninjured.

Richer Wins

Don Benoit of Escanaba was the only double winner for the evening in the modified class by winning the semi-feature and the first heat. In the semi-feature Joe Wurth of Menominee was in the lead for three-quarters of the race when he had the misfortune of a broken axle which forced him out of the race. Benoit, was was running second and who could not pass Wurth until the accident, moved into the number one spot and won easily over Richard Lombardi of Escanaba and Tom Challier. In the first heat Rick Pepin of Escanaba was in the lead for the first nine laps when Benoit squeezed by him on the third corner of the ninth lap and beat Pepin to the finish line.

In the second modified heat of the evening Angue McDonald of Soo, Canada took the lead in the third lap with Jerry Richer of Schaffer tight on his tail until the eleventh lap when Richer, on the fourth curve, overpowered McDonald and won by a car length to pick up his second victory of the young season.

Ed Prowley captured the third heat in the modifieds in a race that was close for twelve laps. The number two driver worked hard for the victory battling Bob Derouin throughout the race. Prowler finally spurted away from Derouin on the tenth lap to pick up the victory. Herb Iverson of Hyde, who had a hard time throughout the race, finally passed Bob Hengesh and Derouin on the last lap to clinch second place. Prowley also captured time trial honors for the first time this year with a clocking of :21.13.

Haferkorn Wins Again

The sportsman show was again Haferkorn's, the Norway native, in two rough and tough races, who captured the feature and third heat.

Ron Paquette of Kingsford jumped off to an early lead and led for the first fourteen laps of the feature, but car trouble and a restart on lap fourteen enabled Haferkorn to take control of the lead and outrun John O'Palka of Hermansville and Ken Viau of Escanaba to the finish line. Bill Peterson, the top sportsman driver, was forced out on the twelvth lap due to a smashup.

In the third heat, Haferkorn took an early lead and again beat O'Palka to the finish line with Wennel Tourangeau of Schaffer settling for third.

In the first heat, Jim Hansen of Norway passed Duane Hamelin of Escanaba on lap nine to post his first win of the year. Hansen was also a double winner capturing the semi-feature, when he passed Paul Smith of Sands in the number four corner on the last lap for the victory.

The second heat saw a restart on lap two and Paquette moved from fourth place to first in the first corner to take the lead and won easily over Ron Fox of Escanaba.

Billy Peterson of Escanaba captured time trial honors with clocking of 22:25 while Wennel Tourangeau came in a close second with a 22:52.

In the trophy dash just before the start of the race, the top six qualifiers in the time trials battled for the covenant award. Larry Dufour of Kingsford took an early lead and ran away from the pack to claim the victory.

Paper Mill vs. Michigan Hotel

Flat Rock, behind Bill Smith's pitching and hitting, sent the Escanaba Merchants down to their first defeat of the softball season Sunday by turning them back in eight innings, 4-3.

Smith took the mound duel over Tony Derkos. Smith's homer in the extra inning was the key blow. Each club accumulated eight hits in the game which saw Flat Rock take over first place with a 4-0 mark. Merchants are now 3-1 on the season.

In other softball action Sunday, the Independents outlasted the Michigan Hotel in a free-swinging contest, 14-13. Ken Robitaille and brother Lee had two hits each for the winners. Dale Demars picked up a couple of safeties for the losers.

Lenny Smith picked up the victory while Jack Picard took the loss for the Hotelmen.

Rick Lancour hurled Mead to a 9-5 win over Jolly Rogers, 9-5, in another Sunday game. Jug Bordeau was on the losing end. Lancour aided his own cause with a home run blast in the opening stanza. Mike Skrupski went three-for-four for the Papermakers.

The only game on tap tonight finds Mead facing the Michigan Hotel at 6:30.

A revised schedule will be posted Tuesday.

Eastern Wins National Meet

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP) —Although it won first place only in the hammer throw, Eastern Michigan rolled up enough points with second and third place finishes to win the championship in the weekend track and field meet of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA).

Eastern amassed 74 points to 50 for runner-up Texas Southern. Prairie View (Tex.) A. & M., the two-time defending champion, was third with 44 points. Ferris State of Michigan tied for 11th with 18 points.

Ferris State's Corey Bouyer broke one of the two NAIA records shattered in the meet, upsetting heavily favored T.C. Minor of Prairie View in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles.

Bouyer's time of 50.9 was a tenth of a second off the NAIA mark set in 1967 by Jesse Ball of Prairie View.

Bouyer placed second in the 120-yard high hurdles with a time of 13.9.

The other record broken was in the pole vault, where Eastern Washington State's Curt Hisaw cleared 16 feet 3¾ inches, breaking the record of 16 feet 1¼ inches he set in 1969.

Eastern Michigan's first-place finish in the hammer throw came from John Smiley, who had a toss of 162 feet 8 inches, beating teammate John Grayson's second-place throw of 161-9.

Eastern had three second-place finishes and five thirds and had competitors among the top six three other times.

Eastern's Eugene Thomas was second in the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes, Dave Ellis was fourth in the 6-mile run, Alphonse Ruffner fourth in the 3,000-meter steeplechase, William Tipton third in the 120-yard high hurdles, Ian Hall third in the 440-yard dash, Eric Nesbitt fifth in the 880, James Grant third in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles, David Ellis third in the 3-mile run, and Eastern's mile relay team finished third in that event.

Hot Shot Ready For NHL Draft

MONTREAL (AP) — Punch Imlach, general manager of the fledgling Buffalo Sabres in the expanded National Hockey League, says he will try to pick up highly rated Gilbert Perreault in the NHL's amateur draft Thursday.

Perreault, team captain of the Montreal Junior Canadiens in their drive to the national junior hockey championship last season, is rated the No. 1 draft choice by most NHL scouts.

In an interview Sunday, the fiery former coach of the Toronto Maple Leafs also said the club would ask that the toss to get first pick in both the amateur and expansion drafts be held earlier than scheduled in the two-day annual league meetings opening today.

The loser of the toss will have first pick of goalies and Imlach suggests that it be moved up so the teams can plan strategy for Wednesday's expansion and Thursday's amateur drafts.

The Vancouver Canucks, the other new NHL entry, and Buffalo are expected to finish with considerably less quality for considerable more money than their 1967 predecessors. Each will pay $6,000,000 for the privilege of bringing the NHL to a 14-team, two-division league.

The price is three times what it cost St. Louis, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Minnesota, Oakland and Los Angeles for membership three years ago.

In the expansion draft then, each of the six existing clubs protected 11 skaters and one goaltender while this time around each of the 12 clubs can protect 15 skaters plus two goaltenders.

Tuesday, the day before the expansion draft, the NHL will hold its annual intra-league draft in which they protect 18 players with all goalies, first-year pros and amateurs under 22 years old Dec. 31, 1970 exempt.

The club pick, at $30,000 a choice, from each other starting with Los Angeles followed by Toronto, Philadelphia, Montreal, Oakland, Minnesota, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, New York, Detroit, Boston and Chicago.

The two new teams will not be allowed to trade their first and second amateur choices for at least three years.

Van Effen, Eis Jr. Snare Best-Ball Golf Event

By DON HOWES

GLADSTONE — Harold VanEffen and Bill Eis Jr., of the Escanaba Country Club, fighting an uphill battle most of the way, emerged as champions of the Fourth Annual Gladstone Golf Club Best-Ball Tournament played here over the weekend.

VanEffen and Eis, both former Country Club men's champions, teamed up to shoot a three-under par 67 in the qualifing rounds on Saturday and followed their opening day score of four-under par 66 on Sunday to win the tourney with a 133 total.

The 1968 Best-Ball champions, Jack Smith and Jerry Martin of the Escanaba Highland Club, finished a close second with a 66 in the qualifing rounds and a 69 on Sunday to finish the tourney with a score of 135.

Defending champions Ken Hruska and Paul Specker of Marquette finished third by firing a low 65 in the qualifying rounds and a 73 over the final 18 holes to finish the rugged event with a 138 total.

Others placing in the championship flight were Morton Gingrass and Clark Lambros of Marquette fourth with a 140; Warren Farley and Don Clemenson, Ishpeming, 140; Bill Wood and Pete Peterson of the Gladstone Club sixth with a 141 and also tied for sixth were Jim Douglas and Mel Manske of the Highland Club.

Gingrass scored an eagle three in the championship flight for the only one in the tournament.

The tournament had 152 entries, the largest in the four-year history of the event.

Other flight winners were as follows:

First Flight — 1, Hill and Nelson; 2, Rutledge and Nettle; 3, Manning and Douglas.

Second Flight — 1, Butch and Peterson; 2, Thomsen and Mallgren; 3, Tucker and Tormala.

Third Flight — 1, Larson and Jones; 2, Kelly and Nelson; 3, Cole and Bratonia.

Fourth Flight — 1, Magoon and Hernandez; 2, Pratt and Freits; 3, Hill and Specker.

Fifth Flight — 1, Hanks and Fredd 2, Haapala and Jorge; 3, Soli and Lindeman.

Sixth Flight — 1, Kilberg and Clark; 2, Coulter and Harwood; 3, Koth and Manning.

Seventh Flight — 1, Hoehn and Altese 2, Waakori and Thurston; 3, Hughes and Kostinan.

Eighth Flight — 1, Myllya and Kivela; 2, Saio and Caddwell 3, Ellison and Ebbesen.

High Echelon Stakes Winner

NEW YORK (AP) — Trainer John Jacobs lost his ace for the Belmont Stakes, but he still had a trump card and John L. Rotz played it perfectly.

The ace—Personality—missed Saturday's Belmont because of a cough, but the trump card—High Echelon—won the pot from nine rivals for Jacobs and his mother, Ethel, who owns the two colts.

"I lost my ace but had a lot of faith in High Echelon," Jacobs said after High Echelon vindicated that faith by beating Thomas F. Fleming's Needles N Pens by three-quarters of a length after a perfect ride by Rotz.

High Echelon, winless in nine previous starts, not only picked up the winning knack from his Preakness-winning stablemate, he also apparently contracted Personality's ailment.

Personality, who followed his Wood Memorial victory with a disappointing eighth in the Kentucky Derby but then won the Preakness and Jersey Derby, developed a nasal discharge Wednesday and then a cough Thursday night. Jacobs entered him in the Belmont Friday morning, then declared him out later in the day.

High Echelon showed no signs of a cold until Sunday when Jacobs said he noticed a slight nasal discharge and added, "this is the way Personality started."

Little League Title Won By V.F.W. Nine

V.F.W. won the first half championship of the Escanaba Jaycee Little League Friday night on a 5 to 2 victory over the Bankers behind the steady pitching of Jeff Abrahamson. However, it will be a new ball game tomorrow night when the Eagles visit Kiwanis to start the second half.

V.F.W., first half champs will get their second half baptismal Wednesday when they face the right handed slants of Kevin Cutler. Don Ohman's heavy hitting Vets will start either Glen Beauvais or Abrahamson, both pitchers are undefeated.

In Saturday night action, V.F.W. introduced their third rookies pitcher, and ten year old Chip Olson did a commendable job although he dropped a 6 to 4 decision to Cliff Stratton and the Eagles. Meanwhile, Rotary lost their sixth straight game when they ran into the sharp one hit pitching of Mark Beveridge in a 2 to 0 loss to Kiwanis. Not since 1951, when Rotary finished with a 16 to 2 record have they botten off to such an inauspicious start. However, Tuesday night all teams start even with at least four teams ready to challenge V.F.W. for the second half flag.

Montreal Comes Alive; Clobbers Braves 10-1

By The Associated Press

When Gene Mauch, the thinking man's manager, called a clubhouse meeting Friday night, his Montreal Expos weren't contemplating much of anything . . . except maybe suicide.

The Expos had lost 11 straight games when they sneaked into Atlanta to begin a three-games series with the red-hot Braves.

When the Expos skipped town Sunday, following a 10-1 rout for a series sweep, it was the five teams trailing the runaway Cincinnati Reds in the National League West who were left for dead.

The Reds poured it on the New York Mets 10-2 and opened a nine-game bulge over Atlanta. Los Angeles, beaten by Pittsburgh 3-1, is 9½ games back. In other NL action, the Chicago Cubs slugged San Francisco 8-4, St. Louis rallied to beat San Diego 10-7 and Philadelphia drubbed Houston 10-3.

"We expected to be splattered on the wall," said pitcher Carl Morton of Mauch's get-together, perhaps remembering the manager's famous spare rib-barbecue sauce performance in Houston while his Philadelphia Phillies were in the process of blowing the 1964 flag.

"But Gene just talked baseball to us," Morton continued. He told us to play aggressively and that we could win if we thought we could win, but that we would keep losing if we thought we would lose. He relaxed the whole team. You could tell the difference as soon as we left the clubhouse."

Bob Bailey socked two homers and Coco Laboy one as the Expos lashed out 15 hits in support of Morton's 10-hit pitching. The Braves' only run was unearned as the rookie right-hander boosted his record to 5-3. Morton, an ex-outfielder in the Braves' farm system, helped his own cause with two singles.

"Paul Richard, (Braves' vice president, decided to make me a pitcher on the spring of 1967," Morton recalled. "He told me, 'You're a pitcher.' That's all there was to it. There was no discussion. But I sure can't complain. I was struggling as an outfielder. I couldn't hit the slider, so I decided to join them and throw it."

Not only did the Expos batter the Atlanta pitching for 25 runs and 33 hits in the series, but their own hurlers limited Rico Carty to two hits in 11 trips, dropping his average to .420.

Cincinnati rookie Wayne Simpson breezed to his eighth victory in nine decisions as Bench drilled a three-run homer, May a solo shot and Perez a two-run triple. The Mets lost their fifth straight game and slid to fourth place in the NL East.

The Cubs cloutde five home runs to beat the Giants and maintain their four-game lead over Pittsburgh in the East Division. Billy Williams snapped a 4-4 tie with a seventh-inning single and Jim Hickman followed with a homer. Johnny Callison, Williams and Jackie Hiatt all homered for the Cubs in the fourth and Cleo James hit one out in the eighth.

Willie Mays, Dick Dietz and Alan Gallagher connected for the Giants.

The Pirates turned back the Dodgers on little Freddie Patek's two-run triple in the fifth and big Bob Veale's four-hit pitching. Patek's triple broke a scoreless tie and followed a single by Bob Robertson and Manny Sanguillen's double. Patek later scored on a single by Matty Alou.

The Cardinals climbed past the Mets into third place with a seven-run explosion in the seventh inning. Trailing 7-1, the Cards got two in the sixth on Ted Simmons' first major league homer.

Vic Davalillo began the big seventh with a pinch single and Lou Brock and Jose Cardenal also singled for the first run. After Richie Allen walked, Joe Torre doubled and Simmons singled home the tying run. With two out, Leron Lee stroked a two-run pinch double and Davalillo closed out the inning with a run-scoring single.

Byron Browne belted a homer and a two-run triple and Deron Johnson crashed a three-run homer as the Phils handed Houston's Larry Dierker, on a weekend pass from Army duty, his fourth consecutive loss.

Babe Ruth Games

Schedule change:

Tuesday - Insurance Agents Association at Mead Paper at 6:30 p.m.

Saturday - Teamsters Local 328 at Mead at 10 a.m.; U.A.W. 632 at Escanaba Banks at 1 p.m.; Clinic for 14 and 15 year olds at 3 p.m. (All other games as scheduled)

Babe Ruth Play Opened Saturday

Saturday marked the official opening of the Escanaba Babe Ruth league with all six teams in action. UAW, Teamsters and Kiwanis all merged with opening game victories.

Rookie Matt Smith went all the way to pick up UAW's first victory in two seasons, 16-8 over Mead Paper, striking out six and walking seven and giving up just four hits.

Jim Thorbjornsen was the hitting star for UAW-CIO with two hits, one a double. Matt Smith, Dave Nelson, Bob Smith, Brian Baum, Brian Douglas and Bob Dupont all had one hit.

Matt Smith and Dave Nelson each scored three runs and Matt Smith stole seven of UAW's 27 stolen bases.

Mead scored six of its runs in the third inning, highlighted by a bases loaded triple by Mike Sankovich.

Jim Koehler took the loss for Mead.

Kiwanis had a field day in turning back Insurance 12-4 as Mike Dailey went the distance, giving up six hits, while Kiwanis picked up 11 hits off Wayne Schwalbach and Jim Moberg of Insurance with Schwalbach taking the defeat.

Daily also had a big day at the plate collecting four hits, a single, two doubles and a triple in five trips. Rick Belanger had two hits to also help pace the Kiwanis nine to victory. Jim Moberg picked up two hits to pace the Insurance team. Dailey in gaining the mound victory had 13 strikeouts while Schwalbach and Moberg combined for 10 strikeouts.

Teamsters only got seven hits off Dave Fassbender, the Bankers' pitcher but scored 8 runs to nip the Bankers 8-5 in the night cap. Tom Ritter went the distance for the mound victory and also led his team at the plate with a single and a double. Steve Billand also had two hits for the Teamsters.

Richard Mickitinick and Jeff Mcluskey paced the Bankers with two singles.

ED PROVO of Escanaba stands by his stock car after he gave the crowd of 2,590 a few anxious moments in the main feature Saturday night at the U.P. Fair Grounds. Large Racing Crowd Enjoys Evening Of Thrills, Spills

By DON HOWES

The theme was Stock Car Racing and it's title, "an evening of thrills and spills," as the fourth week of racing got under way at the U.P. State Fair Grounds Saturday night.

The drivers put on a great show to give the largest crowd of the year a few anxious moments, by showing their driving skills, close finishes in the feature races and when Ed Provo went flying off the track and smashed through the fences with his throttle wide open.

Bob Iverson of Hyde captured the modified feature race while Joe Haferkorn of Norway, who has the most wins on the track this year, won the Sportsman feature.

Modified Feature

Iverson, the defending modified champion, won the exciting feature which was delayed by only four restarts. John O'Reily jumped into an early lead and held it for six laps before hooking onto Iverson's back bumper and forced him off the track. At that point the crackup caused a restart and with O'Reily being disqualified, Iverson shot into the lead. He manager to maintain his number one position even though two other restarts brought his brother, Ken, and Ed Prowley of Soo, Canada closer. At the finish the veteran driver was out in front by several car lengths over Prowley, who nipped Ken Iverson in a real close finish for second place. Iverson, driving the only Rambler modified on the track, finished in third.

Smaches Into Wall

At the end of the furious race, Provo brought the crowd to their feet when he went flying off the end of the race track. He tore through a wire safety fence and an aluminum fence surrounding the track. With the fence and wooden posts flying, Provo ended far outside the race track. The crowd of 2,590 breathed a sigh of relief when he walked away from the accident uninjured.

Richer Wins

Don Benoit of Escanaba was the only double winner for the evening in the modified class by winning the semi-feature and the first heat. In the semi-feature Joe Wurth of Menominee was in the lead for three-quarters of the race when he had the misfortune of a broken axle which forced him out of the race. Benoit, was was running second and who could not pass Wurth until the accident, moved into the number one spot and won easily over Richard Lombardi of Escanaba and Tom Challier. In the first heat Rick Pepin of Escanaba was in the lead for the first nine laps when Benoit squeezed by him on the third corner of the ninth lap and beat Pepin to the finish line.

In the second modified heat of the evening Angue McDonald of Soo, Canada took the lead in the third lap with Jerry Richer of Schaffer tight on his tail until the eleventh lap when Richer, on the fourth curve, overpowered McDonald and won by a car length to pick up his second victory of the young season.

Ed Prowley captured the third heat in the modifieds in a race that was close for twelve laps. The number two driver worked hard for the victory battling Bob Derouin throughout the race. Prowler finally spurted away from Derouin on the tenth lap to pick up the victory. Herb Iverson of Hyde, who had a hard time throughout the race, finally passed Bob Hengesh and Derouin on the last lap to clinch second place. Prowley also captured time trial honors for the first time this year with a clocking of :21.13.

Haferkorn Wins Again

The sportsman show was again Haferkorn's, the Norway native, in two rough and tough races, who captured the feature and third heat.

Ron Paquette of Kingsford jumped off to an early lead and led for the first fourteen laps of the feature, but car trouble and a restart on lap fourteen enabled Haferkorn to take control of the lead and outrun John O'Palka of Hermansville and Ken Viau of Escanaba to the finish line. Bill Peterson, the top sportsman driver, was forced out on the twelvth lap due to a smashup.

In the third heat, Haferkorn took an early lead and again beat O'Palka to the finish line with Wennel Tourangeau of Schaffer settling for third.

In the first heat, Jim Hansen of Norway passed Duane Hamelin of Escanaba on lap nine to post his first win of the year. Hansen was also a double winner capturing the semi-feature, when he passed Paul Smith of Sands in the number four corner on the last lap for the victory.

The second heat saw a restart on lap two and Paquette moved from fourth place to first in the first corner to take the lead and won easily over Ron Fox of Escanaba.

Billy Peterson of Escanaba captured time trial honors with clocking of 22:25 while Wennel Tourangeau came in a close second with a 22:52.

In the trophy dash just before the start of the race, the top six qualifiers in the time trials battled for the covenant award. Larry Dufour of Kingsford took an early lead and ran away from the pack to claim the victory.

Paper Mill vs. Michigan Hotel

Flat Rock, behind Bill Smith's pitching and hitting, sent the Escanaba Merchants down to their first defeat of the softball season Sunday by turning them back in eight innings, 4-3.

Smith took the mound duel over Tony Derkos. Smith's homer in the extra inning was the key blow. Each club accumulated eight hits in the game which saw Flat Rock take over first place with a 4-0 mark. Merchants are now 3-1 on the season.

In other softball action Sunday, the Independents outlasted the Michigan Hotel in a free-swinging contest, 14-13. Ken Robitaille and brother Lee had two hits each for the winners. Dale Demars picked up a couple of safeties for the losers.

Lenny Smith picked up the victory while Jack Picard took the loss for the Hotelmen.

Rick Lancour hurled Mead to a 9-5 win over Jolly Rogers, 9-5, in another Sunday game. Jug Bordeau was on the losing end. Lancour aided his own cause with a home run blast in the opening stanza. Mike Skrupski went three-for-four for the Papermakers.

The only game on tap tonight finds Mead facing the Michigan Hotel at 6:30.

A revised schedule will be posted Tuesday.

Eastern Wins National Meet

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP) —Although it won first place only in the hammer throw, Eastern Michigan rolled up enough points with second and third place finishes to win the championship in the weekend track and field meet of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA).

Eastern amassed 74 points to 50 for runner-up Texas Southern. Prairie View (Tex.) A. & M., the two-time defending champion, was third with 44 points. Ferris State of Michigan tied for 11th with 18 points.

Ferris State's Corey Bouyer broke one of the two NAIA records shattered in the meet, upsetting heavily favored T.C. Minor of Prairie View in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles.

Bouyer's time of 50.9 was a tenth of a second off the NAIA mark set in 1967 by Jesse Ball of Prairie View.

Bouyer placed second in the 120-yard high hurdles with a time of 13.9.

The other record broken was in the pole vault, where Eastern Washington State's Curt Hisaw cleared 16 feet 3¾ inches, breaking the record of 16 feet 1¼ inches he set in 1969.

Eastern Michigan's first-place finish in the hammer throw came from John Smiley, who had a toss of 162 feet 8 inches, beating teammate John Grayson's second-place throw of 161-9.

Eastern had three second-place finishes and five thirds and had competitors among the top six three other times.

Eastern's Eugene Thomas was second in the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes, Dave Ellis was fourth in the 6-mile run, Alphonse Ruffner fourth in the 3,000-meter steeplechase, William Tipton third in the 120-yard high hurdles, Ian Hall third in the 440-yard dash, Eric Nesbitt fifth in the 880, James Grant third in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles, David Ellis third in the 3-mile run, and Eastern's mile relay team finished third in that event.

Hot Shot Ready For NHL Draft

MONTREAL (AP) — Punch Imlach, general manager of the fledgling Buffalo Sabres in the expanded National Hockey League, says he will try to pick up highly rated Gilbert Perreault in the NHL's amateur draft Thursday.

Perreault, team captain of the Montreal Junior Canadiens in their drive to the national junior hockey championship last season, is rated the No. 1 draft choice by most NHL scouts.

In an interview Sunday, the fiery former coach of the Toronto Maple Leafs also said the club would ask that the toss to get first pick in both the amateur and expansion drafts be held earlier than scheduled in the two-day annual league meetings opening today.

The loser of the toss will have first pick of goalies and Imlach suggests that it be moved up so the teams can plan strategy for Wednesday's expansion and Thursday's amateur drafts.

The Vancouver Canucks, the other new NHL entry, and Buffalo are expected to finish with considerably less quality for considerable more money than their 1967 predecessors. Each will pay $6,000,000 for the privilege of bringing the NHL to a 14-team, two-division league.

The price is three times what it cost St. Louis, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Minnesota, Oakland and Los Angeles for membership three years ago.

In the expansion draft then, each of the six existing clubs protected 11 skaters and one goaltender while this time around each of the 12 clubs can protect 15 skaters plus two goaltenders.

Tuesday, the day before the expansion draft, the NHL will hold its annual intra-league draft in which they protect 18 players with all goalies, first-year pros and amateurs under 22 years old Dec. 31, 1970 exempt.

The club pick, at $30,000 a choice, from each other starting with Los Angeles followed by Toronto, Philadelphia, Montreal, Oakland, Minnesota, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, New York, Detroit, Boston and Chicago.

The two new teams will not be allowed to trade their first and second amateur choices for at least three years.

Van Effen, Eis Jr. Snare Best-Ball Golf Event

By DON HOWES

GLADSTONE — Harold VanEffen and Bill Eis Jr., of the Escanaba Country Club, fighting an uphill battle most of the way, emerged as champions of the Fourth Annual Gladstone Golf Club Best-Ball Tournament played here over the weekend.

VanEffen and Eis, both former Country Club men's champions, teamed up to shoot a three-under par 67 in the qualifing rounds on Saturday and followed their opening day score of four-under par 66 on Sunday to win the tourney with a 133 total.

The 1968 Best-Ball champions, Jack Smith and Jerry Martin of the Escanaba Highland Club, finished a close second with a 66 in the qualifing rounds and a 69 on Sunday to finish the tourney with a score of 135.

Defending champions Ken Hruska and Paul Specker of Marquette finished third by firing a low 65 in the qualifying rounds and a 73 over the final 18 holes to finish the rugged event with a 138 total.

Others placing in the championship filght were Morton Gingrass and Clark Lambros of Marquette fourth with a 140; Warren Farley and Don Clemenson, Ishpeming, 140; Bill Wood and Pete Peterson of the Gladstone Club sixth with a 141 and also tied for sixth were Jim Douglas and Mel Manske of the Highland Club.

Gingrass scored an eagle three in the championship flight for the only one in the tournament.

The tournament had 152 entries, the largest in the four-year history of the event.

Other flight winners were as follows:

First Flight — 1, Hill and Nelson; 2, Rutledge and Nettle; 3, Manning and Douglas.

Second Flight — 1, Butch and Peterson; 2, Thomsen and Mallgren; 3, Tucker and Tormala.

Third Flight — 1, Larson and Jones; 2, Kelly and Nelson; 3, Cole and Bratonia.

Fourth Flight — 1, Magoon and Hernandez; 2, Pratt and Freits; 3, Hill and Specker.

Fifth Flight — 1, Hanks and Fredd 2, Haapala and Jorge; 3, Soli and Lindeman.

Sixth Flight — 1, Kilberg and Clark; 2, Coulter and Harwood; 3, Koth and Manning.

Seventh Flight — 1, Hoehn and Altese 2, Waakori and Thurston; 3, Hughes and Kostinan.

Eighth Flight — 1, Myllya and Kivela; 2, Saio and Caddwell 3, Ellison and Ebbesen.

High Echelon Stakes Winner

NEW YORK (AP) — Trainer John Jacobs lost his ace for the Belmont Stakes, but he still had a trump card and John L. Rotz played it perfectly.

The ace—Personality—missed Saturday's Belmont because of a cough, but the trump card—High Echelon—won the pot from nine rivals for Jacobs and his mother, Ethel, who owns the two colts.

"I lost my ace but had a lot of faith in High Echelon," Jacobs said after High Echelon vindicated that faith by beating Thomas F. Fleming's Needles N Pens by three-quarters of a length after a perfect ride by Rotz.

High Echelon, winless in nine previous starts, not only picked up the winning knack from his Preakness-winning stablemate, he also apparently contracted Personality's ailment.

Personality, who followed his Wood Memorial victory with a disappointing eighth in the Kentucky Derby but then won the Preakness and Jersey Derby, developed a nasal discharge Wednesday and then a cough Thursday night. Jacobs entered him in the Belmont Friday morning, then declared him out later in the day.

High Echelon showed no signs of a cold until Sunday when Jacobs said he noticed a slight nasal discharge and added, "this is the way Personality started."

Little League Title Won By V.F.W. Nine

V.F.W. won the first half championship of the Escanaba Jaycee Little League Friday night on a 5 to 2 victory over the Bankers behind the steady pitching of Jeff Abrahamson. However, it will be a new ball game tomorrow night when the Eagles visit Kiwanis to start the second half.

V.F.W., first half champs will get their second half baptismal Wednesday when they face the right handed slants of Kevin Cutler. Don Ohman's heavy hitting Vets will start either Glen Beauvais or Abrahamson, both pitchers are undefeated.

In Saturday night action, V.F.W. introduced their third rookies pitcher, and ten year old Chip Olson did a commendable job although he dropped a 6 to 4 decision to Cliff Stratton and the Eagles. Meanwhile, Rotary lost their sixth straight game when they ran into the sharp one hit pitching of Mark Beveridge in a 2 to 0 loss to Kiwanis. Not since 1951, when Rotary finished with a 16 to 2 record have they botten off to such an inauspicious start. However, Tuesday night all teams start even with at least four teams ready to challenge V.F.W. for the second half flag.

Babe Ruth Games

Schedule change:

Tuesday - Insurance Agents Association at Mead Paper at 6:30 p.m.

Saturday - Teamsters Local 328 at Mead at 10 a.m.; U.A.W. 632 at Escanaba Banks at 1 p.m.; Clinic for 14 and 15 year olds at 3 p.m. (All other games as scheduled)

Babe Ruth Play Opened Saturday

Saturday marked the official opening of the Escanaba Babe Ruth league with all six teams in action. UAW, Teamsters and Kiwanis all merged with opening game victories

Rookie Matt Smith went all the way to pick up UAW's first victory in two seasons, 16-8 over Mead Paper, striking out six and walking seven and giving up just four hits.

Jim Thorbjornsen was the hitting star for UAW-CIO with two hits, one a double. Matt Smith, Dave Nelson, Bob Smith, Brian Baum, Brian Douglas and Bob Dupont all had one hit.

Matt Smith and Dave Nelson each scored three runs and Matt Smith stole seven of UAW's 27 stolen bases.

Mead scored six of its runs in the third inning, highlighted by a bases loaded triple by Mike Sankovich.

Jim Koehler took the loss for Mead.

Kiwanis had a field day in turning back Insurance 12-4 as Mike Dailey went the distance, giving up six hits, while Kiwanis picked up 11 hits off Wayne Schwalbach and Jim Moberg of Insurance with Schwalbach taking the defeat.

Daily also had a big day at the plate collecting four hits, a single, two doubles and a triple in five trips. Rick Belanger had two hits to also help pace the Kiwanis nine to victory. Jim Moberg picked up two hits to pace the Insurance team. Dailey in gaining the mound victory had 13 strikeouts while Schwalbach and Moberg combined for 10 strikeouts.

Teamsters only got seven hits off Dave Fassbender, the Bankers' pitcher but scored 8 runs to nip the Bankerr 8-5 in the night cap. Tom Ritter went the distance for the mound victory and also led his team at the plate with a single and a double. Steve Billand also had two hits for the Teamsters.

Richard Mickitinick and Jeff Mcluskey paced the Bankers with two singles.

ORDINANCE NO. 548

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND SECTION 8 OF ORDINANCE NO. 214, DULY ADOPTED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF ESCANABA, COUNTY OF DELTA, MICHIGAN, ON MARCH 1, 1951, ENTITLED:

AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING THE ISSUANCE OF $900,000 WATER REVENUE BONDS, SERIES 1951 OF THE CITY OF ESCANABA, FIXING THE DETAILS OF SUCH BONDS, PROVIDING FOR THE SALE THEREOF, MAKING PROVISION FOR THE SECURITY AND PAYMENT OF SUCH BONDS, AND ENTERING INTO CERTAIN COVENANTS AND AGREEMENTS IN THAT CONNECTION.

THE CITY OF ESCANABA ORDAINS:

Section 1. Section 8 of Ordinance No. 214, adopted by the City Council of the City of Escanaba, County of Delta, Michigan, on March 1, 1951, is hereby amended to provide as follows:

Section 8. That from and after the issuance of any of the bonds all income and revenues of every nature derived from the operation of the system are hereby pledged for the purpose of the following funds and shall be set aside as collected into a Receiving Fund and transferred therefrom periodically and at the times hereinafter specified into the following special funds.

(a) Operation and Maintenance Fund. Out of the revenues in the Receiving Fund there shall be first set aside during each operating year the operating year for the purpose of this ordinance being the 12 months commencing on July 1 of each year and ending on June 30 of the following year) amounts sufficient to provide for the payment of all current expenses of administration and operation of the system and such current expenses for the maintenance thereof as may be necessary to preserve the system in good repair and working order. The tranfers made pursuant to this paragraph shall be made on the first day of each month of each operating year and shall be in an amount estimated to be sufficient to provide for all expenses which will be payable out of the Operation and Maintenance Fund during such month. If by reason of an under estimate, the amount so transferred on the first day of any month shall prove to be insufficient, additional money may be transferred from the Receiving Fund during the month.

(b) Bond and Interest Redemption Fund. From the remaining revenues in the Receiving Fund not required to be set aside in each operating year for operation and maintenance as shown provided, there shall next be set aside into a fund to be known as the "Bond and Interest Redemption Fund," such amount as will be fully sufficient to pay all principal and interest falling due on January 1 of such operating year and on July 1 of the next succeeding operating year on all bonds and obligations payable therefrom, including both the bonds and the future bonds. Payments into such fund shall be made monthly from the Receiving Fund on the 10th day of each month to the Chicago paying agent above named, and shall be made, as nearly as possible, in proportioned installments so that each monthly payment will constitute, as nearly as may be, one-twelfth of the entire amount required to be so paid into the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund in such operating year. In addition, there shall be paid into such fund all accured interest received from the purchaser of the bonds.

There is hereby established in the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund for the benefit of the bonds and the future bonds a separate account to be known as the "Reserve Account" into which there shall be paid at the end of each operating year all money in the Receiving Fund not hereinabove required to be paid into the Operation and Maintenance Fund and into the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund until such time as there has been accumulated in said Reserve Account the sum of $50,000. Payments so made into the Reserve Account shall be made in the minimum amount of $5,000 in the operating year ending June 30, 1951; $20,000 in the operating year ending June 30, 1952; and $25,000 in the operating year ending June 30, 1953. Money shall be taken from the Reserve Account to pay principal of and interest on bonds as to which there would otherwise be default, and all sums so taken from the Reserve Account shall be restored from the first money thereafter available in the Receiving Fund and not required to be paid into the Operation and Maintenance Fund and the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund. The money in the Reserve Account shall not be regarded as moneys otherwise appropriated or pledged for the purpose of determining the sufficiency of funds available for the redemption of callable bonds.

(c) Replacement Fund. From the remaining revenues in the Receiving Fund in each operating year after the payments above required to be made have been made and after all deficits which may exist in payments from previous years have been remedied, there shall next be set aside into a fund to be known as the "Replacement Fund" from the money remaining in the Receiving Fund at the end of each operating year in the sum of $2,500 in each of the operating years ending June 30, 1951, and June 30, 1952, and $5,000 annually thereafter until there shall have been accumulated in such fund the sum of $35,000. Thereafter there shall be so placed in said fund such sum in each year as may be necessary to replace any payments made therefrom, in order that after there has been accumulated in said fund the sum of $35,000, the fund may be maintained at that level. The money in the fund shall be used solely for the purpose of making major repairs and replacements or extensions and improvements to the system for which the money in the Operation and Maintenance Fund is not sufficient.

(d) Surplus. All moneys remaining in the Receiving Fund at the end of each operating year after all payments hereinabove required to be made from such fund have been made and after all deficits which may exist from previous years have been remedied shall be deemed to be surplus and shall be used for the purpose of paying contractual obligations of the City to the County of Delta incurred in connection with financing additional water supply and distribution facilities under the provisions of Act 185, Public Acts of 1957, as amended, or any other applicable statute. To the extent not so used, such surplus moneys may be used for any other lawful purpose, including, but not by way of limitation, the making of extensions, additions and improvements to the system, the payment of contractual obligations of the City to the County of Delta in connection with the financing of sewage treatment and disposal facilities under the provisions of Act 185, Public Acts of 1957, as amended, or any other applicable statute, or the retirement through purchase or redemption of bonds payable from the revenues of the system.

In the event that moneys in the Receiving Fund are at any time insufficient to provide for the current requirements of the Operation and Maintenance Fund or the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund, any moneys and securities then in the Replacement Fund shall be transferred first to the Operation Maintenance Fund and second to the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund to the extent necessary to make up any deficits therein, but all moneys so transferred from the Replacement Fund shall be reimbursed to said fund from the first available moneys in the Receiving Fund not required to be paid into the Operation and Maintenance Fund and Bond and Interest Redemption Fund under the foregoing provisions of this Section.

The City Treasurer, Escanaba, Michigan, is hereby designated as custodian of the revenues for the purposes of this ordinance, except that the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund shall be held by the Chicago paying agent as above provided. The money in said funds shall be held in the manner required by the laws of Michigan pertinent thereto. The money held in the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund, including the money held therein as a reserve, shall be held as a trust fund to be used solely for the purpose of paying principal of and interest and redemption premiums on the bonds payable therefrom.

Money in the funds hereinabove established, except the Receiving Fund and the Operation and Maintenance Fund, and except money in the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund which is being accumulated for the payment of the next maturing principal and interest, may at the request of the Council be invested in direct obligations of the United States of America. All such obligations shall be kept on deposit in the bank having on deposit the fund from which the purchase is made, and shall be assigned to the proper fund and shall be sold from time to time at prevailing market prices as the proceeds thereof may be needed for the purposes for which such fund is herein established.

Section 2. All ordinances, resolutions or orders or parts thereof in conflict with the provisions of this Ordinance are to the extent of such conflict hereby repealed.

Section 3. This Ordinance shall be published in full in the Escanaba Daily Press, a newspaper of general circulation in the City of Escanaba, Michigan, within one week after its passage and shall be recorded in the Ordinance Book of the City and such recording shall be authenticated by the signatures of the Mayor and City Clerk.

Section 4. This Ordinance shall become effective immediately upon its passage.

I hereby certify that the attached constitutes a true and complete copy of Ordinance No. 548, duly adopted by the City Council of the City of Escanaba, County of Delta, Michigan, at a regular Meeting held on the 4th day of June, 1970, at which all Councilmen were present except Albin S. Pearson Jr.

I further certify that Councilman Cecil Chase moved adoption of said Ordinance and that Councilman Richadd Pryal supported said motion.

I further certify that the following Councilmen voted for adoption of said Ordinance Councilmen Chase, Pryal, Bink and Mayor Ronald DeVos and that the following Councilmen voted against adoption of said Ordinance none.

I further certify that said Ordinance has been recorded in the Minute Book of the City and such recording has been authenticated by the signatures of the Mayor and City Clerk.

I, Donald J. Guimdon, Clerk of the City of Escanaba, Michigan, do hereby certify that the above and foregoing ordinance was duly passed and adopted at a meeting of the City Council held on June 4, 1970.

Ringney Back To Old Tricks As Twins Triumph

By The Associated Press

Bill Rigney has been a major league manager for 15 seasons now and to stick around that long, you know the guy has to have a gimmick.

Pinch hitters who deliver? A good trick, yet there's nothing awfully special about that. But pinch hitters, who deliver while swinging for other pinch hitters? Now there's a gimmick.

Rigney pulled that one off twice Sunday and the double strategy coup moved Minnesota to a 10-9 victory over Washington in 11 innings.

Elsewhere in the American League, Baltimore trimmed Milwaukee 7-6, Chicago edged New York 4-1 in 12 innings, Cleveland downed California 6-4, Oakland dropped Detroit 5-2 and Boston swept a doubleheader from Kansas City 7-4 and 5-2.

The Twins and Senators were tied at 3-3 in the sixth inning when Rigney started spinning some magic. Minnesota had the bases loaded and Bob Allison, a right-handed pinch hitter, swinging against lefty George Brunet.

Washington Manager Ted Williams called in righty Dick Bosman and Rigney countered with left-handed Rich Reese to swing for Allison. Reese, the pinch hitter for the pinch hitter, naturally cracked a grand slam homer.

The Senators pecked away at the lead and finally tied the score in the ninth. Two innings later, three straight singles by Leo Cardenas, Harmon Killebrew and Tony Oliva had put Minnesota in front at 8-7. Again Rigney used a pinch hitter for a pinch hitter to counter a pitching change and Charley Manuel delivered a single to keep the rally going. Jim Holt followed with a two-run single.

Minnesota needed the insurance when Frank Howard doubled two runs across in the bottom of the 11th. But the rally fell short and Rigney, his ouija board intact, slipped out of town.

Baltimore used home runs by Frank Robinson, Boog Powell and Merv Rettenmund to beat Milwaukee. Eddie Watt bailed Mike Cuellar out of an eighth inning jam after Phil Roof's three-run pinch homer had pulled the Brewers to within a run.

Robinson and Powell powered consecutive shots in the fourth wiping out an early Milwaukee lead.

Tom McCraw, who had lagged a two-run homer earlier, doubled in the 12th inning and came on to score Chicago's winning run against New York as the White Sox ended a five-game Yankee winning streak.

Bobby Knoop followed McCraw's hit with an infield single and when Horace Clarke let the ball get away for an error, McCraw scored. A bat day promotion attracted 65,880 fans—biggest crowd in the majors in five years.

Rookie Jack Heidemann's bases-loaded double in the eighth inning snapped a 2-2 tie and then Fred Lasher came out of the bullpen to get the last out as Cleveland topped California 6-4.

Rookie Rich Hand pitched 8 2-3 innings, striking out nine before being knocked out by Ken McMullen's ninth inning homer. Jim Fregosi had two homers for the Angels.

Tony Conigliaro tagged three hits and drove in three runs as the Red Sox knocked off Kansas City in the opener of their doubleheader. Pitcher Ken Brett homered for Boston while Pat Kelly and Jack Hernandez had a pair of two-run shots for the Royals.

Rico Petrocelli's two-out, eighth inning grand slam won the nightcap, extending the Red Sox' winning streak to five games and Kansas City's losing streak to six.

Oakland Upends Tigers With Late Inning Surge

DETROIT (AP)— The Detroit Tigers have today and the better part of tomorrow to reflect on the old saw, "closeness doesn't count."

They should know it, with a vengance.

It was the top of the ninth Sunday and the Tigers were leading Oakland 2-1. Pitcher Mickey Lolich had been strong and it looked like a winner.

Then a rookie, Joe Rudi, managed to get off duty at a Naval Air Station in nearby Alameda soon enough to rush to Oakland's clubhouse, change clothes, and get onto the field.

Oakland's Frank Fernandez had homered to tie the score, Rick Monday had walked and Dick Green had gotten on base on an error.

Then Rudi stepped up, fouled twice, and sheared one over the leftfield fence to deliver the Tigers a 5-2 defeat.

Willie Horton homered for the Tigers in the second inning and Dick McAuliffe skidded across the plate in the fifth on a wild pitch.

But it wasn't enough and the Tigers racked up their fifth loss in nine games to wind up their Western road trip.

They are now in 4th place in the American League East Division with 24 wins and 26 losses That is ten games behind first place Baltimore, right where they were when they left home last week.

The Tigers face Milwaukee, the worst of the West Division with 16 wind and 36 losses, Tuesday night in Tiger Stadium for the first game in a three-game series.

One person Oakland wants to be sure and take along on an upcoming nine-game road trip is Rudi, whose notoriety had been more in playing for teams like Dubuque, Modesto and Wytheville.

"My bag was already packed for the road trip," Rudi said.

"The equipment man went to the dugout and asked the manager if I should get in uniform, and he said I should."

"I was supposed to sacrifice to get the runner to third base," he said. Rudi popped the first pitch foul behind the plate. It fell inches beyond the reach of Tiger catcher Bill Freehan. Rudi bunted foul again, then was given the "hit" sign.

"It was the biggest homer I ever hit," the excited Rudi said.

Manager John McNamara indicated Rudi will be in the starting lineup against the Cleveland Indians Tuesday night.

He had taken over in the outfield for slump-ridden Reggie Jackson a week ago. Jackson started both Saturday and Sunday games but did not hit well enough to win the job back.

Paul Lindblad, 2-0, the fifth Oakland pitcher of the game, was the winner, although he pitched to only one batter.

"You get a few like that, and there are other times when you pitch several innings and don't have anything to show for it," Lindblad said.

Lolich, 6-6, had given up only an unearned run and six hits before the ninth inning.

Jim Hunter, John Odom and Chuck Dobson will be the Oakland pitchers in the series with Cleveland.

Lotz Convinced; Kemper Winner

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Winning, says Dick Lotz, begets winning.

"It was awfully important to me, winning at Alameda," he said. "I started getting paired with four winners and I could see what they did, how they did it, and convinced myself I could play as well as they did.

"Then at Monsanto, well, that gave me confidence.

"It gave me the winning attitude."

The 27-year-old Lotz, a pleasant, thoughtful, soft-spoken young Californian, was a virtual unknown until he won the $150,000 Monsanto Open golf tournament two months ago.

He added the title in the Kemper Open to that crown Sunday, became only the third double winner on the pro golf tour this year and vaulted into second place on the money winning list at almost $106,000.

He came from one stroke off the pace with a one-under-par 71 for 278, 10 under par on the 7,231-yard Quail Hollow Country Club course, and overhauled faltering Lou Graham, the leader through the second and third rounds.

"I just donated it," said Graham, who struggled home with a 74 for 280. He was tied at that figure, two strokes off the pace, with Tom Weiskopf, who had a sparkling 66, and Larry Hinson and Grier Jones, who had 72s.

Dan Sikes, 70, Bob Lunn, 71, Steve Reid, 73, and Lionel Hebert, 74, were tied at 281. Rod Funseth, 70, was alone at 282 and Arnold Palmer, who had a final 71, topped the group at 283.

"I didn't think a 71 would do it," said Lotz, now in his seventh year on the tour. "I'm just glad nobody behind me shot a really hot round."

They didn't. The grinding pressure of the chase for $30,000 took its toll—even on Lotz a little.

He went in front to stay with a 55-foot monster putt on the 11th hole, then three-putted the 13th. But he bounced back with a 12-foot birdie putt on the 14th, then bogeyed the 16th from a trap.

"I guess I was choking a little," he said. But Graham also bogeyed and the lead remained at two strokes. Lotz parred in. He had moved into a share of the lead with a 15-foot birdie putt on the ninth hole.

ORDINANCE NO. 548

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND SECTION 8 OF ORDINANCE NO. 214, DULY ADOPTED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF ESCANABA, COUNTY OF DELTA, MICHIGAN, ON MARCH 1, 1951, ENTITLED:

AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING THE ISSUANCE OF $900,000 WATER REVENUE BONDS, SERIES 1951 OF THE CITY OF ESCANABA, FIXING THE DETAILS OF SUCH BONDS, PROVIDING FOR THE SALE THEREOF, MAKING PROVISION FOR THE SECURITY AND PAYMENT OF SUCH BONDS, AND ENTERING INTO CERTAIN COVENANTS AND AGREEMENTS IN THAT CONNECTION.

THE CITY OF ESCANABA ORDAINS:

Section 1. Section 8 of Ordinance No. 214, adopted by the City Council of the City of Escanaba, County of Delta, Michigan, on March 1, 1951, is hereby amended to provide as follows:

Section 8. That from and after the issuance of any of the bonds all income and revenues of every nature derived from the operation of the system are hereby pledged for the purpose of the following funds and shall be set aside as collected into a Receiving Fund and transferred therefrom periodically and at the times hereinafter specified into the following special funds.

(a) Operation and Maintenance Fund. Out of the revenues in the Receiving Fund there shall be first set aside during each operating year the operating year for the purpose of this ordinance being the 12 months commencing on July 1 of each year and ending on June 30 of the following year) amounts sufficient to provide for the payment of all current expenses of administration and operation of the system and such current expenses for the maintenance thereof as may be necessary to preserve the system in good repair and working order. The tranfers made pursuant to this paragraph shall be made on the first day of each month of each operating year and shall be in an amount estimated to be sufficient to provide for all expenses which will be payable out of the Operation and Maintenance Fund during such month. If by reason of an under estimate, the amount so transferred on the first day of any month shall prove to be insufficient, additional money may be transferred from the Receiving Fund during the month.

(b) Bond and Interest Redemption Fund. From the remaining revenues in the Receiving Fund not required to be set aside in each operating year for operation and maintenance as shown provided, there shall next be set aside into a fund to be known as the "Bond and Interest Redemption Fund," such amount as will be fully sufficient to pay all principal and interest falling due on January 1 of such operating year and on July 1 of the next succeeding operating year on all bonds and obligations payable therefrom, including both the bonds and the future bonds. Payments into such fund shall be made monthly from the Receiving Fund on the 10th day of each month to the Chicago paying agent above named, and shall be made, as nearly as possible, in proportioned installments so that each monthly payment will constitute, as nearly as may be, one-twelfth of the entire amount required to be so paid into the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund in such operating year. In addition, there shall be paid into such fund all accured interest received from the purchaser of the bonds.

There is hereby established in the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund for the benefit of the bonds and the future bonds a separate account to be known as the "Reserve Account" into which there shall be paid at the end of each operating year all money in the Receiving Fund not hereinabove required to be paid into the Operation and Maintenance Fund and into the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund until such time as there has been accumulated in said Reserve Account the sum of $50,000. Payments so made into the Reserve Account shall be made in the minimum amount of $5,000 in the operating year ending June 30, 1951; $20,000 in the operating year ending June 30, 1952; and $25,000 in the operating year ending June 30, 1953. Money shall be taken from the Reserve Account to pay principal of and interest on bonds as to which there would otherwise be default, and all sums so taken from the Reserve Account shall be restored from the first money thereafter available in the Receiving Fund and not required to be paid into the Operation and Maintenance Fund and the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund. The money in the Reserve Account shall not be regarded as moneys otherwise appropriated or pledged for the purpose of determining the sufficiency of funds available for the redemption of callable bonds.

(c) Replacement Fund. From the remaining revenues in the Receiving Fund in each operating year after the payments above required to be made have been made and after all deficits which may exist in payments from previous years have been remedied, there shall next be set aside into a fund to be known as the "Replacement Fund" from the money remaining in the Receiving Fund at the end of each operating year in the sum of $2,500 in each of the operating years ending June 30, 1951, and June 30, 1952, and $5,000 annually thereafter until there shall have been accumulated in such fund the sum of $35,000. Thereafter there shall be so placed in said fund such sum in each year as may be necessary to replace any payments made therefrom, in order that after there has been accumulated in said fund the sum of $35,000, the fund may be maintained at that level. The money in the fund shall be used solely for the purpose of making major repairs and replacements or extensions and improvements to the system for which the money in the Operation and Maintenance Fund is not sufficient.

(d) Surplus. All moneys remaining in the Receiving Fund at the end of each operating year after all payments hereinabove required to be made from such fund have been made and after all deficits which may exist from previous years have been remedied shall be deemed to be surplus and shall be used for the purpose of paying contractual obligations of the City to the County of Delta incurred in connection with financing additional water supply and distribution facilities under the provisions of Act 185, Public Acts of 1957, as amended, or any other applicable statute. To the extent not so used, such surplus moneys may be used for any other lawful purpose, including, but not by way of limitation, the making of extensions, additions and improvements to the system, the payment of contractual obligations of the City to the County of Delta in connection with the financing of sewage treatment and disposal facilities under the provisions of Act 185, Public Acts of 1957, as amended, or any other applicable statute, or the retirement through purchase or redemption of bonds payable from the revenues of the system.

In the event that moneys in the Receiving Fund are at any time insufficient to provide for the current requirements of the Operation and Maintenance Fund or the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund, any moneys and securities then in the Replacement Fund shall be transferred first to the Operation Maintenance Fund and second to the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund to the extent necessary to make up any deficits therein, but all moneys so transferred from the Replacement Fund shall be reimbursed to said fund from the first available moneys in the Receiving Fund not required to be paid into the Operation and Maintenance Fund and Bond and Interest Redemption Fund under the foregoing provisions of this Section.

The City Treasurer, Escanaba, Michigan, is hereby designated as custodian of the revenues for the purposes of this ordinance, except that the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund shall be held by the Chicago paying agent as above provided. The money in said funds shall be held in the manner required by the laws of Michigan pertinent thereto. The money held in the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund, including the money held therein as a reserve, shall be held as a trust fund to be used solely for the purpose of paying principal of and interest and redemption premiums on the bonds payable therefrom.

Money in the funds hereinabove established, except the Receiving Fund and the Operation and Maintenance Fund, and except money in the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund which is being accumulated for the payment of the next maturing principal and interest, may at the request of the Council be invested in direct obligations of the United States of America. All such obligations shall be kept on deposit in the bank having on deposit the fund from which the purchase is made, and shall be assigned to the proper fund and shall be [illegible] from time to time at prevailing market prices as the proceeds thereof may be needed for the purposes for which such fund is herein established.

Section 2. All ordinances, resolutions or orders or parts thereof in conflict with the provisions of this Ordinance are to the extent of such conflict hereby repealed.

Section 3. This Ordinance shall be published in full in the Escanaba Daily Press, a newspaper of general circulation in the City of Escanaba, Michigan, within one week after its passage and shall be recorded in the Ordinance Book of the City and such recording shall be authenticated by the signatures of the Mayor and City Clerk.

Section 4. This Ordinance shall become effective immediately upon its passage.

I hereby certify that the attached constitutes a true and complete copy of Ordinance No. 548, duly adopted by the City Council of the City of Escanaba, County of Delta, Michigan, at a regular Meeting held on the 4th day of June, 1970, at which all Councilmen were present except Albin S. Pearson Jr.

I further certify that Councilman Cecil Chase moved adoption of said Ordinance and that Councilman Richadd Pryal supported said motion.

I further certify that the following Councilmen voted for adoption of said Ordinance Councilmen Chase, Pryal, Bink and Mayor Ronald DeVos and that the following Councilmen voted against adoption of said Ordinance none.

I further certify that said Ordinance has been recorded in the Minute Book of the City and such recording has been authenticated by the signatures of the Mayor and City Clerk.

I, Donald J. Guindon, Clerk of the City of Escanaba, Michigan, do hereby certify that the above and foregoing ordinance was duly passed and adopted at a meeting of the City Council held on June 4, 1970.

Ligney Back To Old Tricks As Twins Triumph

By The Associated Press

Bill Rigney has been a major league manager for 15 seasons now and to stick around that long, you know the guy has to have a gimmick.

Pinch hitters who deliver? A good trick, yet there's nothing awfully special about that. But pinch hitters, who deliver while swinging for other pinch hitters? Now there's a gimmick.

Rigney pulled that one off twice Sunday and the double strategy coup moved Minnesota to a 10-9 victory over Washington in 11 innings.

Elsewhere in the American League, Baltimore trimmed Milwaukee 7-6, Chicago edged New York 4-1 in 12 innings, Cleveland downed California 6-4, Oakland dropped Detroit 5-2 and Boston swept a doubleheader from Kansas City 7-4 and 5-2.

The Twins and Senators were tied at 3-3 in the sixth inning when Rigney started spinning some magic. Minnesota had the bases loaded and Bob Allison, a right-handed pinch hitter, swinging against lefty George Brunet.

Washington Manager Ted Williams called in righty Dick Bosman and Rigney countered with left-handed Rich Reese to swing for Allison. Reese, the pinch hitter for the pinch hitter, naturally cracked a grand slam homer.

The Senators pecked away at the lead and finally tied the score in the ninth. Two innings later, three straight singles by Leo Cardenas, Harmon Killebrew and Tony Oliva had put Minnesota in front at 8-7. Again Rigney used a pinch hitter for a pinch hitter to counter a pitching change and Charley Manuel delivered a single to keep the rally going. Jim Holt followed with a two-run single.

Minnesota needed the insurance when Frank Howard doubled two runs across in the bottom of the 11th. But the rally fell short and Rigney, his ouija board intact, slipped out of town.

Baltimore used home runs by Frank Robinson, Boog Powell and Merv Rettenmund to beat Milwaukee. Eddie Watt bailed Mike Cuellar out of an eighth inning jam after Phil Roof's three-run pinch homer had pulled the Brewers to within a run.

Robinson and Powell powered consecutive shots in the fourth wiping out an early Milwaukee lead.

Tom McCraw, who had tagged a two-run homer earlier, doubled in the 12th inning and came on to score Chicago's winning run against New York as the White Sox ended a five-game Yankee winning streak.

Bobby Knoop followed McCraw's hit with an infield single and when Horace Clarke let the ball get away for an error, McCraw scored. A bat day promotion attracted 65,880 fans—biggest crowd in the majors in five years.

Rookie Jack Heidemann's bases-loaded double in the eighth inning snapped a 2-2 tie and then Fred Lasher came out of the bullpen to get the last out as Cleveland topped California 6-4.

Rookie Rich Hand pitched 8 2-3 innings, striking out nine before being knocked out by Ken McMullen's ninth inning homer. Jim Fregosi had two homers for the Angels.

Tony Conigliaro tagged three hits and drove in three runs as the Red Sox knocked off Kansas City in the opener of their doubleheader. Pitcher Ken Brett homered for Boston while Pat Kelly and Jack Hernandez had a pair of two-run shots for the Royals.

Rico Petrocelli's two-out, eighth inning grand slam won the nightcap, extending the Red Sox' winning streak to five games and Kansas City's losing streak to six.

Sports In Brief

The longest punt on record by a Michigan State football player is the 88-yard kick by Dick Kieppe against Missouri in 1941.

Oakland Upends Tigers With Late Inning Surge

DETROIT (AP)— The Detroit Tigers have today and the better part of tomorrow to reflect on the old saw, "closeness doesn't count."

They should know it, with a vengance.

It was the top of the ninth Sunday and the Tigers were leading Oakland 2-1. Pitcher Mickey Lolich had been strong and it looked like a winner.

Then a rookie, Joe Rudi, managed to get off duty at a Naval Air Station in nearby Alameda soon enough to rush to Oakland's clubhouse, change clothes, and get onto the field.

Oakland's Frank Fernandez had homered to tie the score, Rick Monday had walked and Dick Green had gotten on base on an error.

Then Rudi stepped up, fouled twice, and sheared one over the leftfield fence to deliver the Tigers a 5-2 defeat.

Willie Horton homered for the Tigers in the second inning and Dick McAuliffe skidded across the plate in the fifth on a wild pitch.

But it wasn't enough and the Tigers racked up their fifth loss in nine games to wind up their Western road trip.

They are now in 4th place in the American League East Division with 24 wins and 26 losses That is ten games behind first place Baltimore, right where they were when they left home last week.

The Tigers face Milwaukee, the worst of the West Division with 16 wind and 36 losses, Tuesday night in Tiger Stadium for the first game in a three-game series.

One person Oakland wants to be sure and take along on an upcoming nine-game road trip is Rudi, whose notoriety had been more in playing for teams like Dubuque, Modesto and Wytheville.

"My bag was already packed for the road trip," Rudi said.

"The equipment man went to the dugout and asked the manager if I should get in uniform, and he said I should."

"I was supposed to sacrifice to get the runner to third base," he said. Rudi popped the first pitch foul behind the plate, It fell inches beyond the reach of Tiger catcher Bill Freehan. Rudi bunted foul again, then was given the "hit" sign.

"It was the biggest homer I ever hit," the excited Rudi said.

Manager John McNamara indicated Rudi will be in the starting lineup against the Cleveland Indians Tuesday night.

He had taken over in the outfield for slump-ridden Reggie Jackson a week ago. Jackson started both Saturday and Sunday games but did not hit well enough to win the job back.

Paul Lindblad, 2-0, the fifth Oakland pitcher of the game, was the winner, although he pitched to only one batter.

"You get a few like that, and there are other times when you pitch several innings and don't have anything to show for it," Lindblad said.

Lolich, 6-6, had given up only an unearned run and six hits before the ninth inning.

Jim Hunter, John Odom and Chuck Dobson will be the Oakland pitchers in the series with Cleveland.

Lotz Convinced; Kemper Winner

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Winning, says Dick Lotz, begets winning.

"It was awfully important to me, winning at Alameda," he said. "I started getting paired with tour winners and I could see what they did, how they did it, and convinced myself I could play as well as they did.

"Then at Monsanto, well, that gave me confidence.

"It gave me the winning attitude."

The 27-year-old Lotz, a pleasant, thoughtful, soft-spoken young Californian, was a virtual unknown until he won the $150,000 Monsanto Open golf tournament two months ago.

He added the title in the Kemper Open to that crown Sunday, became only the third double winner on the pro golf tour this year and vaulted into second place on the money winning list at almost $106,000.

He came from one stroke off the pace with a one-under-par 71 for 278, 10 under par on the 7,231-yard Quail Hollow Country Club course, and overhauled faltering Lou Graham, the leader through the second and third rounds.

"I just donated it," said Graham, who struggled home with a 74 for 280. He was tied at that figure, two strokes off the pace, with Tom Weiskopf, who had a sparkling 66, and Larry Hinson and Grier Jones, who had 72s.

Dan Sikes, 70, Bob Lunn, 71, Steve Reid, 73, and Lionel Hebert, 74, were tied at 281. Rod Funseth, 70, was alone at 282 and Arnold Palmer, who had a final 71, topped the group at 283.

"I didn't think a 71 would do it," said Lotz, now in his seventh year on the tour. "I'm just glad nobody behind me shot a really hot round."

They didn't. The grinding pressure of the chase for $30,000 took its toll—even on Lotz a little.

He went in front to stay with a 55-foot monster putt on the 11th hole, then three-putted the 13th. But he bounced back with a 12-foot birdie putt on the 14th, then bogeyed the 16th from a trap.

"I guess I was choking a little," he said. But Graham also bogeyed and the lead remained at two strokes. Lotz parred in. He had moved into a share of the lead with a 15-foot birdie putt on the ninth hole.

Drama Series, Weekly Story Given 3 Emmys

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A doctor drama series, "Marcus Welby, M.D.," and a weekly schoolroom story, "Room 222" have won the most 1970 Emmys—three apiece.

A canceled series, "My World and Welcome to It," and its star William Windom won in the comedy category in Sunday night's television academy awards.

And a twice-canceled series, "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir," brought a second Emmy to star Hope Lange. Recently canceled by ABC, the show was dropped by NBC last year, when Miss Lange was similarly honored.

Veteran actors Robert Young and Peter Ustinov each received a third Emmy award.

Young won as the general practitioner in "Marcus Welby, M.D.," picked as the outstanding dramatic series. James Brolin, who plays his assistant, was named best supporting actor.

Ustinov's third Emmy was for his performance as a Jewish merchant who provides a home for a black youth from a slum neighborhood in "A Storm in Summer." The show was picked as the outstanding single dramatic program.

The 22nd awards of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences were telecast from the Century Plaza Hotel in Los Angeles and Carnegie Hall in New York.

Dick Cavett, host in New York, set the tone for an evening of emotion, applause and laughter by explaining: "This is the show that each year asks the question, 'Is radio really improved by the addition of pictures?' "

Among the highlights, between commercials for bras, girdles, take-home fried chicken and cigarettes, were—

—The naming of "Room 222" as the outstanding new series and two of its stars, Michael Constantine and Karen Valentine, as best supporting actor and actress in a comedy.

—Susan Hampshire, best actress in a dramatic series for the British-made "The Forsyte Saga."

Anne Bancroft was honored along with producers and writers for her special, "Annie, the Women in the Life of a Man," named the outstanding variety or music program.

Wage-Price Controls, Once Memories, Could Return To Scene

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — "The administration of price control is an extraordinarily difficult and complex business, and it can work only if the people generally give it their support."

So said President Harry S. Truman as he regretfully canceled price controls Nov. 9, 1946. World War II was over, and the initials OPA—for Office of Price Administration—were dirty words to businessmen.

Ceilings Sabotaged

Congress, under pressure from farm and industry groups, had weakened the law seriously. Many sellers sabotaged ceilings by withholding goods—partly to get better prices, partly to force decontrol.

"This withholding is becoming so serious as to threaten key segments of the economy with paralysis," said Truman's message.

"The plain fact is that, under this inadequate law, price control has lost the popular support needed to make it work."

So the nation's first great plunge into direct interference with the free market ended in confusion, controversy—and more inflation. President Nixon is said to have decided while a young lawyer in OPA that direct controls were unworkable and harmful. He rejects them today.

Wholesale Prices Down

For a while, during the war years, the ceilings had worked well. Wholesale prices rose less than 1 per cent a year, consumer prices by about 2 per cent. But by the time victory was at hand, both prices and wages were puncturing their ceilings.

There were many reasons why all administrations since Truman, along with most congressional leaders, have recoiled at the idea of wage-price ceilings, and which make the odds against ceilings exceedingly high at this moment.

1. If you cannot clamp ceilings on fast, if you have to wait while Congress debates the question instead of imposing an emergency freeze, the gain may be lost before it starts.

Early Price Damage

Much of the price damage during the Korean War came about before the control agency could get organized. Companies that smelled a price freeze coming began marking up prices.

Unions are just as alert to try to nail hourly wage increases at levels high enough to ride out an inflationary storm.

2. Voluntary ceilings, or hold-the-line orders lacking enforcement powers, don't work. The Korean War price controller, Michael V. Di Salle, later reported that just 6 per cent of businesses had complied with a voluntary freeze that preceded the actual operation of his Office of Price Stabilization.

"Policeman" Needed

You cannot set a speed limit without posting a policeman to enforce it, to use the phrase of Chairman Paul W. McCracken of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

3. There is no general agreement whether direct wage and price controls really work in the long run.

It was argued in World War II and the Korean War they actually suppressed and distorted market forces, so that inflation broke out with extra fury when the controls were lifted or broke down.

McCracken contends it is possible controls can leave a country worse off and tend to result in fiscal laziness about finding a basic cure for the real problems behind the imbalances of supply and demand.

Public Support Vital

4. Most of those who dealt with the wartime controls agreed with Truman that public support is vital to effective controls, even temporarily. There is doubt such support now exists, among the public or in Congress, for freezing wages and prices during a limited and unpopular war.

That problem did not exist after Pearl Harbor. The OPA was already in being, although mostly on paper.

And people remembered World War I had brought a rise of something over 100 per cent in U.S. wholesale prices when there had been no formal wage-price controls.

Prices Increase

World War II brought an increase of nearly 40 per cent in U.S. wholesale prices from the fall of Poland in 1939 to the surrender of Japan, with price and wage controls from 1942 on. The galloping price inflation was slowed to a crawl in the years 1943-5. But when the ceilings began to crumble after V-E Day and then V-J Day, prices shot up again. The ceilings were badly tattered by November 1946, when OPA finally died.

There was no expectation they would be needed again. But the Korean War came only five years later along with new price-wage ceilings.

The government was unprepared for action. Wholesale prices rose about 12 per cent in 1951, after Red China's entry into the Korean fighting, and consumer prices went up about 8 per cent.

Unprepared For Action

Still, the Office of Price Stabilization did a reasonably good job of holding prices down with the help of military successes, an outpouring of civilian production, and an impressive display of persuasiveness and jawboning. A recession also helped in 1953.

When President Dwight D. Eisenhower took office in 1953, he left no doubt price ceilings were on the way out. The OPS went out of business officially in April 1953.

The country's first price control agency, the OPA, was created April 11, 1941, by President Franklin D. Roosevelt to prevent "price spiralling, rising cost of living, profiteering and inflation."

Soon after Pearl Harbor, Roosevelt named Chester Bowles, a highly successful advertising executive, to head the OPA. The Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 gave OPA clear statutory powers to issue a sweeping decree setting prices on most goods at the highest level charged in the previous month.

There still were many gaps in the ceilings, including 40 per cent of the food in the average consumer's budget. It was April 1943 before Roosevelt issued a hold-the-line order on meat, butter, fish and fresh fruits and vegetables.

But Congress already was weakening controls.

Fearful of grade labeling, it rejected OPA's efforts to enforce ceilings by quality standards. An effort to roll back some prices stalled because of congressional reluctance to hurt farmers or squeeze producers' profits.

Wide-range rationing by then was an overwhelming fact of life. And black markets flourished in many commodities.

On June 29, 1946, Truman vetoed a bill which would have weakened and extended the law.

He asked for a strong new bill but got a weak one, the statute under which the wage and price controls were killed.

Congress passed a bill in 1946 extending the wage-price control law, but riddled it with weakening amendments. On June 29, 1946, Truman vetoed the extension bill saying it would have added $3 billion a year to consumer prices and destroyed wage stabilization.

So, for a time, federal control of prices and wages was dead, and as far as the World War II price chief is concerned, they should remain buried.

"I shudder to think of putting them into effect again, in anything short of a catastrophe," Bowles said in an interview. They would be a "dreadful mistake."

Relief Supply Cargo Plane Pilot Calls Quake Site Unbelievable

ABOARD A USAF C130 OVER PERU (AP) — A grandstand view of death and destruction swept beneath a big U.S. C130 cargo plane as it dropped supplies to survivors of earthquake-torn North Central Peru Sunday.

"Unbelievable," said the pilot, Capt. Bill Hudspeth, a Vietnam veteran, as he guided the big Hercules up the 80-mile Huaylas Canyon. "Worse than anything I have seen in my life."

No Roofs Intact

Hudspeth shook his head in disbelief as the transport passed over what was left of Huraz, once a city of 50,000 at the southern entrance to the canyon, 180 miles north of Lima. Half the buildings had crumbled. Not a single roof remained intact.

The government says the earthquake a week ago may have killed 30,000 or more people; a United Nations observer says the count more likely will exceed 50,000. An estimated 100,000 more are homeless, injured or both.

Target Of Airdrop

Hudspeth reached for the throttle and headed his giant craft 21 miles up the gorge to Anta, the target of the airdrop. Anta, a village of about 2,000 was devastated, but by some freak of terrain enough of the town's tiny airstrip was spared from avalanches that hurtled down the 18,000-foot Andes to leave it still useable by small aircraft.

A quarter ton of sleeping bags, blankets and food rations was packed in plastic-wrapped survival kits and stapled into 12 large crates. The back bay of the plane lifted open as Anta came into view and the crates were shoved out, two at a time, as the Hercules made six passes over the runway.

A few miles further up the canyon was Yungay, which used to be home for some 33,000 people. All that could be seen of it were the tops of four palm trees where the town square had been and a statue of Christ, with arms outstretched, which marked the hilltop cemetery.

A slide of rocks and mud two to three miles wide had hurtled clear across both banks of the Santa River at the bottom of the canyon, buried Yungay and smashed against a mountain ledge on the other side. Only about 2,500 residents of Yungay are believed to have survived.

The C130s fly twice a day, dropping supplies over the canyon then picking up survivors at the evacuation center in Chimbote. They are brought there by helicopters and vintage C47s that can just manage to land and take off at Anta.

Bride For Day Dies In Mishap At Marquette

By The Associated Press

Six persons were killed in a two-car Tuscola County crash, including five related women from the Flint area, as Michigan's weekend traffic death count reached 24.

The six died Saturday in a two - car crash on M15, three miles north of Millington.

Victims were Kenneth Clarence Long, 22, of Millington, alone and the driver of one of the cars; and Geraldine Pauline Crall, 43, the other driver; her mother, Elizabeth Crall, 69, and her sisters, Freda Mae Dimond, 46, and Sharon Ruth Greenfield, 26, all of Millington, and Phyllis Ann King, 30, of Flint.

Sheriff's deputies said there were no surviving witnesses and they were unable to determine immediately the cause of the collision.

The Associated Press' weekend traffic fatality count began at 6 p. m., Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

Among the victims were Karen Moore, 20, of Munising, and Florence Methot, 60, of Wetmore, who were in two cars that collided on County Road 553 in Marquette County's Sands Township Sunday.

Mrs. Moore, a bride only since Saturday, was riding with her husband, Gary Moore, 20. He is listed in serious condition in a Marquette hospital.

150,000 Marchers Back President

ST. LOUIS (AP) — About 20,000 persons, the bulk of them construction workers, marched 3½ miles Sunday in a demonstration of support for the Nixon administration's policy in Southeast Asia.

The marchers, who walked 12 to 15 abreast, carried signs with such mottoes as "Help Keep Communists Out of College," "We the Silent Majority Are Not Dead" and "Back Your Country."

Joseph "Bud Rohan, a glass company salesman who organized the parade, said marchers included clergymen, state legislators, veterans groups and firemen. He had predicted a turnout of 150,000.

Secret Thailand Troop Fund Payments Noted

Agreement Included 10,000 For Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee has released testimony disclosing a secret money-for-troops agreement between the United States and Thailand under which Bangkok sent 10,000 men to Vietnam in exchange for $200 million.

The pact, according to an extensively censored summary of hearings seven months ago, was signed on the ambassadorial level Nov. 9, 1967.

Existence Denied

Although existence of the accord was denied at the time, Thailand announced Nov. 14, 1967, it was meeting a Saigon request and sending a division of volunteers to fight in South Vietnam.

Missouri Democrat Stuart Symington, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee that held the hearings, coupled disclosure of the agreement Sunday with a letter to Secretary of State William P. Rogers asking for details of American aid to Thailand in exchange for sending troops to Cambodia as well as to South Vietnam.

Covers Training Costs

The testimony during a week of closed hearings last November indicated the United States would cover the cost of training, equipping and overseas allowances for a Thai division in South Vietnam. This included providing logistic support and mustering-out bonus for the soldiers.

Besides such aid, the United States also agreed to send Bangkok a battery of Hawk antiaircraft missiles and to increase the military assistance program by about $20 million during fiscal 1968 and 1969 to speed the modernization of Thailand armed forces at home.

Volunteers Ready

Bangkok announced last week it was sending volunteers to Cambodia, along with other assistance, to be paid for, at least in part, by a U.S. military aid program.

Symington, contending the public has a right to know more about U.S.-Thai agreements called on Rogers for fuller disclosures—how much will it cost and which government can initiate the withdrawal of Thai forces from Cambodia.

The role of Thailand in other Southeast Asian nations, and the part played by the United States, has been a going controversy in the Senate for several years.

Published reports in late 1967 that Washington and Bangkok had reached a secret accord for exchanging money and other aid for Thai troops were denied on both sides.

Soviet Nuclear Might Topic At NATO Confab

VENICE (AP) — U.S. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird met today with the other six members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's nuclear planning group to discuss the Soviet Union's nuclear might and how to counter it in an European war.

Authoritative sources said Laird would give the defense ministers from Britain, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Denmark and Turkey a detailed and up-to-date account of the Soviet land, air and sea nuclear armory, based on U.S. intelligence reports.

The sources said that during the two-day, semiannual meeting Laird would also describe the progress of his government's controversial Safeguard antiballistic missile system.

The nuclear planning group was set up to give the non-nuclear members of NATO a voice in the plans for the wartime use of the American and British nuclear weapons which constitute the alliance's protection against nuclear war.

Heretofore, the group has dealt largely with tactical nuclear weapons, smaller than the intercontinental giants. At the end of 1969 it drew up guidelines for their use in case of a massive Soviet attack on Western Europe.

Western military leaders say that such a Soviet onslaught, though unlikely, has to be planned for. They think they could only hold it back for a few weeks or even days before they had to use tactical nuclear weapons, hoping the Soviets would halt for fear that the bigger weapons would be used next.

Mansfield Gives Richardson Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says Elliot Richardson will have no trouble being confirmed as President Nixon's secretary of Health, Education and Welfare—and he has praised the switch that is sending Robert H. Finch to the White House high command.

"I'm very happy that a real pro is going to be in the White House very close to the President," Mansfield said after Nixon announced Finch is leaving HEW to become a counsellor to the President.

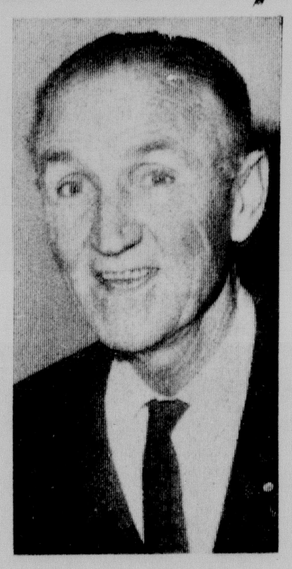
To head that vast and troubled agency, save for the pentagon the biggest in government, Nixon chose Richardson, undersecretary of State and a man with a reputation as a top administrator.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said Finch would tremendously strengthen the White House staff "and open new channels of communication and cooperation between the President, the Congress and the country."

Javits said Richardson "is a splendid public servant and should be able to head this vital, complex department admirably well."

Richardson, 49, is a former lieutenant governor and attorney general of Massachusetts. He served as an assistant HEW secretary during the Eisenhower administration and was named the top State Department official under Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

"Richardson is an excellent choice for HEW, but a loss to the State Department," Mansfield said.



Sen. Mike Mansfield

He said he foresaw no controversy over confirmation. "I can't see them raising any objection to a man who had done a good job at State and has been a good right hand for Rogers there," Mansfield said.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said Richardson's appointment "assures a continuation of dynamic leadership of the highest competence. I believe in Elliot Richardson. He will do a fine job."

New Bill Of Rights, Asian War Among Graduation Day Topics

By The Associated Press

Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey outlined a "new bill of rights and Responsibilities" and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie spoke of student dissent in a busy day of commencement ceremonies at colleges around the nation.

Author John Holt, a critic of the existing educational system, refused an honorary degree at Wesleyan University, declaring that schools are among "the chief enslaving institutions" in American society.

Proxmire Raps War

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., told Milton College graduates that President Nixon "made a tragic mistake in Cambodia. He was wrong." Former astronaut Michael Collins said at Stonehill College that he backed the President's Cambodia decision "100 per cent."

After the recent weeks of dissent and disruption on the nation's campuses, the Indochina war and its domestic repercussions were very much on the minds of both students and speakers at many of the ceremonies Sunday.

Humphrey, in an address to 260 Hamline University graduates in St. Paul, Minn., put the right to peace at the top of his new bill of rights for the 21st century: "In our day this means southeast Asia. It means an end to a costly and tragic war."

Equal Treatment

He also listed the right to justice with "equal treatment under the law and equal opportunity within the social structure" and the right of "access to the political process."

On the other side, he said modern man had the responsibility to participate and speak out, to protect ideals in the face of force, to respect and defend the rights of others and to give time in public service.

Elliot L. Richardson, the President's nominee for secretary of health, education and welfare, told graduates at Lowell Technological Institute there had been a "generational difference" in the nation over foreign policy.

"I firmly believe, nonetheless, that these disagreements can be resolved," he said at the school in Lowell, Mass.

Richardson's Door Open

Richardson added that the administration has been listening to youth and said; "I assure you that my own door will still be open when I move to my new assignment." He is now undersecretary of state.

Muskie told more than 1,200 graduating students at the University of New Hampshire in Durham that "student dissent has not been a disease of the body politic. It has instead been a welcome sign of health."

The Maine Democrat said the unrest was "a sign that millions of young people would rather improve America than escape or reject her . . . that they would rather have America united than fearful and insecure."

Raps Education System

Education critic Holt told the 280 undergraduate and 195 graduate students receiving degrees that the present universal compulsory education system was harmful.

"The one thing it teaches is the superiority of the schooled over the unschooled," he said. "In schools people learn that the world is frightening and mysterious and that they are stupid."

Storey Submits Resignation As School Director

W. Steve Storey

W. Steve Storey, community school director in Escanaba for the past year, will submit his resignation to the Escanaba Area Board of Education at its meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Administration Building.

Storey has accepted a position with the community schools in Lake Odessa. He will also be an assistant to the superintendent of schools there.

Storey came to Escanaba after serving as the community school director in Flint for two years. Prior to that, he taught in La-Crosse, Wis.

He received his bachelor's degree from Wisconsin State University and his master's degree from Northern Michigan University. He is a member of the National Education Association and the National Community School Education Association.

No successor for Storey has been found yet, but expressions of interest have been received from three candidates and they will be interviewed on Tuesday in the superintendent's office.

Also listed on the agenda for the school board meeting Tuesday is a discussion on giving Eldred Sattem, maintenance supervisor of the Escanaba Area Public Schools, the added responsibilities of transportation supervisor and the appointment of a new athletic director at Escanaba Area High School.

Other items of business include teacher contracts; Workmen's Compensation Insurance; multi-peril insurance; rental policy, textbook adoptions; discussion on a request of Ronald Fulcher, high school business education teacher, for a one year leave of absence; salaries for driver education teachers and letters of thanks and appreciation for endorsements of the millage issue.

Discussion items from the superintendent include a report of the Citizens' Advisory Council, a report on the Act 220 survey, the nurse's annual report, election results, the public relations program and an organizational meeting of the board.

League Invites Gifts Of Books

Donations of books to the League of Women Voters book sale may be brought to the I.O.O.F. Building, 112 N. 10th St. in the former Moersch & Degnan location on Friday, June 12, Monday, June 15, and Tuesday, June 16 during the day.

The Escanaba League of Women Voters will hold its annual used book sale June 17-20. This year it will coincide with the Flea Market on Wednesday, June 17. In past years the League book sale has been held in conjunction with sidewalk day.

There is a demand for all types of books, and a special interest in recent textbooks, new fiction, cookbooks, and children's books. Musical records and paperbacks are also wanted and sell quickly.

Books may also be picked up by calling Mrs. Harold Simonon, 786-6360 or Mrs. Wesley Lehmann, 786-0032 in the Escanaba area, Mrs. Irving Olsen, 786-4451 in the Ford River area, and Mrs. Howard Keeton, 428-2129 in the Gladstone area.

The book sale is a finance project of the League. Proceeds from it are used to carry on the work of the League. Members of the book sale committee include Mrs. Irving Olsen, Mrs. Wesley Lehmann, Mrs. Harold Simoson, Mrs. William Taylor, Mrs. Vernon Wicklander and Mrs. Howard Keeton.

Body Of Young Woman Found Near Dearborn

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — The body of a partially clad young woman, who had been stabbed and bludgeoned was found Sunday at a park in the Detroit suburb of Dearborn. Police said she had been dead for about a week.

The body was found by two youths in a wooded area off a dirt road about 150 yards from a residential section. Police said the boys were snake hunting in Crowley Park in southwest Dearborn when they found the body.

Residents in the area said wooded sections of the park were used by some teen - agers as a lovers lane.

Authorities are seeking to identify the woman, who was white and estimated to be between the ages of 18 and 22.

The woman was clothed only in boots and nylons, police said. They said a three-gallon can of gasoline and a pair of gray slacks were found nearby.

Police said the back of her head and her hair were singed, possibly in an attempt to burn the body. They said her skull was crushed.

Ann Arbor is about 50 miles west of Dearborn.

John Norman Collins, an Eastern Michigan University senior, is at present on trial in the murder of Karen Sue Beineman, an Eastern Michigan freshman, last July. She was the last of seven young women slain in the area. No one has been charged in the other six murders.

Collins has been held without bond in Washtenaw County jail for the last ten months. His trial began last Monday.

Authorities said that the body found Sunday contained several stab wounds in the neck and back. An autopsy was scheduled at the Wayne County morgue today.

Police said the top portion of the body was badly mutilated. They said there was no immediate indication on whether she was sexually molested. The woman was between 5-foot-2 and 5-foot-5.

A youth who found the body walked to a nearby baseball field and told the first person he met, Hazen St. Charles, 28, of Dearborn, that "I found a body in the woods. Come with me."

St. Charles said he and a few men went with the youth and after sighting the body called authorities.

Rotary Day Camp To Open June 22

Staff openings at Camp Harstad have been filled with experienced capable people and preparations are under way for the opening of Rotary Camp Harstad on Monday, June 22, it is reported by Henry Wylie, camp director.

Mrs. Oliver Brazeau, 1101 3rd Ave. S., will be in charge of noon lunches at camp again this summer. Besides having prepared noon lunches at Harstad for 10 summers, Mrs. Brazeau has worked on many school lunch programs in this community.

Mike Olson, 1407 S. 14th St., senior counelor, will be a senior at Escanaba Area High School next year. It will be his second year at Camp Harstad. He passed Red Cross requirements for a Senior Life Saving certificate at the Escanaba Municipal Beach last summer and will be in charge of all swimming activities for the campers this summer.

Janice Ferguson, Rte. 2, Ford River Road, Escanaba, senior counselor, will be a sophomore at Bay de Noc Community College next year. It will be Janice's second year at Camp Harstad.

Christine Gauthier, 1308 5th Ave. S., senior counselor, will be a junior at Michigan State University next year. She worked at a church camp in sotuhern Michigan last summer and will bring that experience to the summer program at Harstad. a

Susan Nicholson, 1408 S. 15th St., junior counselor, graduated from Escanaba Area High School last week and will attend Bay de Noc Community College as a freshman this fall. Her high school experiences include three years of dramatic experience on the stage crew and three years of art at E.A. H.S., which will bring a variety of valuable new experience to the Harstad campers this summer, said Wylie.

In addition to cooperating with work-study funds for the counsellors, Bay de Noc Community College is also assigning a student nurse in the Practical Nursing Program at the College to Rotary Camp Harstad each week at no cost to the Harstad program.

Wylie, 620 S. 9th St., in his second year as camp director, has nine years of camping experience.

Letters of invitation to Camp Harstad will be mailed to the parents of 38 children this week inviting the children to attend camp this summer. All cards, either accepting the invitation or not, should be returned promptly, said Wylie.

The Department of Social Services for the State of Michigan requires that every child be checked for communicable diseases by a physician and have a TB skin test before attending camp. All camp employees must also show evidence of a negative TB skin test.

Rotary Camp Harstad has been granted a regular license by the Department of Social Services for the State of Michigan to oeprate as a day camp.

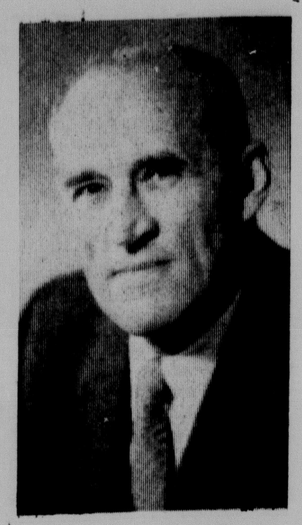
Charles W. Stoll, 77, Banker And Yachtsman, Dies



Charles W. Stoll

Charles W. Stoll of Escanaba, banker, businessman, and yachtsman, died at 5 a.m. Sunday in Green Bay. He was 77 years old.

He was president of the State Bank of Escanaba, and was associated with several business enterprises, notably the Sawyer-Stoll Timber Co. of Escanaba.

With partners, the late Carl J. Sawyer and E. Parke Sawyer, the Sawyer-Stoll Timber Co. was started in 1922. Mr. Stoll was also vice president of the Hicks Lumber & Supply Co., Ltd.; president of the Sawyer-Stoll Lumber Co. Ltd.; and a partner in the Shepeck Dimension & Lumber Co.

He was a former director of the Charmin Paper Mills, Green Bay.

Active In Masonry

In community affairs he had served as a member of the Delta County Board of Supervisors, and was chairman of its finance committee.

He was president of the Lakeview Cemetery Association, and with C. J. and E. P. Sawyer gave to Lakeview Cemetery the chapel erected there.

Charles William Stoll was born in Escanaba on Aug. 9, 1893, and was graduated from the Escanaba Public Schools and the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church; Delta Lodge No. 195 F&AM; Delta Chapter No. 118, Royal Aarch Masons; Escanaba Commandery No. 47, K. T.; Francis P. Moore Consistory, S. P. R. S. 32nd degree, Marquette; Delta Shrine Club, Escanaba; the Ahmed Temple, Marquette; and the University of Michigan Alumni Club.

One of his affiliations was with the Escanaba Yacht Club and the Lake Michigan Yachting Association.

Funeral Tuesday

As owner and skipper of the "Rose of Sharon", a 52-foot schooner, he was well known at ports around the north end of Lake Michigan, Green Bay and Big Bay de Noc. He had sailed the "Rose" for 30 years. Her home port was Escanaba and her mooring was at the yacht basin here.

His outdoor activities and hobbies besides sailing included fishing — lake fishing of all types and river fishing from a boat.

Mr. Stoll was a veteran of World War I and flew with the Army Air Corps.

Surviving are two sons, Dr. William Morgen Stoll of Green Bay and Charles Stewart Stoll of California; and five grandchildren.

Masonic memorial services will be held at 8 tonight at the Boyce Funeral Home. Friends may call to 9 p.m.

Funeral services are scheduled for 10 a.m. Tuesday at the Boyce Funeral Home, with the Rev. Philip Lyon, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiating, followed by commital services in Lakeview Cemetery Chapel.

Lower Level

By uanimous vote (30-0), the Michigan Senate approved and sent to the House "one of the strongest drunk driving bills in the nation."

Its key provision would drop the blood-alcohol concentration limit legally employed as a basis for presumption of intoxication. The present law specifies that .15 percent alcohol in the blood is sufficient to presume a driver is under the influence of alcohol. The Senate-passed bill would reduce this level by one-third, to .10 per cent.

Use of the blood-alcohol concentration limit is linked closely to the "implied consent" concept, which Michigan adopted several years ago. This statute provides that when a person operates a vehicle upon a public highway he is deemed to have given his consent in advance to a chemical test of his blood, breath or urine if he is arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Refusal to submit to such a chemical test is cause for suspension of a driver's license.

The action now to reduce the threshold of incrimination from .15 per cent to .10 per cent is a recognition of the findings of research into the physiological and psychological aspects of alcohol consumption. Numerous studies and experiments have demonstrated that no one is fit to drive a motor vehicle when the blood-alcohol concentration reaches the .10 per cent level. The same studies and experiments also indicate, in fact, that many are not fit to drive at levels lower than 0.10 per cent.

A measure of the magnitude of the problem was given by Lyle D. Filkins, research engineer in the Highway Safety Research Institute of the University of Michigan, at a presentation for news media representatives in Escanaba last month.

Reporting on the latest information on his continuing study of the problem of the drunken driver, Filkins said figures for 1968 reveal there were 7,135 automobile accidents in the Upper Peninsula involving property damage. Of these, 2,511 were personal injury crashes and 84 were fatal crashes. They left 4,058 persons injured and 100 killed. The total economic loss of the accidents was estimated at $14 million.

"I would guess that half of those accidents should be attributed to drinking drivers, and if you used that amount of money you could do a lot about controlling alcoholism," Filkins said.

House passage of the Senate bill reducing the blood-alcohol concentration limit to 0.10 per cent certainly won't solve the problem of the drinking driver in Michigan, but it does represent a more realistic approach to the problem and it should have some impact on reducing the number of drinking drivers in the state and keeping them off the highways.

The Family Lawyer

TAKING ALONG THE MRS.

Comedians have spun endless tales about the traveling businessman who takes along his secretary, claiming she is his wife. But for tax purposes, the situation may be just the opposite. The businessman may take along his wife and claim she is his secretary. His object, of course, would be to deduct her traveling expenses on his next income tax return.

Is this permissible? Are her expenses properly deductible? Consider this case:

A sales executive took his wife along to a series of conventions, where she kept him company and attended to the usual social amenities. However, she took no part in any business or convention activities.

Her husband tried afterward to deduct her expenses, but a court ruled that he could not. The court felt that, as far as business was concerned, he might just as well have left her home.

Even if a wife provides something more than mere companionship, there still may be insufficient grounds for her husband to take a tax deduction. Suppose she types up occasional notes for him. Or goes along to convention luncheons and dinners. Neither of these services would justify a deduction, according to a ruling of the Internal Revenue Service. As one court put it:

"Being 'helpful' is not enough; a wife's functions while traveling with her husband must be 'necessary' to the conduct of his business before a deduction will be allowed for her expenses."

By contrast, another wife did play a key role in her husband's work while they traveled in Europe, putting in as much time on the job as he did. Furthermore, their itinery was chosen solely for business reasons, with no detours for "places of interest." In fact, she did no sightseeing at all.

Weighing these circumstances, a court concluded that her trip really was a business necessity and her expenses deductible. The court treated these expenses just like telephone bills or postage or any other of the costs of making a living.

The Young Misread President's Intentions

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Dr. Martin Anderson, Columbia University economist who proved by statistical analysis that the Federal bulldozer had destroyed more homes than "urban renewal" had managed to build, has had the job of justifying to President Nixon the case for a voluntary army.

He has been at it ever since the 1968 campaign. And making due allowance for the difficulty of changing over from the draft to volunteer recruitment in the middle of a war, his logic has convinced the President.

The strange thing is that the young of America, who claim they have a special right to pronounce on politics, hardly know of Martin Anderson's existence. If they had followed Dr. Anderson's fight as a White House adviser to set the stage for the Presidential Commission on an All-Volunteer Armed Force, which has concluded unanimously that the draft should go, they would have to admit that Richard Nixon is the only President within living memory who has actively repudiated the basic idea of conscription.

Nixon, in short, is "their man," as he proved when he said on April 23 that "with an end to the draft, we will demonstrate to the world the responsiveness of republican government — and our continuing commitment to the maximum freedom for the individual, enshrined in our earliest traditions and founding documents."

How is it that the young on the campuses of America fail to read Richard Nixon correctly?

Partly it derives from a sense of guilt: the undergraduates have been beating the draft through the system of college deferments where their less favored brothers have been conscripted after high school, and they have sought refuge from self-loathing in an unrealistic concept of "instant politics," thinking that immediate abolition of the war in Southeast Asia would absolve them of their shame in taking favors in a life-and-death matter from the government.

The trouble with "instant politics" is that it makes no allowance for what Richard Nixon was handed by his predecessors: a war at an 8,000-mile distance involving 500,000 U.S. soldiers whom it would require many months to extricate without selling out our friends and, indeed, risking a debacle at the last beachhead.

Nixon has sought to combine honor (under the name of "Vietnamization") with the fulfillment of his mandate to get American soldiers off the Asian mainland. A prudent concept of evacuation logistics is part of his thinking: if it took the Japanese eight months to get their troops out of China in 1945-46, it will take us even longer to wind up our ground-troop participation in the Indo-China War.

★ ★ ★

The students, preoccupied with "instant politics," have been blind to our defensive aspect of liquidating the Viet-Cong-North Vietnamese hold on the Cambodian flank while we build up the South Vietnamese in preparation for our departure. The students have been even more blind to Nixon's timetable in going over to a voluntary army. As Nixon has said, the draft "cannot be ended all at once; it must be phased out, so that we can be certain of maintaining our defense strength at every step."

The idea is to reduce draft calls to zero over a period of time. The desire for a voluntary armed force is intertwined with budgetary realities; pay increases to entice young men into the army of their own free will must not force an inflation that would make it impossible to offer real continuing financial inducements to volunteers.

The Nixon proposition is to give a retroactive pay increase for members of the armed forces right away, and to follow it up with additional increases in 1971 and 1972. The sum marked for 1972 is an extra two billion dollars for added pay and other benefits. Thus the stage will be set for the formal ending of conscription without in the meantime depriving ourselves of an army.

★ ★ ★

There are those who say that money will never attract enough soldiers to defend the Republic, even after U.S. ground troops have been withdrawn from the Asian mainland. And there are those who say that every young man should acknowledge his responsibility to defend the nation.

But Martin Anderson notes that we don't draft our policemen and our firemen, even though our cities have a responsibility to maintain law and order. Certainly the army, as an honorable institution, deserves fair wages.

The point to be made here is that Nixon, whether his decision to go for a voluntary army is wise or not, is on the side of the young who hate the draft. Yet the young cannot see the President as their friend.

Whose is the failure to listen? It is the young who are being arbitrary, blind and totally unfair to a President who is trying to help them get what they want as quickly as it is realistically possible to do so.

Are Nation's Economists Doing Their Job Well?

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Is Paul McCracken a good oikonomikos?

That's the word the ancient Greeks used to describe a steward or a person skilled in household management. Today, of course, an economist is one who is supposed to know how to keep industrial and government houses in order.

Dr. McCracken, the President's chief economic adviser, has demonstrated his credentials over the years, but with so much disorder existing in the economy, critics feel some government economists aren't worth their salt.

The search for an explanation of economists was undertaken by a puzzled observer of the market place who concluded that financial terms didn't seem to make complete sense any more and that perhaps we should begin all over again.

It was an education if not an explanation.

The word "tax," it was learned, means just what you think it does, a levy, a sort of touch, being derived from the Latin "taxare," which means "to touch sharply." Few taxpayers will dispute the definition. It is still accurate.

Most other terms, however, seem to have foresaken their origins as thoroughly as a broker forgets that his title once referred to a person who broached or tapped a cask to draw off the liquor.

Because of this, the term was applied to retail vendors of wine, and later to any small retailer, peddler or agent. Disgruntled stock market investors might wish to remind their brokers of these humble origins.

More disconcerting is the realization that many financial terms were derived through theft and corruption. Dr. H. Bosley Woolf, managing editor of Merriam-Webster dictionaries, is authority for the statement.

The words dime and quarter, Woolf relates, were stolen from the Latin, dollar and nickel from the German, penny from Old English, check from the Arabic via the French, and century and grand, in references to money, from the underworld.

In knowing the origins of such terms, perhaps some of the mysterious rumbles of the financial world may be more understandable. Some more:

—Money, you may not be surprised to learn, can be traced to a woman, the Roman goddess Juno, whose divine responsibilities included that of warning the populace. She acquired the surname Moneta, from the Latin "moneo" or "warn."

So grateful were the Romans that they erected a temple in her honor and installed a mint there, and as Juno Moneta, the goddess also became the guardian of finances.

—Dollar originally meant valley or dale, a perfectly understanable definition to those who have watched the value of the dollar sink year after year. But the value decline really has little to do with the origin.

In the early 16th century, the silver mined in northwestern Boehmia, now Czechoslovakia, was converted into coins at a mint in Joachimstal, which in German meant "Joachim's dale."

The coins made there were called Joachimthaler, which was shortened to taler, and then, in English, changed to dollar—the basic American currency now printed in such dales at Denver and San Francisco.

—Salary originally meant salt money. Roman soldiers drew a special allowance as part of their pay in order to buy salt, in ancient times a commodity not always so easily obtained as now.

This allowance was called a "salarium," based on the Latin word "sal," or "salt." Salarium was borrowed in English as salary, and used to denote fixed regular wages. Some workers still call it salt.

—Bank originally meant the table of a money changer. It was borrowed from the French "banque" and the Italian "banca," which meant "bench," "table" or "counter."

—Bankrupt meant to break the bench, quite literally. When a money changer in old Florence became insolvent, the authorities wrecked his bench to show he was out of business. It was, in a word or two, the finance. Finance? Well, perhaps not quite accurately, but it does suggest the money changer's plight.

The word "finance" means "the end." It is related to the word "fine," which comes from the Latin "finis," which means "final payment," "settlement," "end."

If you aren't convinced that it refers to a terminal status, then ask any corporate treasurer who has had to pay 15 per cent for borrowed money or any stock broker who lost his suspenders in the recent crash. They'll tell you.
Finis.

Opening lead — king of diamonds.

Robert Gray of Scotland is well known for his skill in constructing double-dummy problems. Here is a striking example of his handicraft which demonstrates how far one can go to accomplish a trump coup.

For a trump coup to work, declarer must reduce his trumps to the same length as one of his adversaries. If you take a look at the spade combination in this deal, you may well think that this is impracticable. Nevertheless, it can be done.

Assume South is in six spades and West leads a diamond. It would seem that West must win two trump tricks and that declarer must go down one.

But if South proceeds carefully, he can bring home the slam. The key play comes at trick one when he ruffs in dummy with the three and at the same time underruffs with the two!

From then on, it is simple a question of South's ruffing a club at every opportunity and in that way reducing his trump length.

Declarer trumps the ace of clubs at trick two, plays a heart to the queen, ruffs a club, and plays a heart to the king, East showing out.

The process continues with a club ruff, a heart finesse, another club ruff, a heart to the ace, and, finally, a fifth club ruff.

By this time South's last three cards are the A-J-10 of spades and West has the K-Q-9. The play of the jack puts West out of commission.

Certainly this is an extreme example of a successful trump coup. Declarer starts with nine spades to West's three, and, despite this, creates the winning position at the end.

He cannot afford a slip at any point—particularly on the opening lead, when he must be sure to underruff dummy's three. The hand is certainly a curiosity, but it does have points of interest.

Not Dirt Cheap

A dirty air cleaner on your car's engine can cost you up to thirty-two dollars a year in wasted gasoline — to say nothing of extra engine wear from added grime. Let your engine breathe easy — check the carbureator air cleaner often and replace when recommended.

Railroads running through South West Africa's vast semi-desert face special problems. Recently, 250 laborers turned out to clear sand dunes from the track between remote Aus and coastal Luderitz where a passenger train was partially derailed by the drifting sand.

Ann Landers

Five Million Potheads Would Be Too Much!

Dear Ann Landers: I have a solution to the pot and drug problem—also heroin or whatever else the screwballs want to inject into their veins. Let them do it. Give them as much dope as they want. Eventually they will kill themselves and the world will be better off without them.

I am sick and tired of looking at dirty, long-haired slobs who would rather fight the establishment than wash and go to work like self respecting people. They are lousing up our world and contributing nothing but trouble, which we have enough of already.

I am sure you won't print this letter because you only publish letters that agree with you or make you look good.—St. Louis

Dear Lou: I've heard some classic "solutions" but yours is in a class by itself. If addicts were given free and easy access to drugs, they would surely create an enormous health and welfare problem before they got around to killing themselves. The loss, in terms of human resources, would be staggering. No country can allow its youth to burn its brains out. We now have approximately eight million alcoholics in our country and we don't need five million potheads.

★ ★ ★

Dear Ann Landers: I was disappointed in your advice to the wife who was mad at her husband because he abandoned her at parties and went off and had a great time. You told her, "Stop following him around. Quit making a pest of yourself." Instead of telling her what NOT to do, why didn't you give her some positive advice, such as, "Force yourself to talk to people, even if your stomach is in knots and your legs feel like they are going to collapse."

My husband used to leave me stranded, too, but I was determined not to be that "pest" you spoke of. Instead of hiding in the powder room I decided to make it on my own. To my surprise I discovered I could have a good time if I made the effort.

Most exciting of all was my husband's reaction. When he saw me standing in a group, the center of attention, laughing and talking, he came over to get in on the interesting conversation. What fun it is now to show off for him! And if a former shrinking violet like yours truly can do it, anyone can! Spread the word. — M.D. of D.C.

Dear M.D.:The word has been spread. Thanks for providing it.

★ ★ ★

Dear Ann Landers: Will you settle an argument? Should a husband mind if his wife goes through his billfold?

Two years ago I found a telephone number. Out of curiosity I called the number and was shocked to hear the voice of a friend. When I confronted Gil with my astonishing discovery, he confessed they were having a sizzling affair.

Gil has been behaving pretty well these past several months, but every now and then I check his billfold to see if there are any new numbers. Is this wrong? I feel if a man has nothing to hide he would not object. — Mrs. Sherlock H.

Dear Mrs.: A wife who goes through her husband's billfold violates some basic rules of good human relations—a show of confidence and respect for the privacy of others. The husband who is watched does not behave better. He merely becomes more circumspect. Wake up and smell the coffee, Darie.

Traffic Light Is Not Needed

Paul Michelin, Michigan State Highway representative, believes there is no need to install a traffic control light at Lincoln Rd. and 5th Ave. S., he advised the Escanaba Citizens Safety Advisory Committee.

The Committee discused the situation at the intersection following a second traffic fatality there so far this year.

Rene Labre, chairman of the Traffic Safety Committee, reported that Michelin checked reports of both of the fatal accidents and inspected the intersection.

As far as he was concerned, he felt that a speed study had been made before the area was posted and that the proper speed for the area had been posted, it was reported.

There are no obstructions to vision at the intersection and Michelin said he had no further suggestion for changes.

The Safety Committee suggested the possibility that a road be constructed from Eighth Ave. S. to Ludington St. on the west side of the High School in an effort to funnel some of the traffic in the area away from Lincoln Road.

School Election Polls Open To 8 P.M. Today

The polls will be open to 8 tonight in school elections including the Escanaba Area School District in which two trustees will be chosen and the question of school millage will be resolved by the voters.

Alfred Troutt of Ford River is a candidate unopposed for the four-year term; David J. Rivard of Soo Hill, John Pearson, 515 S. 5th St., and Leo Alperovitz of 208 S. 22nd St. are seeking the one-year term as write-in candidates.

Alperovitz is business manager of Bay de Noc Community College. He announced his candidacy today.

Ferency Vows Changes, If Elected As Governor

By DAVE ANDREWS

Zolton Ferency may not get to be governor of Michigan.

He may not even earn the Democratic nomination for governor.

But before the Aug. 4 primary, Ferency is going to have a whale of a time running for the office.

The 48-year-old East Lansing lawyer who ran for governor and lost to George Romney in 1966, told a group of Delta County Democrats Sunday at the Bowl-A-Rama that if they "want to do business at the same old stand" then don't vote for Zolton Ferency.

But if they feel some changes are needed, then they've come to the right man.

Ferency, who said his 1966 campaign started with people asking "What is a Zolton Ferency and ended with people asking who is Zolton Ferency", said the nation is divided as it never have been before and that there are four causes for the division — the war in Indo-China; racism in society; poverty in the midst of plenty and the feeling of powerlessness in people to guide their own destinies.

Will Use Office

He said that if he is elected governor he will use the power of the office to work for the correction of those problems.

Ferency, who visited in about a dozen Upper Peninsula communities before stopping in Escanaba for the coffee hour program arranged by the Delta County Democratic Women's Club, stopped at Manistique after leaving Escanaba en route to St. Ignace, where he spent the night, before driving back to East Lansing today.

He said in his tour of the Upper Peninsula that the economy is a very important problem, particularly in the Sault Ste. Marie and Gogebic-Iron county areas.

Ferency was the fourth Democratic candidate for governor to visit in Delta County.

Zolton Ferency

Sen. Sander Levin of Berkley, Rep. George F. Montgomery of Detroit and George N. Parris, prosecuting attorney from Macomb County all have appeared in the county this spring.

Levin "Strongest"

Ferency said he regards Levin as his strongest opponent for the nomination and in an interview attacked what he termed Levin's "Madison Avenue" tactics. He said Levin changed advertising agencies running his campaign and that he (Ferency) opposes the use of "modern merchandising techniques" used by Levin in an effort to attract attention.

"I intend to make an issue of it in the campaign," he said.

Ferency, who was an opponent of the war in Vietnam before the nation got excited about it and urged the Democrats to dump Lyndon Johnson from the 1968 ticket, said he plans to make the Indo-China war and tax reform issues in the campaign. He also said he is strongly in favor of speration of church and state.

"It's foolish to get involved to support private schools when we can't support public schools," he said. A Roman Catholic, Ferency said that private schools will end up as public schools and "the whole purpose of private schools will be lost."

Not Getting Share

Ferency also said that Michigan isn't getting its fair share of federal tax dollars (Michigan is the 11th largest contributor, he said, and 50th in per capita return) and he said he will propose that local tax credits by applied to federal income tax returns to allow local people to make their own decisions on tax matters.

He said he would urge that instead of allowing deductions for state and local taxes, that the federal government allow local taxes be subtracted (as a credit) from the total tax due to the federal government. With less federal tax to pay—money, he said, which is being used for 'foolish programs" like the space race, Anti-ballistic missiles (ABM), development of the SST, the war in Indo-China — people would be more willing to pay for local problems.

Graduated Tax

Ferency said he's also in favor of a graduated income tax for Michigan to provide the "flexibility and equitability" to the problems of financing state government and taking the burden off the property tax.

Ferency said that if he wins the Democratic nomination for governor that he won't have to devote the campaign energy to gaining recognition in the state. He said he has greater recognition now and that he plans to show people by his arguments what he believes is important, matching his views against those of Gov. Milliken.

"If the voter makes that kind of comparison, I think I'll win," he said.

Briefly Told

The Ford River Library summer schedule is: Monday and Thursday afternoons 2:30 to 4 o'clock; Saturday afternoons 12:30 to 3:30.

Judy Wessel, Holy Name High School student, is listed on the "B" honor roll for the semester. Her name was spelled incorrectly in publication.

The management of Gardens of Rest Cemetery will present a slide program on the proposed chapel mausoleum Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church. The public is invited.

Accident Case Opens In Court

A jury trial began in Circuit Court this morning before Judge Bernard H. Davidson of a case where Daniel McMillie of the Chemical Plant Location is charging Herman R. Erickson of 324 N. 12th St. with auto negligence.

The trial stems from an automobile accident on Feb. 24, 1967, when the McMillie car, which was driven by Mrs. McMillie, collided with a car driven by Erickson at the intersection of 10th St. N and 1st Ave. N.

The McMillies are seeking damages from injuries allegedly received by Mrs. McMillie in the accident.

A jury of four men and eight women was selected this morning. Named to the jury were Rose Ratkovich, Mary Lee Bowden, Wayne Madalinski, Flora Moore, Rudolph Peterson, Grace Gustafson, William Schmidt, Lois Brazeau, Dorothy Zenker, John Dlugas, Helen Thorin and Elizabeth Potvin.

Robert Hansley is the attorney for the plaintiff and Clair Hoehn is the defense attorney.

The race was the first of four for the Green Bay Press Gazette "Boat of the Year" trophy. Next race will be held in Escanaba June 20.

Dispute Halts College Building

Construction of a $600,000 class room and library building on Bay de Noc Community College's new campus at Danforth Rd. was halted temporarily today because of a labor dispute.

The dispute was reported between the iron workers and carpenters over who is to hang the metal framework for the doors and windows.

Howard Herrild of Menominee is general contractor. He is not involved in the dispute between the union members.

Fletcher Recital Is Well Received Here

It's quite an event when a home town girl returns to Escanaba and honors us with a graduate recital. Kristine Kletcher, violinist, did just that Saturday evening at the Escanaba Area High School, assisted by her sister, Susan, soprano.

Master's Degree

Kristine, who has studied at Northwestern University, and received her bachelors degree from Northern Michigan University, has just completed her degree work for a Masters degree at Ball State in Munice, Ind.

Graduate Recital

She elected to give her graduate recital in Escanaba, and brought with her her accompanist, Yolanda Paganelli, a native of Argentina, studying at Ball State on a scholarship. Miss Fletcher was also assisted by a fellow student, Ruth Leaf, violinist, a native of Kansas.

Opening Selections

Susan opened the program with two songs by Purcell and an aria by Puccini, accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Chown. Then followed a good exposition of the Beethoven A Major violin Sonata by Kristine with a real brilliant tempo in the Allegra vicace. Miss Paganelli treated the Sonata in good teutonic clarity, her scales speaking clearly and with the firmness that this sonata should have. The second movement, or Andante was played hauntingly by Miss Fletcher, and done beautifully in tune. The intonation in the whole program was outstandings.

Colorful

After the Sonata, Susan Fletcher presented three songs. The Villa-Lobos was the most interesting and colorful, and presented in an unusual style. Susan has just completed her first year at Kalamazoo college, and shows that she has spent her time well. Much praise for Ruth Chown, a fine accompanist and musician who did a competent job on this program.

Four Songs

Really interesting to me was a Sonatafor Two Viloins, by Zach, a Czechoslovakian composer of the Baroque period. Part Handel, part Mozart, yet not really either, Kristine Fletcher and Ruth Leaf gave it a most delightful reading. The final selection of the recital was four songs by Dvorak, from Zigenner Melodien, by Susan Fletcher. It included the famous "Songs my mother taught me," so beautifully sung.

It is nice to be able to say that Kristine Fletcher has agreed to teach strings at Escanaba Area High School next year, when she returns from a summer in Spain. We shall look forward to more recitals in the future.

The booth will be located in front of the Groos Drug Store. On July 8 the Episcopal Church Women will meet at Little Lake from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Mrs. LeCaptain To Present Dance Revue

This Thursday, Jeannette LeCaptain will present her annual dance revue beginning at 8 p.m. at the Area High School Auditorium.

A cast of over 100 local dancers will perform in, "The Legend of Tumbleweed," a musical story of song dances and pantomine.

This familiar story brings to life many of the characters of the Old West. Lazy horses meet with an angry hornet and rollicking show girls performs a fiery can-can at the local saloon. The "Corps de Ballet," is a fantasy dream of the hard working western womenfolk.

With a final show-down at the "Last Chance Saloon," the sheriff and his shadows over take the bad guys. This final victory causes a whooped-up hoe-down in true jamboree style.

The students are all members of the Civic Center dance classes instructed by Mrs. LeCaptain and assisting teachers Linda Moras and Connie LeCaptain. Classes will now close for the summer and resume again in the fall.

Staging and props are designed by Dan Weissert and costuming is by Pat Erickson.

Swainson Will Enter Supreme Court Race

By DON HOENSHELL
Panax Staff Writer

LANSING — Former Gov. John B. Swainson will get into the crowded race for the Michigan Supreme Court with only protocol and a record to sustain him.

The headache it will give Democratic delegates is painful even in contemplation.

"It's hard for me to see how a convention can turn down two former governors," said Swainson.

Thus he stated half his case for one of two nominations, with the other going to former Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Early speculation has Williams pairing up with Detroit Recorder's Judge Robert Evans, former Inkster municipal judge and the only black in the running for a Supreme Court seat.

The others going for the Democratic nomination are Appeals Court Chief Judge T. John Lesinski and Circuit Judge John Beer, of Pontiac.

Governor 12 Years

Williams was governor for 12 years and Swainson moved up from the State Senate as his lieutenant governor in 1958, then succeeded him for one two-year term in 1960.

Lesinski, a former House member, was lieutenant governor under Swainson and still holds the record as having the fastest gavel east of the Rockies.

Beer got his first job as a judge by appointment from Williams. Evans is a puzzle, an appointee of Republican Gov. Romney now running for the Democratic nomination for the Supreme Court.

"I think we're going to see a lot happen before the convention," said Swainson, declining to elaborate.

Three of the candidates — Williams, Swainson and Lesinski — were the most vocal partisans the Democrats had during the 1950s and early 1960s. Now they're going for that have been nonpartisan since 1941.

Must Keep Silent

They'll all go before caucuses at the convention carrying their party records like banners, then upon nomination must never utter a partisan word during the campaign.

"I couldn't say, for example, that I'm in favor of or opposed to parochiaid," Swainson said. "It might be before the Supreme Court later."

Williams is a student of the law, a political scrapper and now in his mellowing years has developed a judicial mien. Nostalgia for the Williams Era among Democrats will play a part .

Swainson and Lesinski were both in the new breed of Democratic rockets in their time and their records in office both call up the same sentiments.

Two Of Five

Beer has a good record as a circuit judge and Evans is an unknown outside of his area.

Democrats will be choosing two from the field of five. Former Republican Gov. Harry F. Kelly is retiring from the bench and former Republican Atty. Gen. John R. Dethmers is trying for a second eight-year term.

Both Williams and Swainson imply they have labor support, a power bloc that has been losing some of its steam in recent years.

Lesinski as chief judge of the Court of Appeals since its organization has a brilliant record, first as a House member, as lieutenant governor and in his present position.

About the only status factor left is which of them will get the best suite at the Pantlind Hotel in Grand Rapids.

"I'm going to be there early," said Swainson.

Six Persons Drown In Michigan Lakes

State Police reported six persons drowned in Michigan waters this weekend.

The victims were:

Terry Coger, 33, of Grand Rapids, who drowned Sunday when his fishing boat capsized in 25 feet of water at Murray Lake in Kent County.

Darrell Smith, 12, of Alma, who died in a private pond at Woodland Waters Recreation Area in Bruce Township of Macomb County.

Frank Elisech, 30, of Saginaw, who died Sunday while swimming in the Cass River in Saginaw County.

Mary Ann Brazil, 23, of Chicago, who drowned Saturday in Lake Michigan at Union Pier, near the Indiana border.

Leonard Budnick, 19, of Wurtsmith Air Force Base near Oscoda, who drowned Saturday in East Twin Lake, south of Lewiston in Montmorency County.

Dennis Scott, 20, of Hamtramck, who drowned Saturday in a lake at Oakland County's Stoney Creek Park.

Youth Holds Hopes, Worth Tells Seniors

"Our youth: our heirs, our hopes, our posterity, our main chance of making what greatness and goodness we possess continue and prevail," was the tribute of Jean Worth to 138 graduating seniors of Manistique High School in a commencement address Thursday night.

Worth, of Bay de Noc College, was introduced by Supt. Edwin E. Wuehle.

The retired editor of the Escanaba Daily Press expressed concern for the "technological society and the emotionally troubled" world into which the graduates must adjust, work and live.

"The uncertainties about what may be ahead breed no arrogance of prophecy," he said in contrasting the world of 1922 (the year of his high school graduation) with the "unsettled state of human affairs" in 1970.

"I could not have believed, when I was a boy, that my beloved country could ever become so troubled; that we Americans could be so angry, frustrated and willing to hurt others and to imperil our national security and the future of our children.

"It may not occur to some of us that our young people at the universities have been taught the effective use of muscle and threat by their adults, who have accepted a society where acts done in the name of unionism, or of government, race or some other strong force have special treatment under our laws," he said in reference to "the great causes" of idealism university students are supporting: the war in Vietnam, mistreatment of the Negro and, to a lesser extent, inflation, environmental control and corporate responsibility.

"It is intolerable for us to have our youth in revolt because they are our youth and because they do not like much of what we tolerate in the adult world.

"There is a serious confrontation here which is not well understood," he continued, "and we should fear — worst of all — the war between our youth groups (the university and non-university youths who are dismayed and angered at what they see on the campuses) and not that between youth and the older generation."

He predicted that "this will be our battleground — within the generation and not between the generations."

He challenged the graduates to consider the need for new citizen attitudes to unite society since "the proper fear is that we will solve our problems by force — as the campus radicals are trying to destroy the American Establishment — and that in getting rid of them (our problems) we will get rid of some of our freedoms.

" 'Youth's a stuff will not endure,' " he concluded, quoting Shakespeare, "but we must hope its idealism will endure."

Defense Budget Of $70 Billion Reportedly Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — A spokesman said today the Pentagon is currently planning a fiscal 1972 defense budget totaling somewhat over $70 billion, about $2 billion below the allotment for the year which starts next month.

To do this, the spokesman said, it may be necessary to cut proposed spending by about $6 billion to offset an impending military pay increase and upward thrusting inflationary pressures.

In other words, it appears that the Pentagon will have to cut severely into military manpower strength and the base structure in order to keep defense spending in fiscal 1972 close to the fiscal 1971 level.

The spokesman indicated that new guidance has been received from the White House, designed to assure that defense spending is kept to that approximate level.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird last week spelled out a goal of cutting U.S. uniformed strength by one million men from the Vietnam war peak of 3.5 million.

The administration already has trimmed the number of Americans in service by about 400,000 and the Pentagon spokesman said today it is hoped to reach the 2.5 million level by the end of fiscal 1972. This would mean a further reduction of 600,000 Americans from the armed services rolls over the next two years.

The spokesman said "we would hope that the continuing Vietnamization program will be of some help in reducing major costs."

Guerillas, Jordan Troops In Clash

By The Associated Press

Israeli warplanes pounded Egyptian positions along the Suez Canal for the eighth straight day Sunday and also hit suspected guerrilla bases in southern Lebanon. Meanwhile, fighting erupted between Palestinian guerrillas and Jordanian troops in Jordan.

All Israeli planes returned safely from the air raids, according to the Israelis, although a Cairo spokesman claimed Egyptian antiaircraft fire downed an Israeli Skyhawk.

It was the third straight day of almost incessant bombing along the canal in line with Israel's new policy of "continuous military activity" against Egypt.

The raids against suspected guerrilla hideouts along the slopes of Mt. Hermon in Lebanon were in retaliation for two days of commando attacks, on the border town of Kiryat Shmona, a Tel Aviv spokesman said.

Sault Mayor, Son, Another Man Lost On Fishing Trip

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (AP)—The mayor of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.; his son and another man are missing on a fishing trip in Ontario.

A search is under way for Mayor John Harrington; his son, John, and Vern Coutant Sr., who were last seen on Lake Nipigon, about 400 miles west of here.

Ontario Provincial Police said the three were in one of two boats which started out separately Saturday, carrying fishermen to an island about 30 miles out in the lake.

One boat reached the island but the boat carrying the Harrington party failed to rendezvous with the remainder of the party and was reported missing Sunday, police said.

Police said lake weather conditions were good Saturday and Sunday with no high waves or winds that might have swamped the boat.

Health Insurance Rate Increases Topic At Hearing

LANSING (AP)—Public hearings will be conducted in Detroit and Lansing late this month on rate increases proposed for Michigan Blue Cross and Blue Shield contracts expiring between Oct. 1 and Dec. 31.

If approved by the Michigan Insurance Bureau, the hike would be 53.3 per cent this year in Blue Shield rates for doctors' care. Blue Cross hospitalization rates would be boosted by an accumulated total of 10.3 per cent.

The last-quarter increase for Blue Shield would be 7.7 per cent. Blue Cross is asking a boost of 3.8 per cent.

The first public hearing is scheduled for June 29 at 10 a.m. in the WWJ-TV auditorium, Detroit. A second hearing will be held the following day at 10 a.m. in the state's Seven Story Office Building in Lansing.

School Group Is Organized

SPALDING About 60 citizens from Hermansville, Powers, Spalding, Wilson and the LaBranche area have formed a Committee to Save Our Consolidated School.

One aim of the committee is to take an active part in getting the new school district off to a harmonious start. At the organizational meeting, June 5, plans were discussed for publicity, evaluation of candidates for the forthcoming election, July 20. Facts about millage and milliage needs were also presented.

A discussion also was held concerning action taken by the Interim Board, June 4.

3 Persons Hurt In Cycle Accidents

Three persons were injured in two separate motorcycle accidents over the weekend, according to State Police.

Officers said Ronald Dubord, 25, 411 S. 9th St. Escanaba, was admitted to the St. Francis Hospital for treatment of injuries he received when he lost control of the motorcycle he was operating, and overturned on a curve just north of County Rd. 519 on County Rd. 523.

Dubord was listed in fair condition at the hospital today.

The accident occurred about 8:15 p.m. Saturday, police said.

A second motorcycle accident occurred about 4:40 p.m. Sunday in which Jimmy Myers, 19, and William Myers, 16, both of Rte. 1 Escanaba, received minor injuries and sought their own treatment.

Officers said a dog ran in front of the motorcycle the two youths were riding and Jimmy Myers, operating the motorcycle, was unable to avoid hitting the dog due to one-coming traffic.

Myers was southbound on County Rd. C-15, just south of County Rd. 414, at the time of the accident, police said.

Demonstrators Active In West

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Young demonstrators set small fires at an oft-besieged bank and larger trash fires in surrounding streets early today in the Isla Vista campus community of the University of California at Santa Barbara.

Officers riding in trucks and on foot swept back and forth through the square-mile community and threw scores of tear gas canisters to disperse small groups of youths. The protesters pelted the officers with rocks and other missiles, then fled and regrouped on other streets.

By 3 a.m. most of the demonstrators had dispersed on their own. A squad of about 100 officers holding hard plastic riot shields made a final sweep of the streets. Then most of the officers left.

Sheriff's Capt. Joel Honey said about 15 gasoline bombs were confiscated but he did not elaborate on the circumstances.

For the fourth straight night Sunday, a crowd of chanting youths surged to the Bank of America branch, target of repeated attacks since February by youths who said they were protesting the establishment." About 250 sheriffs deputies and state highway patrol officers dispersed the crowd of about 800 young people and quickly put out small fires on the roof and in the lobby of the one-story prefabricated bank. Damage was minimal.

The original branch building was burned down by protestors last winter.

Deputies reported 29 arrests Sunday night and early today. As with 32 arrests Saturday, most were for failure to disperse and violation of a dusk-to-dawn curfew in force since Saturday night.

Early Losses Cut In Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market climbed higher early this afternoon after erasing small morning losses. Trading remained slow.

At noon the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 7.87 to 702.90, a 1.13 per cent rise, after having been off more than 2 points earlier.

Declines still led advances on the Big Board, but by an increasingly narrow margin.

Brokers attributed the earlier decline to a continuation of the profit taking that led to Friday's sharp decline. Because the downswing came on extraordinarily slow trading, however, investors decided that profit taking was starting to dry up and began some cautious buying, analysts said.

Trading continued light, however, indicating that most traders were still standing on the sidelines, analysts added.

Airlines, oils, metals, motors, rubber issues, mail order-retail, aircraft and electronics were all generally higher. Steels were off, while chemicals and rails were mixed.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was up 0.1 to 241.5, with industrials up 1.2, rails off 0.5, and utilities off 0.2.

Kidney Transplant Patient 'Just Fair'

TORONTO (AP) — Sylvia Gerdink, the 9-year-old Detroit girl who underwent a kidney transplant Friday at the Hospital for Sick Children, was reported Sunday "only in fair condition."

Dr. Martin Barkin, one of two surgeons who performed the transplant, said the kidney "is not functioning." He would not give further details.

The kidney was donated by an unnamed 42-year-old Buffalo woman.

Marijuana Raid Nets 13 Persons

CARO (AP)—Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies arrested 12 men and three women at Murphy Lake in an apparent narcotics raid Sunday night.

Deputies said those arrested were from 18 to 20 years old.

A quantity of marijuana and other substances deputies believed to be narcotics were seized in the raid, officals said.

orary degree, Holt told the assembly he was honored to be present although he did not really approve of the occasion.

Yale Students Cited

Yale President Kingman Brewster Jr. told his university's graduating students they had taught the nation a lesson this year in how to work for social change without disorder.

Referring to last month's May Day demonstrations in New Haven, which were generally peaceful despite fears of violence, he said: "While the greater part of the country merely speculates about and worries about the violence of the extremes, you have known their challenge quite intimately."

Proxmire said in Milton, Wis., that while he believed the President wrong in Cambodia, those who disagree with Nixon's policies must guard against protests which "mindlessly demean and personally attack the President."

Collins Backs President

In North Easton, Mass., former astronaut Collins said the President's decision would save American lives and he predicted that the situation "will be seen in much clearer perspective in three weeks."

Sen. Charles Goodell, R-N.Y., a war critic, told graduates at the State University of New York at Plattsburgh that "I consider myself a patriot, too, and I support the President whenever I can, but the war is not a partisan matter, it is not a political matter."

U.S. Commissioner of Education James E. Allen, speaking at the University of Notre Dame commencement in South Bend, Ind., said "youth has succeeded in getting the attention of a society that has been dangerously complacent and slow to move."

He said "the emerging willingness of youth to work within the political system is the real hope" for preserving and extending democracy."

Student Speaks

For the first time in Notre Dame's 125 year history, a student was allowed to speak at commencement. Senior Class president John F. Crawford said: "If the political system fails now, we can no longer point our fingers at our parents because we are that system."

Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower and Senate Minority Leader Hugh Scott received honorary doctor of law degrees at Gettysburg College commencement in Gettysburg, Pa.

Scott, a Pennsylvania Republican urged "broadening the middle path" to conciliate radical and conservative elements in the nation.

See Communists Gain In Election

ROME (AP) — Italians today were winding up two days of voting for 15 regional legislatures, 115 provincial councils and 6,634 municipal councils. The regional legislatures were being elected for the first time, and the Commmunist party was expected to win control of two or more of them.

Three-fourth of the 36 million eligible voters cast their ballots Sunday and voting was generally calm.

Police found and disarmed a time bomb in Nuoro, Sardinia, before the polls opened Sunday. And an election official in Naples wound up in the hospital after he fought with several persons propagandizing near a polling place in violation of the election law.

Election officials expected to know before Tuesday morning which political parties will control the 15 regional parliaments being created this year.

Foreign Aid Used As CIA Coverup In Laos: Hannah

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S Central Intelligence Agency uses the U.S. foreign aid program as a cover for its operations in Laos, admits U.S. foreign aid chief John A. Hannah.

"Certainly, our preference is to get rid of this kind of operation," Hannah said Sunday, adding that Laos is the only place where the program is used in such a way.

Hannah, administrator of the U.S. Agency for International Development, said he was sure President Nixon would recommend soon that Congress sever intelligence work from overseas economic assistance.

Hannah was questioned on the Metromedia radio program "Profile."

Lenore Romney Campaign Film Scheduled Here

Lenore Romney's campaign for the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate moves into high gear Wednesday, June 10, with a simultaneous preview showing in seven Michigan cities of a 30-minute film entitled "Lenore."

The preview will be at the Terrace Supper Club in Escanaba. A 7 p.m. reception will precede the 8 p.m. showing of the film.

The film will be shown in Washington, D.C. the following evening at a reception for newsmen, Cabinet officers, Republican members of Congress, GOP party officials, and Lenore supporters.

The documentary, which will be an integral part of Lenore's campaign, is a filmed portrait of the candidate and delves into her personal and politcal life.

Loren Blowers Given 30 Days

Loren H. Blowers, 24, of 1309 N. 22nd St., had a big day in District Court before Judge Dean Shipman recently.

Blowers pleaded guilty to driving without a license and was sentenced to 30 days in the Delta County Jail and paid costs of $28.

Later, he pladed guilty to careless driving and received a seven day sentence, pleaded guilty to driving with an expired operators license and received a three day sentence, pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of a property damage accident and received another three day sentence and pleaded guilty to competitive driving and sentenced to three more days.

All of the charges listed above were old charges against him that he had not appeared on and he was arraigned on these charges before Judge Shipman at the same time as he was arraigned on the charge of driving without a license.

All of the lesser sentences will be served concurrently with the 30-day sentence he received for driving without a license.

Collins' Trial Jurist Quizzed

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Attorneys today began the process of challenging jurors who have tentatively been selected to sit on the murder trial of John Norman Collins.

Collins is charged with killing Karen Sue Beineman, 18, of Grand Rapids, whose body was found in a wooded area near Ann Arbor about 10 miles west of Ypsilanti. Her body was battered and had been sexually molested.

Fourteen jurors have been tentatively seated on the jury since jury selection began last Tuesday.

Both defense and prosecuting attorneys are asking for dismissal of certain jury members either by giving a reason or by using a limited number of "preemptory challenges."

Envoking a "preemptory challenge" is a legal procedure by which a juror is dismissed with no stated reason but simply at the request of either side.

Law allows the defense 20 preemptory challenges and limits the prosecution to 15.

Collins' attorneys have asked several times that the trail location be moved out of Ann Arbor, arguing that it is impossible to empanel an impartial jury in this college town because of publicity following the arrest of Collins and events leading up to the trial.

2 Pennsylvania Firms Will Face Pollution Charges

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The State Health Department has brought criminal charges against two large firms which it claimed have polluted state waterways.

Philco-Ford Corp. of Lansdale was charged with discharging industrial wastes into the Towamencin Creek, and Purex Corp. Ltd. of Bristol was accused of discharging pollutants into the Delaware River.

Under the state's clean streams laws, officers of the cited firms, if convicted, could be fined $500 or jailed for 60 days.

Youth Charged With Break-In

Terry L. Dickerson, 18, Rte. 1, Cornell, was arrested and lodged in the Delta County jail on a warrant charging him with breaking and entering of the Flat Rock School, according to State Police.

Officers said Dickerson was arrested Saturday morning for the recent break-in and was scheduled for arraignment in District Court today.

Hospital

Mrs. Tony Turkovich of Kipling is a medical patient at St. Francis Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. (Babe) Gallagher, 1110 2nd Ave. N., Escanaba, have returned from Rochester, Minn., where Mr. Gallagher was a surgical patient at St. Mary's Hospital. He is convalescing at home.

Sen. Scott Quietly Seeking Support To Hold Top Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott is quietly obtaining pledges of support from his GOP colleagues in case of a bid to unseat him as Senate Republican leader next January.

Sources close to the Pennsylvania senator say that as of now he would win votes from 27 of the 43 GOP members, with one more said to be uncertain.

That would give Scott a tighter grip on the leader's spot than last September when he was elected 24 to 19 over Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., following the death of Everett McKinley Dirksen.

Rumbles have persisted that conservative Republican senators, who have always been opposed to Scott, plan to mount a challenge when the 92nd Congress opens in January.

GOP conservatives' ire increased late last year when Scott turned on the President and voted against his Supreme Court nomination of Clement F. Haynsworth.

Airfield Top Prize In Fight

PHNOM PENH (AP) — Cambodian government forces retook the Siem Reap airfield in northwest Cambodia and drove Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces from the center of Kompong Thom, in central Cambodia, a government spokesman said today.

The spokesman said sporadic and confused fighting continued near the famed temple ruins at Angkor, Cambodia's chief tourist attraction six miles north of Siem Reap. Communist forces took the airfirld Sunday morning, but government troops and Cambodian Air Force MIG jets drove them out in the afternoon, the spokesman said.

He reported that the airfield still was not sufficiently secure for planes to land there. Instead reinforcements were being flown to Battambang, 60 miles to the southwest, and then trucked to the battle in vehicles supplied by Communist China before the overthrow of Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

Although there was some fighting near the tourist hotel over the weekend, the center of the town and its main market were unscathed, he said. The last tourists were evacuated last week.

U.S. Diplomat Said Missing In Middle East

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — A spokesman for the left-wing Popular Democratic Front for the Liberation of Palestine said today his men had kidnapped the first secretary of the U.S. Embassy here.

The spokesman, code-named Abou el Fida, would not give the name of the kidnaped diplomat. The State Department in Washington identified him as the political officer of the embassy, Morris Draper.

Informants said Draper apparently will be detained until Jordanian authorities release a number of guerrillas arrested after violent clashes with Jordanian troops Sunday.

Draper, 42, is a native of California who joined the State Department in 1957 and has had a series of Middle Eastern assignments.

The acting head of the embassy and deputy chief of mission, Harry I. Odell, has reported to the State Department there is some indication from the Jordanian government that the apparently kidnapped diplomat may be released soon.

Authorities in Washington provided basic facts about the incident but the State Department declined any kind of official disclosure comment for the time being.

Draper was assigned to Amman in 1968 and is head of the political section of the embassy there. He speaks French and Arabic. He is a graduate of the University of Southern California.

Beach Closed, Parents Told

The city recreation department today warned parents that the Municipal Bathing Beach is officially closed and that anyone swimming at the beach is doing so at their own risk.

Parents were urged to instruct youngsters that there are no lifeguards on duty at the beach.

The beach, weather permitting, is expected to open about June 15.

ED PROVO of Escanaba stands by his stock car after he gave the crowd of 2,590 a few anxious moments in the main feature Saturday night at the U.P. Fair Grounds. Provo went flying off the track at the end of the modified feature, when his throttle stuck and went crashing through the safety fences. He luckily escaped serious injury. (Daily Press Photo)

Large Racing Crowd Enjoys Evening Of Thrills, Spills

By DON HOWES

The theme was Stock Car Racing and it's title, "an evening of thrills and spills," as the fourth week of racing got under way at the U.P. State Fair Grounds Saturday night.

The drivers put on a great show to give the largest crowd of the year a few anxious moments, by showing their driving skills, close finishes in the feature races and when Ed Provo went flying off the track and smashed through the fences with his throttle wide open.

Bob Iverson of Hyde captured the modified feature race while Joe Haferkorn of Norway, who has the most wins on the track this year, won the Sportsman feature.

Modified Feature

Iverson, the defending modified champion, won the exciting feature which was delayed by only four restarts. John O'Reily jumped into an early lead and held it for six laps before hooking onto Iverson's back bumper and forced him off the track. At that point the crackup caused a restart and with O'Reily being disqualified, Iverson shot into the lead. He manager to maintain his number one position even though two other restarts brought his brother, Ken, and Ed Prowley of Soo, Canada closer. At the finish the veteran driver was out in front by several car lengths over Prowley, who nipped Ken Iverson in a real close finish for second place. Iverson, driving the only Rambler modified on the track, finished in third.

Smaches Into Wall

At the end of the furious race, Provo brought the crowd to their feet when he went flying off the end of the race track. He tore through a wire safety fence and an aluminum fence surrounding the track. With the fence and wooden posts flying, Provo ended far outside the race track. The crowd of 2,590 breathed a sigh of relief when he walked away from the accident uninjured.

Richer Wins

Don Benoit of Escanaba was the only double winner for the evening in the modified class by winning the semi-feature and the first heat. In the semi-feature Joe Wurth of Menominee was in the lead for three-quarters of the race when he had the misfortune of a broken axle which forced him out of the race. Benoit, was was running second and who could not pass Wurth until the accident, moved into the number one spot and won easily over Richard Lombardi of Escanaba and Tom Challier. In the first heat Rick Pepin of Escanaba was in the lead for the first nine laps when Benoit squeezed by him on the third corner of the ninth lap and beat Pepin to the finish line.

In the second modified heat of the evening Angue McDonald of Soo, Canada took the lead in the third lap with Jerry Richer of Schaffer tight on his tail until the eleventh lap when Richer, on the fourth curve, overpowered McDonald and won by a car length to pick up his second victory of the young season.

Ed Prowley captured the third heat in the modifieds in a race that was close for twelve laps. The number two driver worked hard for the victory battling Bob Derouin throughout the race. Prowler finally spurted away from Derouin on the tenth lap to pick up the victory. Herb Iverson of Hyde, who had a hard time throughout the race, finally passed Bob Hengesh and Derouin on the last lap to clinch second place. Prowley also captured time trial honors for the first time this year with a clocking of :21.13.

Haferkorn Wins Again

The sportsman show was again Haferkorn's, the Norway native, in two rough and tough races, who captured the feature and third heat.

Ron Paquette of Kingsford jumped off to an early lead and led for the first fourteen laps of the feature, but car trouble and a restart on lap fourteen enabled Haferkorn to take control of the lead and outrun John O'Palka of Hermansville and Ken Viau of Escanaba to the finish line. Bill Peterson, the top sportsman driver, was forced out on the twelvth lap due to a smashup.

In the third heat, Haferkorn took an early lead and again beat O'Palka to the finish line with Wennel Tourangeau of Schaffer settling for third.

In the first heat, Jim Hansen of Norway passed Duane Hamelin of Escanaba on lap nine to post his first win of the year. Hansen was also a double winner capturing the semi-feature, when he passed Paul Smith of Sands in the number four corner on the last lap for the victory.

The second heat saw a restart on lap two and Paquette moved from fourth place to first in the first corner to take the lead and won easily over Ron Fox of Escanaba.

Billy Peterson of Escanaba captured time trial honors with clocking of 22:25 while Wennel Tourangeau came in a close second with a 22:52.

In the trophy dash just before the start of the race, the top six qualifiers in the time trials battled for the covenant award. Larry Dufour of Kingsford took an early lead and ran away from the pack to claim the victory.

Paper Mill vs. Michigan Hotel

Flat Rock, behind Bill Smith's pitching and hitting, sent the Escanaba Merchants down to their first defeat of the softball season Sunday by turning them back in eight innings, 4-3.

Smith took the mound duel over Tony Derkos. Smith's homer in the extra inning was the key blow. Each club accumulated eight hits in the game which saw Flat Rock take over first place with a 4-0 mark. Merchants are now 3-1 on the season.

In other softball action Sunday, the Independents outlasted the Michigan Hotel in a free-swinging contest, 14-13. Ken Robitaille and brother Lee had two hits each for the winners. Dale Demars picked up a couple of safeties for the losers.

Lenny Smith picked up the victory while Jack Picard took the loss for the Hotelmen.

Rick Lancour hurled Mead to a 9-5 win over Jolly Rogers, 9-5, in another Sunday game. Jug Bordeau was on the losing end. Lancour aided his own cause with a home run blast in the opening stanza. Mike Skrupski went three-for-four for the Papermakers.

The only game on tap tonight finds Mead facing the Michigan Hotel at 6:30.

A revised schedule will be posted Tuesday.

Hot Shot Ready For NHL Draft

MONTREAL (AP) — Punch Imlach, general manager of the fledgling Buffalo Sabres in the expanded National Hockey League, says he will try to pick up highly rated Gilbert Perreault in the NHL's amateur draft Thursday.

Perreault, team captain of the Montreal Junior Canadiens in their drive to the national junior hockey championship last season, is rated the No. 1 draft choice by most NHL scouts.

In an interview Sunday, the fiery former coach of the Toronto Maple Leafs also said the club would ask that the toss to get first pick in both the amateur and expansion drafts be held earlier than scheduled in the two-day annual league meetings opening today.

The loser of the toss will have first pick of goalies and Imlach suggests that it be moved up so the teams can plan strategy for Wednesday's expansion and Thursday's amateur drafts.

The Vancouver Canucks, the other new NHL entry, and Buffalo are expected to finish with considerably less quality for considerable more money than their 1967 predecessors. Each will pay $6,000,000 for the privilege of bringing the NHL to a 14-team, two-division league.

The price is three times what it cost St. Louis, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Minnesota, Oakland and Los Angeles for membership three years ago.

In the expansion draft then, each of the six existing clubs protected 11 skaters and one goaltender while this time around each of the 12 clubs can protect 15 skaters plus two goaltenders.

Tuesday, the day before the expansion draft, the NHL will hold its annual intra-league draft in which they protect 18 players with all goalies, first-year pros and amateurs under 22 years old Dec. 31, 1970 exempt.

The club pick, at $30,000 a choice, from each other starting with Los Angeles followed by Toronto, Philadelphia, Montreal, Oakland, Minnesota, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, New York, Detroit, Boston and Chicago.

The two new teams will not be allowed to trade their first and second amateur choices for at least three years.

Eastern Wins National Meet

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP) —Although it won first place only in the hammer throw, Eastern Michigan rolled up enough points with second and third place finishes to win the championship in the weekend track and field meet of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA).

Eastern amassed 74 points to 50 for runner-up Texas Southern. Prairie View (Tex.) A. & M., the two-time defending champion, was third with 44 points. Ferris State of Michigan tied for 11th with 18 points.

Ferris State's Corey Bouyer broke one of the two NAIA records shattered in the meet, upsetting heavily favored T.C. Minor of Prairie View in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles.

Bouyer's time of 50.9 was a tenth of a second off the NAIA mark set in 1967 by Jesse Ball of Prairie View.

Bouyer placed second in the 120-yard high hurdles with a time of 13.9.

The other record broken was in the pole vault, where Eastern Washington State's Curt Hisaw cleared 16 feet 3¾ inches, breaking the record of 16 feet 1¼ inches he set in 1969.

Eastern Michigan's first-place finish in the hammer throw came from John Smiley, who had a toss of 162 feet 8 inches, beating teammate John Grayson's second-place throw of 161-9.

Eastern had three second-place finishes and five thirds and had competitors among the top six three other times.

Eastern's Eugene Thomas was second in the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes, Dave Ellis was fourth in the 6-mile run, Alphonse Ruffner fourth in the 3,000-meter steeplechase, William Tipton third in the 120-yard high hurdles, Ian Hall third in the 440-yard dash, Eric Nesbitt fifth in the 880, James Grant third in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles, David Ellis third in the 3-mile run, and Eastern's mile relay team finished third in that event.

Van Effen, Eis Jr. Snare Best-Ball Golf Event

By DON HOWES

GLADSTONE — Harold VanEffen and Bill Eis Jr., of the Escanaba Country Club, fighting an uphill battle most of the way, emerged as champions of the Fourth Annual Gladstone Golf Club Best-Ball Tournament played here over the weekend.

VanEffen and Eis, both former Country Club men's champions, teamed up to shoot a three-under par 67 in the qualifing rounds on Saturday and followed their opening day score of four-under par 66 on Sunday to win the tourney with a 133 total.

The 1968 Best-Ball champions, Jack Smith and Jerry Martin of the Escanaba Highland Club, finished a close second with a 66 in the qualifing rounds and a 69 on Sunday to finish the tourney with a score of 135.

Defending champions Ken Hruska and Paul Specker of Marquette finished third by firing a low 65 in the qualifying rounds and a 73 over the final 18 holes to finish the rugged event with a 138 total.

Others placing in the championship filght were Morton Gingrass and Clark Lambros of Marquette fourth with a 140; Warren Farley and Don Clemenson, Ishpeming, 140; Bill Wood and Pete Peterson of the Gladstone Club sixth with a 141 and also tied for sixth were Jim Douglas and Mel Manske of the Highland Club.

Gingrass scored an eagle three in the championship flight for the only one in the tournament.

The tournament had 152 entries, the largest in the four-year history of the event.

Other flight winners were as follows:

First Flight — 1, Hill and Nelson; 2, Rutledge and Nettle; 3, Manning and Douglas.

Second Flight — 1, Butch and Peterson; 2, Thomsen and Mallgren; 3, Tucker and Tormala.

Third Flight — 1, Larson and Jones; 2, Kelly and Nelson; 3, Cole and Bratonia.

Fourth Flight — 1, Magoon and Hernandez; 2, Pratt and Freits; 3, Hill and Specker.

Fifth Flight — 1, Hanks and Fredd 2, Haapala and Jorge; 3, Soli and Lindeman.

Sixth Flight — 1, Kilberg and Clark; 2, Coulter and Harwood; 3, Koth and Manning.

Seventh Flight — 1, Hoehn and Altese 2, Waakori and Thurston; 3, Hughes and Kostinan.

Eighth Flight — 1, Myllya and Kivela; 2, Saio and Caddwell 3, Ellison and Ebbesen.

High Echelon Stakes Winner

NEW YORK (AP) — Trainer John Jacobs lost his ace for the Belmont Stakes, but he still had a trump card and John L. Rotz played it perfectly.

The ace—Personality—missed Saturday's Belmont because of a cough, but the trump card—High Echelon—won the pot from nine rivals for Jacobs and his mother, Ethel, who owns the two colts.

"I lost my ace but had a lot of faith in High Echelon," Jacobs said after High Echelon vindicated that faith by beating Thomas F. Fleming's Needles N Pens by three-quarters of a length after a perfect ride by Rotz.

High Echelon, winless in nine previous starts, not only picked up the winning knack from his Preakness-winning stablemate, he also apparently contracted Personality's ailment.

Personality, who followed his Wood Memorial victory with a disappointing eighth in the Kentucky Derby but then won the Preakness and Jersey Derby, developed a nasal discharge Wednesday and then a cough Thursday night. Jacobs entered him in the Belmont Friday morning, then declared him out later in the day.

High Echelon showed no signs of a cold until Sunday when Jacobs said he noticed a slight nasal discharge and added, "this is the way Personality started."

Little League Title Won By V.F.W. Nine

V.F.W. won the first half championship of the Escanaba Jaycee Little League Friday night on a 5 to 2 victory over the Bankers behind the steady pitching of Jeff Abrahamson. However, it will be a new ball game tomorrow night when the Eagles visit Kiwanis to start the second half.

V.F.W., first half champs will get their second half baptismal Wednesday when they face the right handed slants of Kevin Cutler. Don Ohman's heavy hitting Vets will start either Glen Beauvais or Abrahamson, both pitchers are undefeated.

In Saturday night action, V.F.W. introduced their third rookies pitcher, and ten year old Chip Olson did a commendable job although he dropped a 6 to 4 decision to Cliff Stratton and the Eagles. Meanwhile, Rotary lost their sixth straight game when they ran into the sharp one hit pitching of Mark Beveridge in a 2 to 0 loss to Kiwanis. Not since 1951, when Rotary finished with a 16 to 2 record have they botten off to such an inauspicious start. However, Tuesday night all teams start even with at least four teams ready to challenge V.F.W. for the second half flag.

Montreal Comes Alive; Clobbers Braves 10-1

By The Associated Press

When Gene Mauch, the thinking man's manager, called a clubhouse meeting Friday night, his Montreal Expos weren't contemplating much of anything . . . except maybe suicide.

The Expos had lost 11 straight games when they sneaked into Atlanta to begin a three-games series with the red-hot Braves.

When the Expos skipped town Sunday, following a 10-1 rout for a series sweep, it was the five teams trailing the runaway Cincinnati Reds in the National League West who were left for dead.

The Reds poured it on the New York Mets 10-2 and opened a nine-game bulge over Atlanta. Los Angeles, beaten by Pittsburgh 3-1, is 9½ games back. In other NL action, the Chicago Cubs slugged San Francisco 8-4, St. Louis rallied to beat San Diego 10-7 and Philadelphia drubbed Houston 10-3.

"We expected to be splattered on the wall," said pitcher Carl Morton of Mauch's get-together, perhaps remembering the manager's famous spare rib-barbecue sauce performance in Houston while his Philadelphia Phillies were in the process of blowing the 1964 flag.

"But Gene just talked baseball to us," Morton continued. He told us to play aggressively and that we could win if we thought we could win, but that we would keep losing if we thought we would lose. He relaxed the whole team. You could tell the difference as soon as we left the clubhouse."

Bob Bailey socked two homers and Coco Laboy one as the Expos lashed out 15 hits in support of Morton's 10-hit pitching. The Braves' only run was unearned as the rookie right-hander boosted his record to 5-3. Morton, an ex-outfielder in the Braves' farm system, helped his own cause with two singles.

"Paul Richard, (Braves' vice president, decided to make me a pitcher on the spring of 1967," Morton recalled. "He told me, 'You're a pitcher.' That's all there was to it. There was no discussion. But I sure can't complain. I was struggling as an outfielder. I couldn't hit the slider, so I decided to join them and throw it."

Not only did the Expos batter the Atlanta pitching for 25 runs and 33 hits in the series, but their own hurlers limited Rico Carty to two hits in 11 trips, dropping his average to .420.

Cincinnati rookie Wayne Simpson breezed to his eighth victory in nine decisions as Bench drilled a three-run homer. May a solo shot and Perez a two-run triple. The Mets lost their fifth straight game and slid to fourth place in the NL East.

The Cubs cloutde five home runs to beat the Giants and maintain their four-game lead over Pittsburgh in the East Division. Billy Williams snapped a 4-4 tie with a seventh-inning single and Jim Hickman followed with a homer. Johnny Callison, Williams and Jackie Hiatt all homered for the Cubs in the fourth and Cleo James hit one out in the eighth.

Willie Mays, Dick Dietz and Alan Gallagher connected for the Giants.

The Pirates turned back the Dodgers on little Freddie Patek's two-run triple in the fifth and big Bob Veale's four-hit pitching. Patek's triple broke a scoreless tie and followed a single by Bob Robertson and Manny Sanguillen's double. Patek later scored on a single by Matty Alou.

The Cardinals climbed past the Mets into third place with a seven-run explosion in the seventh inning. Trailing 7-1, the Cards got two in the sixth on Ted Simmons' first major league homer.

Vic Davalillo began the big seventh with a pinch single and Lou Brock and Jose Cardenal also singled for the first run. After Richie Allen walked, Joe Torre doubled and Simmons singled home the tying run. With two out, Leron Lee stroked a two-run pinch double and Davalillo closed out the inning with a run-scoring single.

Byron Browne belted a homer and a two-run triple and Deron Johnson crashed a three-run homer as the Phils handed Houston's Larry Dierker, on a weekend pass from Army duty, his fourth consecutive loss.

Saturday - Teamsters Local 328 at Mead at 10 a.m.; U.A.W. 632 at Escanaba Banks at 1 p.m.; Clinic for 14 and 15 year olds at 3 p.m. (All other games as scheduled)

Babe Ruth Play Opened Saturday

Saturday marked the official opening of the Escanaba Babe Ruth league with all six teams in action. UAW, Teamsters and Kiwanis all merged with opening game victories

Rookie Matt Smith went all the way to pick up UAW's first victory in two seasons, 16-8 over Mead Paper, striking out six and walking seven and giving up just four hits.

Jim Thorbjornsen was the hitting star for UAW-CIO with two hits, one a double. Matt Smith, Dave Nelson, Bob Smith, Brian Baum, Brian Douglas and Bob Dupont all had one hit.

Matt Smith and Dave Nelson each scored three runs and Matt Smith stole seven of UAW's 27 stolen bases.

Mead scored six of its runs in the third inning, highlighted by a bases loaded triple by Mike Sankovich.

Jim Koehler took the loss for Mead.

Kiwanis had a field day in turning back Insurance 12-4 as Mike Dailey went the distance, giving up six hits, while Kiwanis picked up 11 hits off Wayne Schwalbach and Jim Moberg of Insurance with Schwalbach taking the defeat.

Daily also had a big day at the plate collecting four hits, a single, two doubles and a triple in five trips. Rick Belanger had two hits to also help pace the Kiwanis nine to victory. Jim Moberg picked up two hits to pace the Insurance team. Dailey in gaining the mound victory had 13 strikeouts while Schwalbach and Moberg combined for 10 strikeouts.

Teamsters only got seven hits off Dave Fassbender, the Bankers' pitcher but scored 8 runs to nip the Bankers 8-5 in the night cap. Tom Ritter went the distance for the mound victory and also led his team at the plate with a single and a double. Steve Billand also had two hits for the Teamsters.

Richard Mickitinick and Jeff Mcluskey paced the Bankers with two singles.

ORDINANCE NO. 548

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND SECTION 8 OF ORDINANCE NO. 214, DULY ADOPTED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF ESCANABA, COUNTY OF DELTA, MICHIGAN, ON MARCH 1, 1951, ENTITLED:

AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING THE ISSUANCE OF $900,000 WATER REVENUE BONDS, SERIES 1951 OF THE CITY OF ESCANABA, FIXING THE DETAILS OF SUCH BONDS, PROVIDING FOR THE SALE THEREOF, MAKING PROVISION FOR THE SECURITY AND PAYMENT OF SUCH BONDS, AND ENTERING INTO CERTAIN COVENANTS AND AGREEMENTS IN THAT CONNECTION.

THE CITY OF ESCANABA ORDAINS:

Section 1. Section 8 of Ordinance No. 214, adopted by the City Council of the City of Escanaba, County of Delta, Michigan, on March 1, 1951, is hereby amended to provide as follows:

Section 8. That from and after the issuance of any of the bonds all income and revenues of every nature derived from the operation of the system are hereby pledged for the purpose of the following funds and shall be set aside as collected into a Receiving Fund and transferred therefrom periodically and at the times hereinafter specified into the following special funds.

(a) Operation and Maintenance Fund. Out of the revenues in the Receiving Fund there shall be first set aside during each operating year the operating year for the purpose of this ordinance being the 12 months commencing on July 1 of each year and ending on June 30 of the following year) amounts sufficient to provide for the payment of all current expenses of administration and operation of the system and such current expenses for the maintenance thereof as may be necessary to preserve the system in good repair and working order. The tranfers made pursuant to this paragraph shall be made on the first day of each month of each operating year and shall be in an amount estimated to be sufficient to provide for all expenses which will be payable out of the Operation and Maintenance Fund during such month. If by reason of an under estimate, the amount so transferred on the first day of any month shall prove to be insufficient, additional money may be transferred from the Receiving Fund during the month.

(b) Bond and Interest Redemption Fund. From the remaining revenues in the Receiving Fund not required to be set aside in each operating year for operation and maintenance as shown provided, there shall next be set aside into a fund to be known as the "Bond and Interest Redemption Fund," such amount as will be fully sufficient to pay all principal and interest falling due on January 1 of such operating year and on July 1 of the next succeeding operating year on all bonds and obligations payable therefrom, including both the bonds and the future bonds. Payments into such fund shall be made monthly from the Receiving Fund on the 10th day of each month to the Chicago paying agent above named, and shall be made, as nearly as possible, in proportioned installments so that each monthly payment will constitute, as nearly as may be, one-twelfth of the entire amount required to be so paid into the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund in such operating year. In addition, there shall be paid into such fund all accured interest received from the purchaser of the bonds.

There is hereby established in the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund for the benefit of the bonds and the future bonds a separate account to be known as the "Reserve Account" into which there shall be paid at the end of each operating year all money in the Receiving Fund not hereinabove required to be paid into the Operation and Maintenance Fund and into the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund until such time as there has been accumulated in said Reserve Account the sum of $50,000. Payments so made into the Reserve Account shall be made in the minimum amount of $5,000 in the operating year ending June 30, 1951; $20,000 in the operating year ending June 30, 1952; and $25,000 in the operating year ending June 30, 1953. Money shall be taken from the Reserve Account to pay principal of and interest on bonds as to which there would otherwise be default, and all sums so taken from the Reserve Account shall be restored from the first money thereafter available in the Receiving Fund and not required to be paid into the Operation and Maintenance Fund and the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund. The money in the Reserve Account shall not be regarded as moneys otherwise appropriated or pledged for the purpose of determining the sufficiency of funds available for the redemption of callable bonds.

(c) Replacement Fund. From the remaining revenues in the Receiving Fund in each operating year after the payments above required to be made have been made and after all deficits which may exist in payments from previous years have been remedied, there shall next be set aside into a fund to be known as the "Replacement Fund" from the money remaining in the Receiving Fund at the end of each operating year in the sum of $2,500 in each of the operating years ending June 30, 1951, and June 30, 1952, and $5,000 annually thereafter until there shall have been accumulated in such fund the sum of $35,000. Thereafter there shall be so placed in said fund such sum in each year as may be necessary to replace any payments made therefrom, in order that after there has been accumulated in said fund the sum of $35,000, the fund may be maintained at that level. The money in the fund shall be used solely for the purpose of making major repairs and replacements or extensions and improvements to the system for which the money in the Operation and Maintenance Fund is not sufficient.

(d) Surplus. All moneys remaining in the Receiving Fund at the end of each operating year after all payments hereinabove required to be made from such fund have been made and after all deficits which may exist from previous years have been remedied shall be deemed to be surplus and shall be used for the purpose of paying contractual obligations of the City to the County of Delta incurred in connection with financing additional water supply and distribution facilities under the provisions of Act 185, Public Acts of 1957, as amended, or any other applicable statute. To the extent not so used, such surplus moneys may be used for any other lawful purpose, including, but not by way of limitation, the making of extensions, additions and improvements to the system, the payment of contractual obligations of the City to the County of Delta in connection with the financing of sewage treatment and disposal facilities under the provisions of Act 185, Public Acts of 1957, as amended, or any other applicable statute, or the retirement through purchase or redemption of bonds payable from the revenues of the system.

In the event that moneys in the Receiving Fund are at any time insufficient to provide for the current requirements of the Operation and Maintenance Fund or the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund, any moneys and securities then in the Replacement Fund shall be transferred first to the Operation Maintenance Fund and second to the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund to the extent necessary to make up any deficits therein, but all moneys so transferred from the Replacement Fund shall be reimbursed to said fund from the first available moneys in the Receiving Fund not required to be paid into the Operation and Maintenance Fund and Bond and Interest Redemption Fund under the foregoing provisions of this Section.

The City Treasurer, Escanaba, Michigan, is hereby designated as custodian of the revenues for the purposes of this ordinance, except that the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund shall be held by the Chicago paying agent as above provided. The money in said funds shall be held in the manner required by the laws of Michigan pertinent thereto. The money held in the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund, including the money held therein as a reserve, shall be held as a trust fund to be used solely for the purpose of paying principal of and interest and redemption premiums on the bonds payable therefrom.

Money in the funds hereinabove established, except the Receiving Fund and the Operation and Maintenance Fund, and except money in the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund which is being accumulated for the payment of the next maturing principal and interest, may at the request of the Council be invested in direct obligations of the United States of America. All such obligations shall be kept on deposit in the bank having on deposit the fund from which the purchase is made and shall be assigned to the proper fund and shall be [illegible] from time to time at prevailing market prices as the proceeds thereof may be needed for the purposes for which such fund is herein established.

Section 2. All ordinances, resolutions or orders or parts thereof in conflict with the provisions of this Ordinance are to the extent of such conflict hereby repealed.

Section 3. This Ordinance shall be published in full in the Escanaba Daily Press, a newspaper of general circulation in the City of Escanaba, Michigan, within one week after its passage and shall be recorded in the Ordinance Book of the City and such recording shall be authenticated by the signatures of the Mayor and City Clerk.

Section 4. This Ordinance shall become effective immediately upon its passage.

I hereby certify that the attached constitutes a true and complete copy of Ordinance No. 548, duly adopted by the City Council of the City of Escanaba, County of Delta, Michigan, at a regular Meeting held on the 4th day of June, 1970, at which all Councilmen were present except Albin S. Pearson Jr.

I further certify that Councilman Cecil Chase moved adoption of said Ordinance and that Councilman Richadd Pryal supported said motion.

I further certify that the following Councilmen voted for adoption of said Ordinance Councilmen Chase, Pryal, Bink and Mayor Ronald DeVos and that the following Councilmen voted against adoption of said Ordinance none.

I further certify that said Ordinance has been recorded in the Minute Book of the City and such recording has been authenticated by the signatures of the Mayor and City Clerk.

I, Donald J. Guindon, Clerk of the City of Escanaba, Michigan, do hereby certify that the above and foregoing ordinance was duly passed and adopted at a meeting of the City Council held on June 4, 1970.

Rigney Back To Old Tricks As Twins Triumph

By The Associated Press

Bill Rigney has been a major league manager for 15 seasons now and to stick around that long, you know the guy has to have a gimmick.

Pinch hitters who deliver? A good trick, yet there's nothing awfully special about that. But pinch hitters, who deliver while swinging for other pinch hitters? Now there's a gimmick.

Rigney pulled that one off twice Sunday and the double strategy coup moved Minnesota to a 10-9 victory over Washington in 11 innings.

Elsewhere in the American League, Baltimore trimmed Milwaukee 7-6, Chicago edged New York 4-1 in 12 innings, Cleveland downed California 6-4, Oakland dropped Detroit 5-2 and Boston swept a doubleheader from Kansas City 7-4 and 5-2.

The Twins and Senators were tied at 3-3 in the sixth inning when Rigney started spinning some magic. Minnesota had the bases loaded and Bob Allison, a right-handed pinch hitter, swinging against lefty George Brunet.

Washington Manager Ted Williams called in righty Dick Bosman and Rigney countered with left-handed Rich Reese to swing for Allison. Reese, the pinch hitter for the pinch hitter, naturally cracked a grand slam homer.

The Senators pecked away at the lead and finally tied the score in the ninth. Two innings later, three straight singles by Leo Cardenas, Harmon Killebrew and Tony Oliva had put Minnesota in front at 8-7. Again Rigney used a pinch hitter for a pinch hitter to counter a pitching change and Charley Manuel delivered a single to keep the rally going. Jim Holt followed with a two-run single.

Minnesota needed the insurance when Frank Howard doubled two runs across in the bottom of the 11th. But the rally fell short and Rigney, his ouija board intact, slipped out of town.

Baltimore used home runs by Frank Robinson, Boog Powell and Merv Rettenmund to beat Milwaukee. Eddie Watt bailed Mike Cuellar out of an eighth inning jam after Phil Roof's three-run pinch homer had pulled the Brewers to within a run.

Robinson and Powell powered consecutive shots in the fourth wiping out an early Milwaukee lead.

Tom McCraw, who had tagged a two-run homer earlier, doubled in the 12th inning and came on to score Chicago's winning run against New York as the White Sox ended a five-game Yankee winning streak.

Bobby Knoop followed McCraw's hit with an infield single and when Horace Clarke let the ball get away for an error, McCraw scored. A bat day promotion attracted 65,880 fans—biggest crowd in the majors in five years.

Rookie Jack Heidemann's bases-loaded double in the eighth inning snapped a 2-2 tie and then Fred Lasher came out of the bullpen to get the last out as Cleveland topped California 6-4.

Rookie Rich Hand pitched 8 2-3 innings, striking out nine before being knocked out by Ken McMullen's ninth inning homer. Jim Fregosi had two homers for the Angels.

Tony Conigliaro tagged three hits and drove in three runs as the Red Sox knocked off Kansas City in the opener of their doubleheader. Pitcher Ken Brett homered for Boston while Pat Kelly and Jack Hernandez had a pair of two-run shots for the Royals.

Rico Petrocelli's two-out, eighth inning grand slam won the nightcap, extending the Red Sox' winning streak to five games and Kansas City's losing streak to six.

Oakland Upends Tigers With Late Inning Surge

DETROIT (AP)— The Detroit Tigers have today and the better part of tomorrow to reflect on the old saw, "closeness doesn't count."

They should know it, with a vengance.

It was the top of the ninth Sunday and the Tigers were leading Oakland 2-1. Pitcher Mickey Lolich had been strong and it looked like a winner.

Then a rookie, Joe Rudi, managed to get off duty at a Naval Air Station in nearby Alameda soon enough to rush to Oakland's clubhouse, change clothes, and get onto the field.

Oakland's Frank Fernandez had homered to tie the score, Rick Monday had walked and Dick Green had gotten on base on an error.

Then Rudi stepped up, fouled twice, and sheared one over the leftfield fence to deliver the Tigers a 5-2 defeat.

Willie Horton homered for the Tigers in the second inning and Dick McAuliffe skidded across the plate in the fifth on a wild pitch.

But it wasn't enough and the Tigers racked up their fifth loss in nine games to wind up their Western road trip.

They are now in 4th place in the American League East Division with 24 wins and 26 losses That is ten games behind first place Baltimore, right where they were when they left home last week.

The Tigers face Milwaukee, the worst of the West Division with 16 wind and 36 losses, Tuesday night in Tiger Stadium for the first game in a three-game series.

One person Oakland wants to be sure and take along on an upcoming nine-game road trip is Rudi, whose notoriety had been more in playing for teams like Dubuque, Modesto and Wytheville.

"My bag was already packed for the road trip," Rudi said.

"The equipment man went to the dugout and asked the manager if I should get in uniform, and he said I should."

"I was supposed to sacrifice to get the runner to third base," he said. Rudi popped the first pitch foul behind the plate, It fell inches beyond the reach of Tiger catcher Bill Freehan. Rudi bunted foul again, then was given the "hit" sign.

"It was the biggest homer I ever hit," the excited Rudi said.

Manager John McNamara indicated Rudi will be in the starting lineup against the Cleveland Indians Tuesday night.

He had taken over in the outfield for slump-ridden Reggie Jackson a week ago. Jackson started both Saturday and Sunday games but did not hit well enough to win the job back.

Paul Lindblad, 2-0, the fifth Oakland pitcher of the game, was the winner, although he pitched to only one batter.

"You get a few like that, and there are other times when you pitch several innings and don't have anything to show for it," Lindblad said.

Lolich, 6-6, had given up only an unearned run and six hits before the ninth inning.

Jim Hunter, John Odom and Chuck Dobson will be the Oakland pitchers in the series with Cleveland.

Lotz Convinced; Kemper Winner

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Winning, says Dick Lotz, begets winning.

"It was awfully important to me, winning at Alameda," he said. "I started getting paired with four winners and I could see what they did, how they did it, and convinced myself I could play as well as they did.

"Then at Monsanto, well, that gave me confidence.

"It gave me the winning attitude."

The 27-year-old Lotz, a pleasant, thoughtful, soft-spoken young Californian, was a virtual unknown until he won the $150,000 Monsanto Open golf tournament two months ago.

He added the title in the Kemper Open to that crown Sunday, became only the third double winner on the pro golf tour this year and vaulted into second place on the money winning list at almost $106,000.

He came from one stroke off the pace with a one-under-par 71 for 278, 10 under par on the 7,231-yard Quail Hollow Country Club course, and overhauled faltering Lou Graham, the leader through the second and third rounds.

"I just donated it," said Graham, who struggled home with a 74 for 280. He was tied at that figure, two strokes off the pace, with Tom Weiskopf, who had a sparkling 66, and Larry Hinson and Grier Jones, who had 72s.

Dan Sikes, 70, Bob Lunn, 71, Steve Reid, 73, and Lionel Hebert, 74, were tied at 281. Rod Funseth, 70, was alone at 282 and Arnold Palmer, who had a final 71, topped the group at 283.

"I didn't think a 71 would do it," said Lotz, now in his seventh year on the tour. "I'm just glad nobody behind me shot a really hot round."

They didn't. The grinding pressure of the chase for $30,000 took its toll—even on Lotz a little.

He went in front to stay with a 55-foot monster putt on the 11th hole, then three-putted the 13th. But he bounced back with a 12-foot birdie putt on the 14th, then bogeyed the 16th from a trap.

"I guess I was choking a little," he said. But Graham also bogeyed and the lead remained at two strokes. Lotz parred in. He had moved into a share of the lead with a 15-foot birdie putt on the ninth hole.

Drama Series, Weekly Story Given 3 Emmys

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A doctor drama series, "Marcus Welby, M.D.," and a weekly schoolroom story, "Room 222" have won the most 1970 Emmys—three apiece.

A canceled series, "My World and Welcome to It," and its star William Windom won in the comedy category in Sunday night's television academy awards.

And a twice-canceled series, "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir," brought a second Emmy to star Hope Lange. Recently canceled by ABC, the show was dropped by NBC last year, when Miss Lange was similarly honored.

Veteran actors Robert Young and Peter Ustinov each received a third Emmy award.

Young won as the general practitioner in "Marcus Welby, M.D.," picked as the outstanding dramatic series. James Brolin, who plays his assistant, was named best supporting actor.

Ustinov's third Emmy was for his performance as a Jewish merchant who provides a home for a black youth from a slum neighborhood in "A Storm in Summer." The show was picked as the outstanding single dramatic program.

The 22nd awards of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences were telecast from the Century Plaza Hotel in Los Angeles and Carnegie Hall in New York.

Dick Cavett, host in New York, set the tone for an evening of emotion, applause and laughter by explaining: "This is the show that each year asks the question, 'Is radio really improved by the addition of pictures?' "

Among the highlights, between commercials for bras, girdles, take-home fried chicken and cigarettes, were—

—The naming of "Room 222" as the outstanding new series and two of its stars, Michael Constantine and Karen Valentine, as best supporting actor and actress in a comedy.

—Susan Hampshire, best actress in a dramatic series for the British-made "The Forsyte Saga."

Anne Bancroft was honored along with producers and writers for her special, "Annie, the Women in the Life of a Man," named the outstanding variety or music program.
